Echeverria Wins Vote In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Luis Echeverria, 48, a former interior secretary, rolled up a better than 12-1 unofficial victory margin today in a Mexican election marked by opposition charges of kidnaping and fraud.

Unofficial returns gave Echeverria an overwhelming triumph over his only opponent, Efrain Gonzalez Morfin, whose National Action Party (PAN) accused Echeverria's Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI) of wholesale illegality at the polls.

Mario Moya Polanco, head of the federal electoral commission, said an investigation failed to substantiate the PAN accusation. He said Sunday's election was clean and honest.

To prepare for what he called his "huge responsibility," Echeverria pledged a thorough study of the nation's problems before succeeding President Gustao Diaz Ordaz Dec. 1 for a six-year term.

The Mexican constitution forbids a president from serving more than one six-year term.

PRI also claimed sweeping victories in elections for the 210-seat chamber of deputies and the 60-seat senate. Official results for the presidency and the congressional races will be announced Sunday.

Echeverria's election marked the 10th successive time the PRI had captured the presidency since the party was established in 1929.

The victory again emphasized the PRI's omnipotence.

"I cannot speak of a triumph now," Echeverria said. "I hope to be able to do so after my six years in office when I will know whether I have been able to achieve anything."

I-J Employee Gravely Wounded By Gunman

Police Not Ruling Out Link To Strike

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An Independent-Journal employee lay gravely wounded today after he was shot in the abdomen by one of two gunmen who forced their way into his San Francisco home Saturday night.

In critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital is Allan W. Daly, 30, a systems design engineer in the I-J production department.

The surface motive in the attack appeared to be robbery, but detectives said they thought it might be linked to the current strike against the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21.

Police said two men knocked on Daly's door at 407 Connecticut Street at 9:10 p.m. His wife, Stephanie, answered, and one man asked if the car "blocking the driveway" was theirs. When she opened the door to look out, the two men drew guns and forced their way inside.

One of the pair demanded money, and when Daly said he had none, one man hit him in the face with a foot-long steel pipe. The two men then ordered Daly to stand against the wall.

Mrs. Daly told the men she had some grocery money, and one man went into the kitchen with her. "I have two children," she told the gunmen.

Police said he replied, "I don't like to do this but I have two kids, too." As she handed her coin purse to him, a shot was fired in the living room. Daly fell, shot in the abdomen with a .45-caliber pistol from a range of three feet.

The two men backed out of the house and were seen running away on Alabama Street near 19th Street.

Daly, rushed to the hospital, received 47 units of blood during the first few hours alone for massive bleeding.

The gunmen got $5 from Mrs. Daly's purse but threw it on the floor. "If this was really a robbery attempt, it was as sloppy a one I have ever seen," a detective said.

He said the fact one of the Boat Mishap Claims Marin Father, Son

I-J Special Report

YUBA CITY — A 39-year-old San Rafael man and his 8-year-old son have drowned during a weekend fishing trip on a river bypass about 15 miles south of here.

Sutter County sheriff's deputies recovered the body of Henry Peter Dang of 45 Sandalwood Court floating Sunday near where he and his son, Gregory Anthony Dang, went fishing Friday in a rubber boat. The body was discovered by a fisherman, Dallas Treadwell of Milpitas.

Sheriff's deputies this morning found the body of the son floating in the water near where Dang's body was recovered. The car used for the trip was parked nearby.

Dang's wife, Jeanne, reported her husband and son missing Sunday after they failed to return Friday night as expected. They had left home at 5 a.m. Friday with food for one day and no extra clothing or sleeping gear and were to return that night.

The rubber boat taken on the trip was missing from the car, and the sheriff's office reported that it was possibly punctured or overturned.

Dang had been a claims adjustor for the Civil Service Employees Insurance Co. of San Francisco for 17 years and had worked for other insurance companies in the San Francisco area previously. He lived in the San Francisco area most of his life, moving to San Rafael approximately two years ago.

BUDGET SIGNED

Pay Guarantee From The Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate today gave final legislative approval to legislation guaranteeing state employes will be paid for work during last week's budget impasse.

The measure by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 30-0 vote. There was no debate.

Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, the measure's floor manager, explained the provisions were required to pay California's employes while the state went without a budget.

Senate Democrats unsuccessfully sought to infuse $180 million more into the state aid to local schools. Two of the 13 dissenting Democrats bolted to vote for Reagan's record $6.59 billion spending plan Saturday after a four-day holdout.

After it was approved by a 27-9 vote, the budget was flown to the governor's Pacific Palisades home, where he signed it without vetoing a single item.

The measure included $102 million in extra state aid for local schools and $15,000 in rent for Reagan's private leased residence in Sacramento. It also provided a 5 per cent pay raise for all state employes, except state college and University of California professors, who were denied any increases.

Reagan in a prepared statement called the document "a great victory for the people" and "nothing short of a resounding triumph of good sense and fiscal responsibility."

A bloc of stubborn Senate Democrats cracked to give the 1970-71 fiscal year budget the votes needed to pass the measure after Reagan turned down Democratic demands to add another $180 million more in school aid. They had insisted on the sum as their price for passage of the budget.

Senate passage came four days after the constitutional deadline for budget approval of midnight last Tuesday. During that period California was left without the authority to spend any money, pay its bills or its 190,000 employes.

The impasse lasted one day longer than in 1969, when Assembly Democrats blocked the budget and successfully demanded more school aid.

Eight Democrats in the Senate joined 19 Republicans to adopt the spending plan, a compromise drafted by a second conference committee. It was approved by the Assembly, 62-15, Thursday. That House then recessed for the July 4 weekend while the Senate grappled with the budget.

Only seven Senate Democrats were convinced by the GOP to vote for the measure during the four days.

But pressure applied by Reagan in personal encounters swayed Sens. Larry Walsh of Huntington Park and Walter W. Stiern of Bakersfield to vote for the budget. Also casting a yes vote was Sen. John E. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Stiern, chairman of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee, said in a statement, "There is no other

Belfast Riots Kill Three; Probe Opens

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The British Army today set up a special office to investigate charges of looting and brutality against British troops during weekend rioting in the Roman Catholic area of Belfast where three persons were killed.

In London, Lord Balniel, minister of state in the Defense Ministry, told Parliament the government would investigate reports of looting by British troops if specific charges were made. He put the death toll at three civilians killed and said 57 civilians and 15 soldiers were wounded.

Belfast police later said three persons were killed and not five as reported earlier. The army said there was some confusion but that only three bodies were found. The victims were killed in street fighting in the Falls Road area during the army's search for Catholic arms.

The area was quiet today but a Catholic member of the Ulster Parliament predicted all out war with Protestants this summer.

With the return of calm there was a flood tide of accusations by residents of the 20-block area that troops had looted money, religious objects and other valuables, and smashed furniture and fittings in their search for hidden arms.

BALL OF FLAMES

Plane Crash In Canada Claims All 108 Aboard

TORONTO (UPI) — The windows rattled noisily in the modest farmhouse near Toronto Airport. Mrs. Mary Day, preparing to feed her five-month-old child breakfast, rushed to a window and saw the doomed jetliner "coming almost at our house."

"It was all red and white with fire," she said. "I picked up the baby and called the dog and ran into the fields. I ran like a madwoman.

"It was all in flames as it passed over us. Then it came down and exploded, just the worst bang and noise I've ever heard."

The Air Canada DC8, streaming fire and shedding two engines and its wings, splattered Sunday in small pieces of silvered metal in the barleyfield 100 yards from Mrs. Day's home. All 99 passengers and nine crew members perished in Canada's second worst air tragedy.

Included among the victims were 27 Americans, all but two from Southern California, and 5 employees of Air Canada and their families, riding on company passes.

The Montreal to Los Angeles jetliner was attempting to land at Toronto Airport when pieces of the craft mysteriously began falling off. The outer engine on the right wing snapped off and smashed into the grass alongside the runway and flames spurted from around the plane.

The DC8, which either had just touched the runway or was inches away from a landing, suddenly climbed back into the sky. At less than 2,000 feet, it barreled toward the barleyfield and the homes of Mrs. Day and Sytze Burgsma, who was asleep in his red farmhouse with his pregnant wife and eight children.

Burgsma's son, Peter, 19, had awakened to a brilliant, sunny morning and was heading into the kitchen when he heard the crippled craft nearing the home. He yelled to the rest of the family, "Get out of the house! Get out of the house!"

"I could see the left wing, but not a right wing," he said later. "The plane just slid into the ground and flew all apart.

Regime Falls In Italy Amid Labor Troubles

ROME (UPI) — The government of Premier Mariano Rumor collapsed today in a welter of labor strife and bickering among the four parties that made up his 100-day-old coalition. The nation was taken by surprise.

President Giuseppe Saragat asked the 54-year-old former high school teacher to stay in office as caretaker premier and said consultations on a new government would start Wednesday. Prospects for political stability any time soon were dim.

Neither Rumor nor any other cabinet ministers disclosed why the government fell. But statements by some politicians indicated the trouble arose from Socialist determination to cooperate at local levels with the Communist Party.

Rumor said in a letter to leaders of the coalition parties that he decided to quit after a detailed study of the political situation — "which showed me a full and clear clarification was needed."

He said the political, economic and social situation was such that without full cooperation by coalition partners it did not make sense to go on.

The resignation of Italy's 31st post-Facist government came on the eve of a 24-hour national general strike called by the nation's Big Three labor unions, the latest in a months-long wave of agitation for social and economic reform.

The first reaction from politicians was surprise.

"Things look dark," said Labor Minister Carlo Donat Cattin.

"The decision to open another government crisis at a difficult time. . .," said deputy Premier Francesco de Martino, "is a political error that Socialists cannot condone."

Blood Asked For Wounded I-J Employee

The Independent-Journal has asked its employees and any other citizens who wish to volunteer to give blood on behalf of Allan W. Daly, I-J employee who was shot and critically wounded by gunmen at his home Saturday.

Donations may be given in Daly's name at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael or San Francisco. The I-J management recommended that donors go to San Francisco because the blood is needed immediately.

Daly, shot in the abdomen, is in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital. He has received 70 pints of blood for massive bleeding.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Water Supply Hit

KAILUA, Hawaii (UPI) — The 40,000 residents of this Honolulu suburban area kept a wary eye on their water faucets today, hoping there would be no repeat of the main pipeline break that left them without running water for nearly three days.

The 24-inch pipeline broke in two places last Friday, possibly because of the additional weight caused by landfill construction for a highway project. Service was restored Sunday evening.

Water trucks from the county's board of water supply, the Army and Marines were stationed throughout the affected communities to provide water for essential uses. The trucks carried enough water for cooking and some washing, but the major problems were bathing and flushing toilets.

Swastika Vandals

BERLIN (UPI) — Vandals smeared swastikas and the words "Jews Out!" on a synagogue and a memorial to the victims of the unsuccessful 1944 attempt on the life of Adolf Hitler, police said today.

Four Typhoon Deaths

TOKYO (UPI) — Police said today Typhoon Olga had killed four persons in Japan and at least 29 in Korea as it swept westward Sunday. The storm caused slight damago at Expo '70 in Osaka and injured six workmen. The typhoon damaged the Italian pavilion at the exposition.

Outpost Visitors

FROBISHER BAY, Northwest Territories (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II, accompanied by Prince Philip and Princess Anne, flew into this outpost Sunday, only 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle, to begin a 10-day tour of the Northwest Territories and Manitoba.

It is the first visit by a British monarch to the vast, rugged land of the Canadian north.

Among those waiting for her was Prince Charles, heir to the throne, who as "advance man" for the tour arrived in Canada Thursday. He spent three days in Ottawa. The welcoming party here included Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Governor General Roland Michener, and Jocelyne Rouleau, 21, Trudeau's pretty nieces.

Truckers At Work

CHICAGO (UPI) — Trucks idled for 12 weeks by a strike-lockout in the Chicago area rolled again today.

Members of the Teamsters Union, representing 40,000 workers, and the Chicago Truck Drivers Union, representing 10,000, climbed back into their cabs and began delivering millions of dollars of merchandise stored during the tieup.

Meanwhile, national officials of the trucking industry met today and were expected to approve the trucking settlement reached Friday by their negotiators and top officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Fourth Gala Pondered As Annual Event

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The organizer of Saturday's "Honor America Day" rally in Washington says although he has received suggestions from across the nation the event should be turned into an annual affair, he has no plans along that line.

J. Willard Marriott, a hotel and restaurant executive, said favorable reaction to the Independence Day observance included a call from President Nixon in California who told him it was "great."

The celebration which drew a crowd estimated as high as 350,000 for the evening fireworks display and entertainment gala was financed with funds raised by the Honor America Day Committee which Marriott headed as chairman of the executive committee. He estimated its cost in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, but said it was less than $1 million.

TOURISTS JAM STREETS

Thousands of tourists who remained in the capital Sunday after the celebration jammed the streets and walkways at the nation's shrines and monuments.

For the most part, Saturday's entertainment amounted to a "good old-fashioned Fourth of July" complete with honor guards, patriotic speeches, flag-waving, a grand fireworks display and performances by a galaxy of stars including the strong and confident singing of "God Bless America" by Kate Smith.

But there was evidence also of the sharp divisions confronting the nation on its 194th birthday.

Evangelist Billy Graham, although he abided by ground rules set up by rally organizers to avoid mention of the issues of war and peace, appealed for Americans to end polarization and unite in action to fulfill the American dream. He warned that dream "could be turned into a nightmare" unless the nation's divisions cease.

CROWD OF 30,000

Graham spoke to a crowd estimated as high as 30,000 who had assembled Saturday morning for an interfaith service at the Lincoln Memorial. The biggest crowds showed up for the evening entertainment.

While he spoke, partially clad young hippies frolicked in the reflecting pool between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument shouting their objections, some in four-letter words.

Graham, however, took no notice of the hecklers and in a podium-pounding speech recited a list of reasons Americans had to be proud of their country.

He drew heavy applause with the remark the "overwhelming majority" of Americans are fed up with "a relatively small extremist element who had knocked our courts, desecrated our flag, disrupted our educational system, laughed at our religious heritage, and threatened to burn down our cities."

In the evening, Bob Hope wisecracked his way through the program as he introduced the long line of former greats and current idols in the entertainment world who performed to the delight of the crowd.

Film Festival

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (UPI) — The 18th international San Sebastian Film Festival opened Sunday with the American movie "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?"

During the next 10 days 19 films from 10 nations will compete for five major festival awards.

Maddox To Agnew: Hit 'Sacred Cows'

BOSTON (UPI) — Praising Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for his verbal attacks on the news media and students, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia urged Agnew Sunday to expand the scope of his attacks to include such "sacred cows" as President Nixon.

"There are too many sacred cows," Maddox said. Agnew "ought to hit the Supreme Court, the White House, the Congress and the Justice Department.

"The president seems to have one message for one group of people in one region of the country and another message for another group of people in another region of the country," Maddox told newsmen prior to a speech before the final session of the New England Rally for God, Family and Country.

Nixon is guilty of "double talk, double standards," the Georgia governor said.

In his speech, Maddox said the United States has not only lost the war in Southeast Asia, but also has surrendered to Communism in other parts of the world.

"We lost the war in Southeast Asia because we surrendered to Communism in Cuba and Korea," he said.

"The West lost the war because our government and our courts favored, encouraged, excused, compromised with and even housed, clothed, employed and financed, both at home and abroad, those who support Communism and war against Americanism, God and country," he said.

"For a number of years now we have had Democratic and Republican leaders proclaiming that the war we fight in Vietnam is for victory over Communism," Maddox said. "Phooey! Such talk is nothing but a farce.

"Had our goal in Southeast Asia been victory over Communism, we would have won the war," he said. "But we lost the war. We lost it because our goal was not victory."

Maddox also criticized Nixon's family assistance welfare program. "There's a new welfare program pending now before the United States Congress which, if passed, would deal the final death blow to personal initiative in this country," he said.

"They call it a 'family assistance plan,' but it's nothing but a family destruction plan, because it offers more money, in many cases, to families who don't work than families that do work would be getting," he said.

Georgia Pop Festival Draws Wild 500,000

BYRON, Ga. (UPI) — The last notes of a hard-rock band were lost in the predawn blackness today. The Atlanta International Pop Festival left the world of stark realism for a certain niche in Middle Georgia folklore.

Promoters of the three-day music marathon in a 300-acre soybean field extended the finale from midnight Sunday until 4 a.m. today and about 100,000 of the half-million who attended stayed until the end.

It was a safe bet that tales of the nude swimming, naked strollers, open fornication and widespread drug use during the festival will spice many future gatherings of local residents.

But officials of this area, 90 miles south of Atlanta, are determined they won't have to relive such events.

"It's the worst thing that ever happened to this area of the country," said Byron Mayor Ed Green. "I don't know if we will ever recover." He said he would take legal steps — and possibly appeal to the legislature —to prevent the festival's return next year.

"Everything within five miles of here is littered. It's going to cost a lot of money to clean up. Drugs are flowing like water" Green said.

One of the festival's promoters, long-haired, bearded Steve Kapelow, indicated there would always be a place for such festivals because they are "potent political weapons" to make the "straight world" take notice and are escape outlets for youth.

"We are free in our heads, but we are not free in the cities we live in," he said. "We have to get away at festivals like this a couple of weeks a year."

Kapelow, who refused to give a hometown "I've got clothes in six cities and friends in 400 cities," said there were plans for two more rock festivals — one in California and one in the Southeast —between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Festival promoters contended they lost money on the event, but they disagreed on the effect of such losses.

"This may well kill pop festivals as we know them. Money is a basic need," said Alex Cooley, one of the promoters.

"The festival is not a money trip for us," he said.

An admission of $14 per person charged for the festival was discontinued Friday night when about 14,000 youths — some contending they didn't have any "bread" — pushed at the gates, chanting, "in, in, in." Festival officials ordered security guards to let everyone in free, but solicited $1 donations.

Many of the festival-goers took to a stream to escape 104-degree heat, the majority of them swam nude and when word was spread, gawkers created a traffic jam on a nearby highway. Bare-breasted girls were commonplace in the area and many youths strolled nude in the crowd. Some couples made love on blankets in full view of passersby.

First aid stations did a rush business, treating more than 7,000 persons, mostly for drug problems. Three women were rushed to a hospital in labor. Helicopters were used for emergencies because of the clogged roads.

Nixon Asks Young To Adviser Post

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon has asked civil rights leader Whitney Young to join the administration on a temporary basis as an adviser on black minority problems.

Young, director of the Urban League, is being sought as part of a new administration drive to improve the channels of communication between the president and minority groups, officials at the Western White House said during the weekend.

Young would be the first among a group of what the administration calls domestic "ambassadors" to heal the divisions with dissident minorities.

Argentine Exile Asks Violent Coup

PARIS (UPI) — Former Argentine President Juan Peron called today in an interview for a violent Cuba-like revolution in Argentina and said he would return there when the time is ripe to resume power.

"I am ready. The day when I decide to go there no one will be able to stop me," the 75-year-old political leader said in an interview with Carlos Maria Gutteriez of Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency.

The interview was published in the weekly French-language magazine, Africasia. It did not say where it was given, but there were indications it took place in Spain where Peron has lived in exile since the early 1960s. He was overthrown in 1955.

"To free the country like Fidel, that is the solution," Peron said.

"Violence already reigns and only another violence can destroy it," he said. "The revolution will have to be violent.

"I will return at any moment I can be useful for something. I will return when the situation permits it. It is necessary for something to happen which makes my presence necessary."

Peron said he was overthrown by the "Yankees" and not by the Argentine people and that if he had resisted it would have led "perhaps to an invasion like Santo Domingo."

Israeli Planes Attack— 47th Consecutive Day

By U.P. International

Israeli planes in the 47th consecutive day of bombardment today attacked Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal where an Israeli spokesman reported nearly 2,000 Egyptian soldiers had been killed in the past year.

A military spokesman in Cairo said a dozen Israeli planes attacked Egyptian positions at Ballah, Qantara, El-Hirsh, and El-Tina, all in the northern sector of the canal. He said Egyptian "air defense methods engaged the attacking aircraft" but gave no other details.

Authoritative Israeli newspapers reported Russian-built SAM2 missile sites springing up like mushrooms along the canal, indicating greater and greater Soviet involvement in the area. Israeli sources said the missiles have shot down three Israeli planes in the past week. Egypt says six were shot down.

Israel also was having its troubles in the occupied Gaza Strip which juts along the Mediterranean coast toward the canal.

Saboteurs today blew up the only ice cream plant in Gaza City, an Arab-owned plant. A spokesman said the saboteurs used about 88 pounds of explosives to collapse the factory and heavily damage the machinery.

An Arab woman was wounded Sunday when a grenade was hurled at an Israeli bus and two Israeli soldiers were wounded when their vehicle hit another explosive charge. An Arab caught breaking the curfew was shot and wounded by an Israeli army patrol.

Jordanian and Israel forces dueled with mortars and machineguns in the Jordan Valley Sunday night.

Egyptian air defense units said they shot down two Israeli jets Sunday and captured their pilots, but the Israelis said they had lost only one two-seater Phantom.

Heavy artillery barrages also were reported along the Suez Canal as well as on the Jordan front Sunday.

In the Jordanian capital of Amman, both Premier Abdel Monem Rifai and Palestinian guerrilla sources denied reports they had reached an agreement to settle their month-old feud.

Israeli military spokesman also reported three incidents in the Gaza strip that resulted in an Arab man, an Israeli woman and two Israeli soldiers being wounded.

The Jordanians had few details on the fighting in the southern Jordan valley, but said it started at about 10:50 p.m. and continued for 40 minutes. There were no reports on casualties.

Jackrabbits have been clocked at 40 miles per hour and can cover 15 to 20 feet in one leap.

Mass Burial Is Held Jetliner Crash Victims

"Ashes to ashes. Dust to dust," the priest said. His feet crunched softly into the fresh dirt of the mass grave of 112 victims of the British jet airliner that crashed near the village at dusk Friday.

Fifty villagers had volunteered to dig and cover the six-square-yard lump of earth in the picturesque little cemetery.

They stood among the 150 other persons attending the last rites. They included British and Spanish officials, rescue workers, priests and the curious.

The comet jet carried 105 British tourists and seven crew members from Manchester, England, to Barcelona for a 12-day vacation on Spain's Costa Brava.

The plane smashed into the side of a mountain.

"It was horrible—horrible," a Red Cross worker said. "I have never seen anything worse."

Officials were still trying to determine the cause of the crash. Even as the funeral service was in progress, they searched the widely scattered wreckage for clues.

In Madrid, other officials studied the plane's "black box," an electronic device recording the aircraft's performance, and tapes of the pilot's final radio message for further indications.

A British embassy spokesman said the decision to bury the victims collectively was reached by a Spanish judge.

"This is normal procedure in Spain," he said. "They do not allow bodies to be kept for more than 24 hours for hygienic reasons."

A consular official said it was doubtful any requests by relatives for the remains to be returned to England for individual burial would be honored.

"It was impossible to recognize individual passengers," he said. "There were no complete bodies — just pieces."

Fire Interrupts Vegas Vacation At Sands Hotel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — More than 80 guests had their Fourth of July weekend disrupted briefly when a fire broke out in a wing of the Sands Hotel on the Las Vegas "strip."

Many of the guests scurried outside into 90-degree weather clad only in sleeping attire when the alarm sounded shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday.

Flames and black smoke poured from the building of the vast Sands complex which overlooks the hotel swimming pool.

The hotel, owned by Howard Hughes, was booked to capacity and rousted guests had to be relocated in nearby motels for the remainder of the night before being moved back into the Sands by noon.

The blaze was controlled in about 15 minutes.

CHANTING, CHANTING — A. C. Bhakti Vedanata Goswami, the spiritual master of the Hare Krishna movement, leads a group of monks in chanting during the fourth annual International Rathayatra Car Festival in San Francisco. (UPI Telephoto)

'HARE KRISHNA, HARE HARE'

Wind, Broken Axle Mar Religious Fest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Cold winds, a broken axle and minor fisticuffs Sunday slightly marred the International Society For Krishna Consciousness' fourth annual Rathayatra Car Festival through Golden Gate Park.

The religious festival included 50-foot long juggernaut-carrying wooden images of the "Lord of the World" and his relatives—which were pulled by rope on a trip to the gods' country house by the sea.

Building the wooden chariots, which support towering tent-temples, was delayed by the high winds and that meant the parade was two hours late leaving the Haight-Ashbury District for the park and the beach.

Then an axle broke and one of the three chariots had to be pulled away by a tow truck.

Fisticuffs between chanting, orange-robed monks and bystanders started when a non-believer failed to get out of a chariot's way. There was no arrest and no serious injury.

About 5,000 followed the chariots, including hippies, their women, children and dogs.

"Hare Krishna, Hare Krishman, Krishna Krishna, Hare Hare.

"Hare Rama, Rama Rama, Hare Hare."

The festival is an observance that goes back to the 12th Century and "Juggernaut" is a corruption of the Sanscrit name of the "Lord of the World," Jagannatha. In translation through the ages it became Vishnu and Krishna.

Followers of Jagannatha became established with the temple at Puri, India, a site associated for centuries with Buddhism, and the "Car of Juggernaut" stems from there.

Cars in ancient times were 45-feet high, 35-feet square and supported on 16 one-ton wheels of 7-foot diameter.

The Cars of Juggernaut used in this parade were American made and all of wood but with only 4 wheels. They would have been about 50-feet high if the canopy of magenta-pink silk and orange had withstood the wind.

On the walkway, garlands of carnations, gardenias and roses were draped.

The festival—simultaneously held in London, New York and India on Sunday—is geared to astrological phases and sometimes occurs in late June or even late July.

A. C. Bhaktivedanta Swami, Los Angeles, who officiated at the ceremonies, holds that the Hare Krishna "is the only movement which can save the confused younger generation.',

"I shall invite all responsible guardians of this country to understand this transcendental movement and then give us all honest facilities to spread it for everyone's benefit," he said.

Hippies and monks all chanted and moved their bodies in unison to the beat.

"This is the easiest process of spiritual realization and is recommended in the Vedas," said Swami Bhaktivedanta.

Tribes Rally In San Francisco As Oakes Remains Critical

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Richard Oakes, militant Indian who was hit with a pool cue June 11, remains in critical condition but does "respond to a few verbal commands," a spokesman said today at San Francisco General Hospital.

He underwent 6 1-2 hours of brain surgery and has not regained consciousness.

Before the beating Oakes had led Indians who seized Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay. Representatives of 40 tribes rallied Sunday in San Francisco's Aquatic Park.

John Trudell, speaking for Indians holding the former federal prison, told the rally: "We on Alcatraz are asking for possession of that island and we're not going to settle for less, because we're right."

Indians are not "buying the talk that America has an Indian problem," he said. The problem is a "white-oriented society geared to meet white needs," he added.

There were nearly 1,000 persons at the rally which was sponsored by the Berkeley Solidarity Committee, a Caucasian group.

700 Battling Flames In N. California

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A rash of brush and forest fires burned over Northern California today with some 700 men at work trying to extinguish them.

The California Division of Forestry spokesman said that 250 men hope to gain control today of a fire that has burned over 250 acres of brush near Lake Berryessa.

The fire, apparently the result of July 4 firecrackers, was 60 per cent contained by Sunday night.

Still out of control is a 200-acre blaze 11 miles south of Carmel, despite the efforts of 400 men from the U.S. Forestry Service. Flames are near the Peco Blanco Boy Scout Camp, but a forestry official said the 125 scouts and 30 leaders are in no immediate danger.

That fire is in a wilderness area.

A total of 500 acres of brush along Highway 16 near the Yolo-Colusa county line was burned by four fires which apparently were set deliberately.

Care Policy Statement Due

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin will consider policy statements on future development of long-term care facilities and general hospitals in Marin Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice.

The board is also scheduled to discuss the resignation of James Lyn Elder, the appointment of a new member and the election of a first vice president.

The relationship between the county and the council is also slated for discussion.

Rich Bridge Expert Vanderbilt, 85, Dies

But Mike Venderbilt would have been a celebrity even without his rich and colorful heritage.

The founder of contract bridge, he was considered by many the greatest living bridge player. His reputation as a yachtsman was equally high, based on his successful defense of the America's Cup in 1939, 1934 and 1937.

Vanderbilt died Saturday —two days before his 86th birthday —at his home in this wealthy seaside resort where he had spent much of his time in recent years. He also maintained a New York residence.

A spokesman for the family said he "died of old age" and had not been ill.

Funeral services were planned for Trinity Church in Newport at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Vanderbilt was born in Oakdale, N.Y., July 6, 1884, the son of William Kissam Vanderbilt and Alva E. Smith, a grande dame of the socially elite "400" who eventually became a fighter for women's rights.

For more than four decades he was, like Commodore Vanderbilt, a railroad man.

After graduating from Harvard College in 1907 and from Harvard Law School in 1910, Vanderbilt joined the New York Central Railroad — built by his great grandfather — as a lawyer-clerk. He remained with the railroad until 1954 when it was taken over by Texan Robert R. Young.

Vanderbilt, who was childless, was survived by his widow; a second cousin, William Vanderbilt, former governor of Rhode Island, and two nieces, Mrs. Consuelo Vanderbilt of Ridgefield, Conn., and Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Adams of Golden Beach, Fla.

gunmen also carried a pipe made him lean toward the labor dispute motive.

"When they come with a pipe and a gun, it's more of a 'work over' job," he said. He said the robbery aspect could not be discounted, however.

Police also said that when Mrs. Daly called her husband by name when the gunmen entered, one of the men appeared to recognize the name, saying "yeah" and nodding to the other.

Daly's home was firebombed twice on June 17. One gasoline-filled wine bottle, thrown in the pre-dawn hours, fizzled out. The second, thrown that night, hit just below a window and blistered outside paint on the house.

Earlier, vandals had let air out of the tires on Daly's car once and slashed the tires on another occasion. He was also threatened verbally on crossing picket lines, police said.

The shot that wounded Daly passed through his body, ricocheting through the room and narrowly missing a baby in a crib in the living room, police said. Police recovered the .45-caliber slug in the yard. The couple's other child was asleep in a bedroom.

The union struck the I-J Jan. 7 and the strike has been marked by frequent violence. Fourteen separate death threats have been made against I-J employees since the strike started.

There have been three other strike-linked firebombings. One on June 15 damaged the car of Ernest H. Fingerlos in Novato. On April 22, two homes in Tamalpais Valley were firebombed, one an I-J employee's and the other that of an elderly man apparently mistaken for an I-J employee with a similar name.

On June 20, a member of the union was arrested after a shot was fired through the business offices of the I-J in San Rafael.

Throughout the strike, the union has denied connection with the violence. Leon Olson, president of Local 21, appeared on television after the firebombing of Daly's house to disavow any union link with the attacks.

The newspaper is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Daly's assailants.

The pair was described by police as Latin types in their early 20s. The man who shot Daly was reported as of slight build, five feet eight inches tall, black hair, olive complexion, wearing dark trousers and a black leather jacket.

The other man had an olive complexion, black wavy hair combed straight back, and a well-kept mustache, and wore dark dungaree trousers and a black motorcycle-type leather jacket. He carried a gun and the pipe.

ITALY

leagues said earlier they would cooperate with Communists in regional governments elected last month if such cooperation was necessary for stable rule.

Rumor and a center-left coalition of Socialists, Unitarian Socialists, Republicans and his own Christian Democrats took office March 28 after a prolonged and bitter crisis lasting 48 days.

The resignation today came after a 15-minute cabinet meeting. There was no warning of a crisis.

The first word came when Defense Minister Mario Tanassi left the cabinet meeting and told newsmen some minister had quit. Minutes later, the resignation of the government was announced.

Right-wing Socialists said Rumor had acted "correctly and responsibly" in dealing with the political situation, a reference to divisions in the coalition about cooperation with Communists.

It was the third consecutive government led by Rumor, who earlier led one other coalition and a one-party minority government.

CRASH

Burgsma farmhouse, shattering four windows.

"Then everything was silent except for a hissing sound," the elder Burgsma said. "There were no screams or anything like that. They didn't have a chance."

The wreckage lay in small pieces, most tiny enough to be picked up in one hand. The bodies of the passengers and crew were burned and charred beyond recognition. A torn piece of a stewardesses' jacket snagged in a tree branch. The pilot, Capt. P. C. Hamilton, a 24-year veteran, had given no indication of any trouble with the plane. "Everything appeared to be running absolutely normal," said George Lempriere, supervisor of air traffic control at the airport. "There was absolutely no indication of any trouble whatsoever."

An Air Canada employee who watched said "the pilot pulled up, and when he got 2½ miles north he started to bank right. Fragments of metal began dropping from the plane."

There was no indication why the plane disintegrated.

The craft's "black box" flight recorder was recovered and sent to Montreal for analysis. Officials hoped it would offer clues to the tragedy.

A second engine was found about a mile and a quarter from the spot where the fuselage hit. The engine had a hole about a foot across in its side, and appeared to have been punctured by force from the inside. Like the engine dropped at the airport, it was scorched and burned on the outside casing.

Ted Morris, of Air Canada's Toronto public relations staff, said he doubted speculation the pilot jarred the plane and damaged it by landing too hard. "If the pilot landed too hard, the wheels and undercarriage would have buckled before the engine would fall off," he said.

The last major Canadian air crash — the worst on record — was Nov. 29, 1963 when another DC8 belonging to Trans-Canada Airlines - Air Canada's former name — crashed near Ste. Therese, Que., killing all 118 aboard.

VOTE

the party has established a dictatorship and only pays lip service to democracy.

"The critics of our system think in terms of their own countries or of the days of Porfirio Diaz," who ruled Mexico with an iron fist from 1884-1911, he said. "They don't think in terms of the progress we have made."

Echeverria congratulated the three million youths between the ages of 18 and 20 who voted for the first time. A constitutional amendment earlier this year lowered the voting age from 21.

"They understand the great benefit they received when the vote was given them," the president-elect said.

The opposition clung to its contention of improper balloting.

"We insist that the elections in Mexico are not clean or democratic," said PAN president Manuel Gonzalez Hinojosa.

He said the voting was riddled "with vices and defects," which proved "democracy does not exist in Mexico." But Gonzalez Hinojosa did not dispute Echeverria's victory and admitted "the people have gone to the polls freely."

PAN charged that Vicente Alvarez, one of its candidates for federal deputy in the State of Mexico, was abducted when he protested voting irregularities in the village of San Felipe de Progreso.

responsible course of action than to vote in favor of the budget."

But he also chided the governor for refusing the school funds.

"He has turned his back on school children's needs and callously burdened local property taxpayers with unnecessary costs," Stiern said.

Walsh in a statement said, "We have reached an impasse and someone must accept the responsibility of breaking the stalemate before the state is thrown into fiscal chaos."

A Democratic source said the 13 holdouts agreed to break their solid opposition and allow two members to vote for the budget. Walsh insisted on being one, the source said. Stiern was permitted to be the other because of a tough re-election campaign.

The governor said he was "disappointed that the budget was irresponsibly held up beyond the constitutional deadline."

"Those few who continued to hold up the budget knew that what they were doing was both meaningless and unnecessary."

The budget appropriated $140,000 for the faculty academic senate at the state colleges but only $250,000 of the requested $409,000 for the university's academic senate.

Legislators said the refusal of pay raises for professors was not "punitive, but disciplinary."

The $15,000 for the state to take over payment of the rent on Reagan's fashionable home in a comfortable Sacramento neighborhood was added by a first budget conference committee.

The governor and his family chose the home over the state-owned governor's mansion early in 1967. Current landlords of the private home are wealthy political supporters and friends of Reagan.

Collision Hurts Motorcyclist, 22

James Colin Guy, 22, of Alameda, was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises at Marin General Hospital after his motorcycle and a car collided at Lincoln and Fifth avenues, San Rafael, at 9:10 p.m. yesterday.

Guy told police that his throttle linkage stuck and that he attempted to lay his motorcycle down to avoid hitting a car driven by Richard Rowlands Mayer, 50, of 100 Oakmont Avenue, as the car crossed the intersection with the green light.

Guy was cited for failure to stop for a red light, police reported.

Burglary Suspect Gets Court Date

A 19-year-old Novato youth apparently spied a $350 electric guitar in a bedroom window that caught his fancy, so he took it and hid it in a neighboring tomato patch, Novato police reported.

Released on his own recognizance to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of burglary was Robert L. Hoilien of 239 San Felipe Way.

The guitar belonged to Steven A. Avery, 23, of 800 Tamalpais Avenue. A neighbor, Roy R. Huffman of 808 Tamalpais Avenue, told police he saw Hoilien cut across his yard about 9 p.m. Police said that Hoilien took the guitar and jumped a fence into the Huffman yard, where he hid the guitar in Huffman's tomato patch.

Two Campers Slain On Isla Vista Beach

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)— Two young men were hacked to death by "blows of a sharp instrument" and another youth was critically injured as they lay in their sleeping bags on a campus beach of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Killed were Larry Steve Hess, 20, La Grange, Ind., and Thomas Victor Dolan, 17, Manhattan Beach, Calif. In critical condition after undergoing five hours of surgery for multiple head injuries was Thomas M. Hayes, 19, Cypress, Calif.

Investigators said the victims were apparently attacked in their sleep either late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. Their battered bodies were discovered early Sunday morning by a stroller.

Campus police found no murder weapon and there was no immediate indication whether one or more persons took part in the attack, apparently without motive. The victims still had their watches and money, officers said.

The victims, who were not students at the school, apparently were among residents of Isla Vista who watched a fireworks display Saturday night on the beach below a 30-foot cliff.

Last February, a young Vietnam war veteran and his fiance were beaten and stabbed to death on a Santa Barbara public beach about 10 miles south of the campus beach.

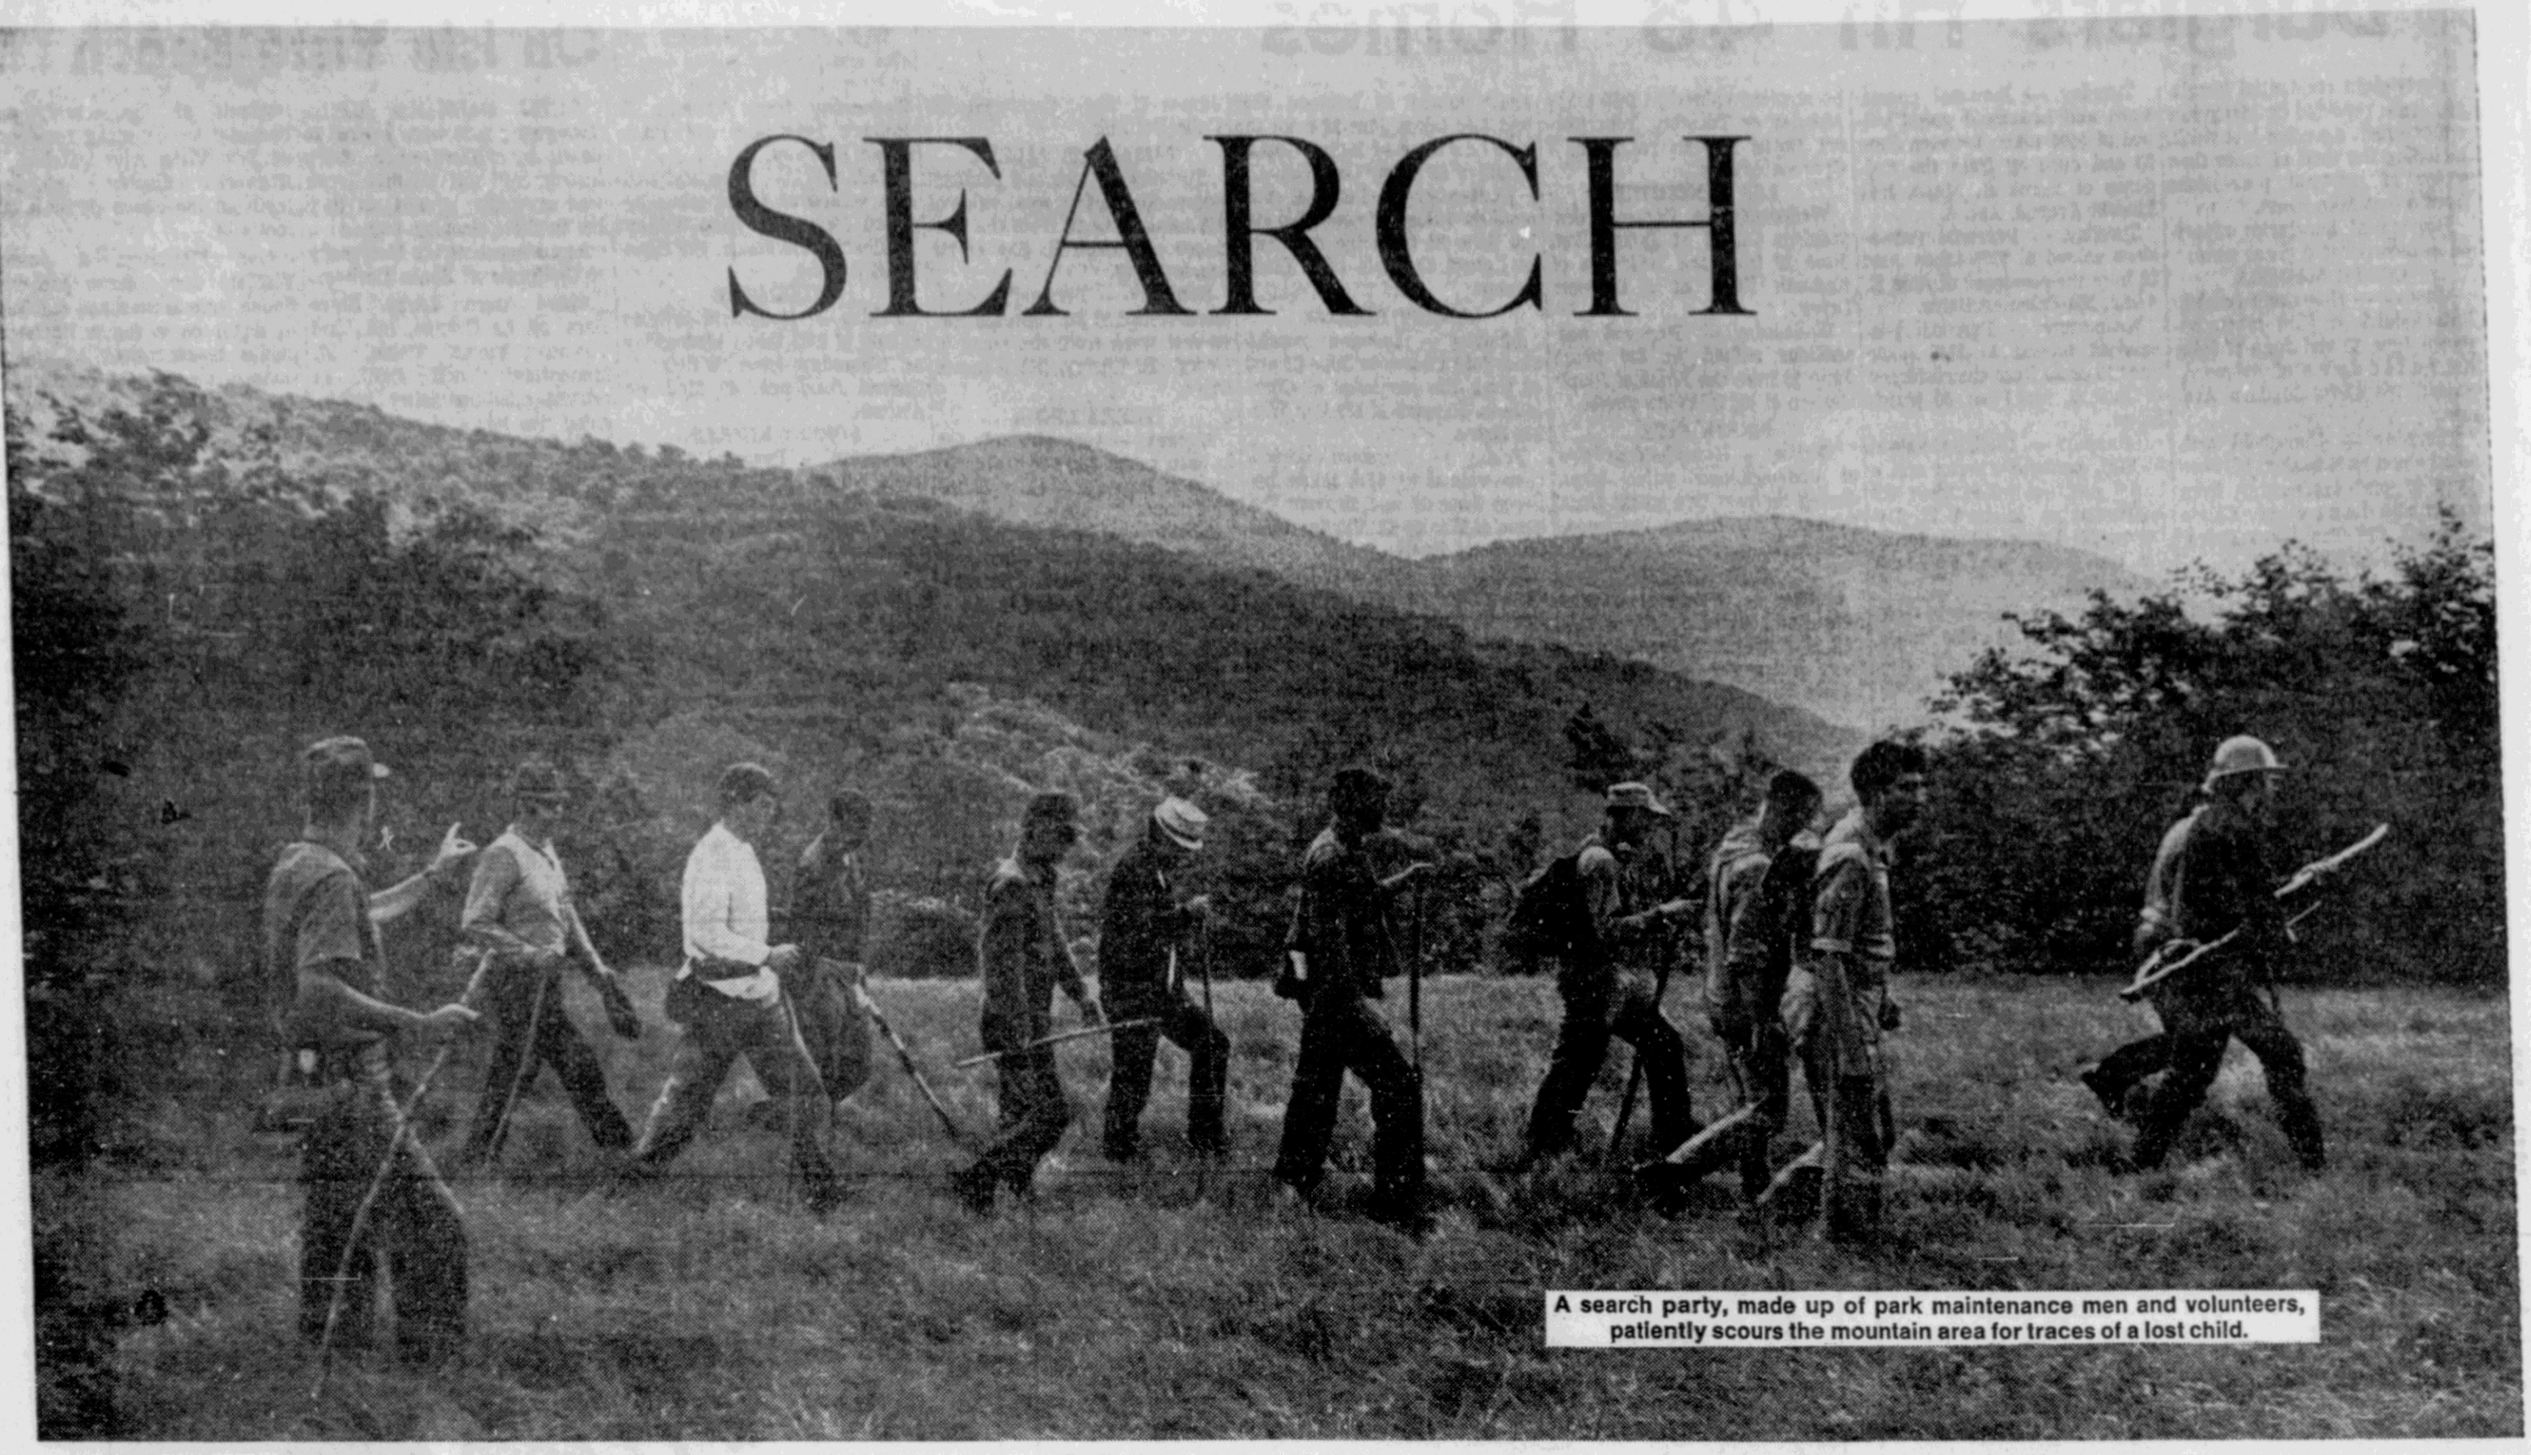
SEARCH



A search party, made up of park maintenance men and volunteers, patiently scours the mountain area for traces of a lost child.

A child is lost. Only a few minutes after he wanders away from his parents, he has disappeared into the wild and mysterious depths of the luxuriantly beautiful Great Smoky Mountain country, Tennessee. The photographs on this page were taken during the course of an actual search. On this occasion, the labor of the searchers was unrewarded. Tragically, the child was not found.

A call for help goes out. And it is answered promptly, with manifold compassion, generosity and efficiency. The Great Smoky Mountains National Park personnel immediately respond to begin a search with resources organized and kept ready for such contingencies as this, rangers working along with maintenance servicemen, and even representatives from other national parks.

But that is only the beginning. Within a few days the total of searchers in the area has multiplied many times, with as many as 1,500 at weekends and with hundreds still out during the week. Some of them come from as far as 500 miles away to give their help.

The Smoky Mountains raise their curving ranges in a sequence of waves which rise and fall under a sky whose clouds lie low and lovingly over them—hence the name "Smoky," for the mists which drift and cling everywhere. Their soft weeping nourishes a thick growth of every form of plant life, from towering forest to ground mosses, as well as a wealth of waterways, rivers and waterfalls. Over such country, the task of finding one small, lost child is powered by hope but haunted by heartbreak. It is a matter of patience and persistence; and with the best will in the world, rain and fog frequently hamper or halt the search.

The patient and the persistent include, besides park service personnel, various military units—National Guardsmen, Air National Guardsmen, jungle-trained Green Berets and the invaluable Army and Air Force helicopters which skim and dip over terrain too rugged for the jeeps and trucks (which in turn give way to basic, hard and weary foot-slogging until that, too, can go no further).

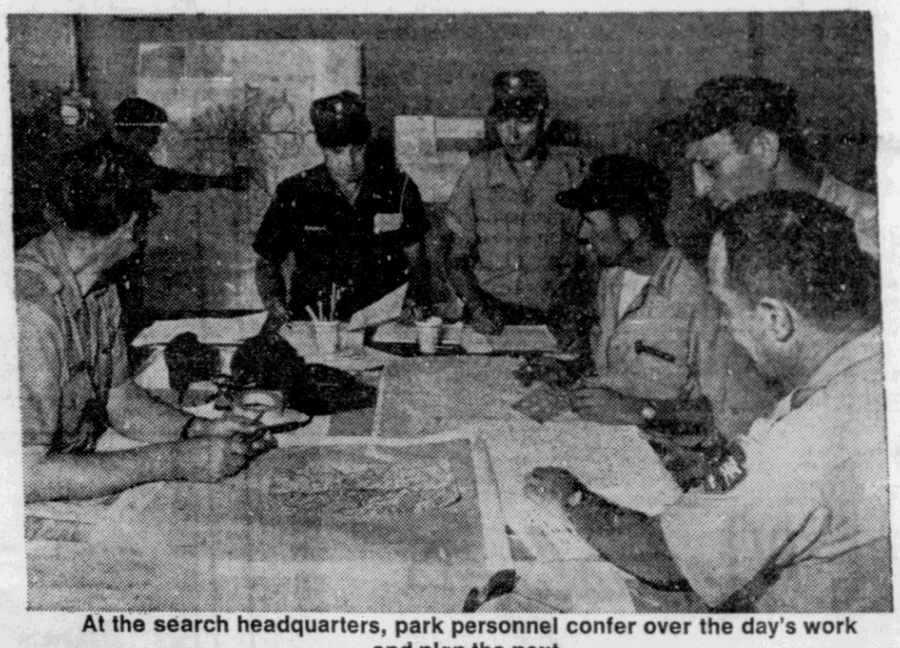
Agents of the U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division have come, too, practiced in nosing out illicit stills hidden away in the wilderness, and a U.S. Coast Guard unit out of Knoxville to check lake and river.

Volunteers offer a range of skills between them; all offer goodwill and energy. Rescue squadmen are joined by bear hunters, experienced outdoorsmen and expert woodsmen. Then there are the West Side dads of Knoxville YMCA Indian Guide program, and a bunch of students from a conservation group program. And more individuals, hikers, neighbors, tourists, the anonymous, uncounted and unknown.

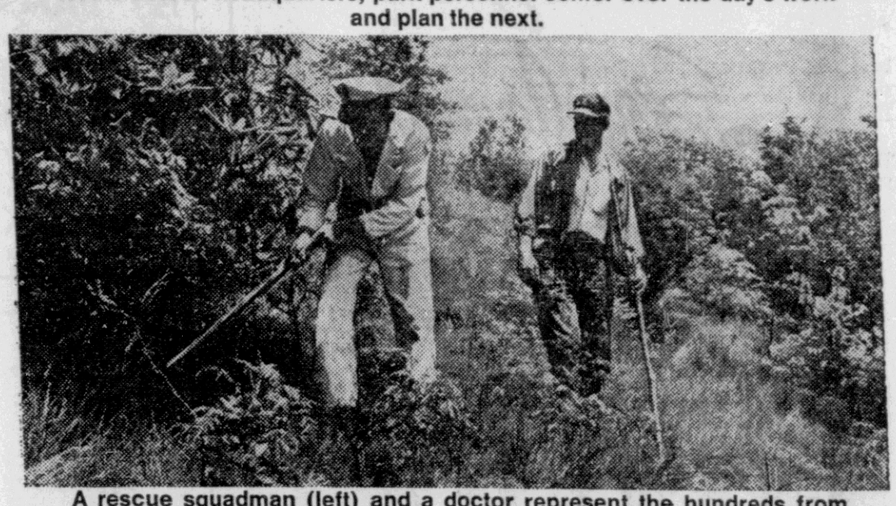
Catering for the hungry are the Red Cross Women's Auxiliary, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of a firemen's local of the AFL-CIO. They come out each day to set up their field kitchens and to organize the distribution of food given by the Red Cross, church and civic groups, local restaurants, stores and individual donors.

A child is lost. But the anguished concern of the parents is shared, and a great army of mercy and faith doggedly works on over the dense, secretive beauty of the mountains and valleys.

Searchers come into sight in a clearing, working across the wide slope of a mighty ridge.



At the search headquarters, park personnel confer over the day's work and plan the next.



A rescue squadman (left) and a doctor represent the hundreds from many walks of life who have volunteered their help.

Court Gives Sihanouk Death Edict

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk was convicted of nine counts of treason and sentenced to death Sunday by a military tribunal that tried him in absentia.

The principal effect of the verdict was to let the government seize the former chief of state's property in Cambodia under an order of the tribunal. Sihanouk's citizenship also was revoked.

The prince was abroad when Premier Lon Nol and the National Assembly ousted him March 18. He now heads an exile government in Peking.

Sihanouk was accused of collaborating with the Vietnamese Communists and of ordering more than 1,000 Cambodians executed without trial for political offenses.

A parade of 26 witnesses including some former cabinet ministers, bankers and businessmen testified for the prosecution during the trial that opened Friday.

No one testified for the defense. But two attorneys the government directed to defend the Prince argued there was not enough evidence for a guilty verdict and that anyway Sihanouk was exempt from the law because he was royalty. He once was king but abdicated in the 1950s to take over the government.

A Peking broadcast said Saturday Sihanouk's exile regime had vowed to try Lon Nol and his collaborators in the same way if and when it returned to power in Phnom Penh.

The government prosecutor, Sam Kim Chhun, professed love for Sihanouk in his closing argument, but said he had "done wrong." He said Sihanouk's main crime was that after his ouster he "did not keep silent. He wants to kill his nation." This referred to Sihanouk's support of Cambodian Communists waging a guerrilla war here.

Ohio ACLU Plans To Probe Kent's Deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)— The American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio (ACLU) said Sunday a task force of lawyers will investigate the incidents surrounding the May 4 killing of four Kent State University students to determine if students' rights were violated.

The ACLU said it was prepared to spend as much as $15,000 on the investigation and announced Michael Geltner, an Ohio State University law professor, had been retained to guide the effort.

Benson A. Wolman, executive director of the union, said Geltner has been retained for the summer months. He declined to give his salary, but said it would be paid by ACLU receipts from contributions.

In addition, Wolman said, more than two dozen attorneys have volunteered their services to the ACLU cause.

"We are prepared to spend between $5,000 and $15,000 on this project," Wolman said, adding $1,000 in small donations already had been received.

Several contemporary music groups have volunteered to make benefit appearances on behalf of the union's effort, Wolman said, and one nationally-known group already has given a verbal commitment for a concert in Ohio this fall for that purpose.

Basically, the ACLU plans to:

—Bring suit against Ohio National Guard officials and perhaps Gov. James A. Rhodes on behalf of the parents of Sandy Schewer, one of the four slain students.

—Take legal action against law enforcement officers who allegedly searched the dormitory rooms of about 8,500 KSU students without warrants following the riot.

—Look into the possibility that the presence of National Guard troops on the Kent campus was a violation of the constitutional rights of the students.

—Determine whether academic freedom was impaired by FBI surveillance of classroom conversations between students and faculty members.

Wolman said his organization set up a temporary office on the campus the night of the shooting and has tape recorded about 125 eyewitnesses to the shootings.

Bar Panel Outlines Plans For Cleaning Up Own House

CHICAGO (UPI) — A special study committee of the American Bar Association has made a series of recommendations to end the "scandalous situation" which exists in disciplining the nation's lawyers.

The committee, headed by retired Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, said Saturday unless the bar moves quickly to set its own house in order, "The public soon will insist on taking measures into its own hands."

The ABA Committee for Disciplinary Enforcement, after three years of study, said present practices are "failing to rid the profession of a substantial number of malfactors."

The group's 190-page report included recommendation for immediate suspension for any lawyer convicted of a "serious crime," defined as a felony or any "specified" lesser crime reflection upon a lawyer's fitness to serve his clients. Present ABA policy often allows a convicted lawyer to continue his practice pending long and drawn-out appeals to higher courts.

The committee's recommmendations also included:

—Establishment of a professionally staffed nationwide program to prod state and local disciplinary authorities into streamlining their procedures.

—Centralization of disciplinary jurisdiction in statewide agencies, with ultimate authority resting in the highest court in the state.

—Development of a "national data bank" to apprehend disbarred lawyers who surreptitiously move to another state in order to practice again.

"After three years of studying lawyer discipline throughout the country, this committee must report the existence of a scandalous situation that requires the immediate attention of the profession," the report said.

The report, which also charged that some agencies are "antiquated" with "little power to take effective steps," will be submitted to the ABA House of Delegates for adoption at the association's annual meeting in St. Louis, Mo., next month.

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U. S. District Court judge has ordered a 25-year-old Fairfax man, charged with setting up a mail order drug business, to report to U. S. District Court in Wichita, Kan., to stand trial.

Edward Nation Meyers, arrested April 14 by federal narcotics agents at the home of a friend in Fairfax, was given the choice of pleading guilty in San Francisco or standing trial in Kansas, where the complaint was filed after a person to whom Meyers is alleged to have sold drugs was arrested for possession of hashish.

NEA Hits Parochial, Private School Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The National Education Association, reversing a 6-year stand, now opposes spending of public money for parochial and private schools.

"Many delegates feared that continued spending of public money on nonpublic schools would help perpetuate economic and racial segregation in the South," NEA executive secretary S. M. Lambert said after the resolution vote Sunday.

Delegates to the million-member organization's 108th annual convention also passed a resolution approving the busing of pupils when necessary to achieve racial integration.

"It is imperative that desegregation of the nation's schools be effected" and that "policies and guidelines for school desegregation. . .be strengthened," the resolution declared.

In another action, delegates approved a Constitutional Convention to study possible organizational changes for the NEA.

Until now the NEA has been loosely organized and includes a number of state and local organizations.

NEA spokesmen said the Constitutional Convention probably will meet in July, 1971 in Detroit. Delegates to it will submit a new constitution for a vote by all the members no later than March 31, 1972.

Delegates will include representatives for 10 educational organizations affiliated with the NEA.

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

FROM SUGAR TO STEEL

Myriad Of U.N. Statistics

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States may have the most cars, Britain the most spacious living quarters and Sweden the greatest coffee consumption rate in the world, but life may be sweetened in Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific, United Nations figures show.

The world body, in the 25th anniversary issue of its annual statistical yearbook—a summary of figures on everything from steel production to sugar consumption—also said the world's economy grew faster than population by 240 per cent to 140 per cent in the last 20 years. But it added distribution was so uneven that most of the world's people stayed in abject poverty.

The statistics book showed more than half the world's 170 million passenger cars are registered in North America—the bulk in the United States. America also consumed the most steel, 137.8 million tons, followed by Russia and Japan.

Residents of England and Wales have the most living space, the U.N. said—more than 1 1-2 rooms per person. The United States and four other countries follow with 1.4 rooms per head.

Swedes drink the most coffee, the U.N. said. They use 30 pounds a year for every man, woman and child—enough to brew about 1,500 cups.

The residents of Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific have the world's greatest sweet tooth. They use about 120 pounds of sugar a piece every year, against a world average of only 44 pounds, the U.N. said.

End-The-War Backers To Meet, Study 'How'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senators pushing an end-the-war resolution said today they will hold a daylong conference Thursday to discuss how the proposed pullout can be achieved.

The antiwar senators also opened an unusual campaign to appeal through a heavy advertising campaign for public support of their proposal.

Starting today and lasting at least three weeks, television stations reaching a quarter of the nation's population began carrying commercials asking for backing of the "end-the-war" amendment proposed by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

The conference on Thursday will involve what its sponsors labeled a review of "the feasibility of prompt disengagement" from the war effort.

Among the problems to be discussed are the logistics and timetable of withdrawal, procedural steps in negotiations, preventive measures against the threat of a "bloodbath," prisoners of war and conversion of the U.S. economy from wartime to peacetime.

The conference participants will include Clark M. Clifford, former defense secretary; W. Averell Harriman, former chief U.S. negotiator in Paris; David M. Shoup, former commandant of the Marine Corps; George Ball, a foreign policy adviser to President Lyndon B. Johnson; and Townsend Hoopes, former undersecretary of the Air Force.

All are critics of the administration's war policy.

The television campaign to drum up support for the controversial amendment is being coupled with ads in newspapers and radio. The publicity effort is to culminate at the end of the month when Hatfield, McGovern and their 23 co-sponsors expect the Senate to begin consideration of their far-reaching plan.

If enacted, it would require President Nixon to pull all U.S. troops out of Vietnam by no later than next June 30 unless Congress specifically extends that deadline.

Probably never before have members of Congress gone over the heads of their colleagues and purchased advertising to appeal for direct public support for a legislative proposal.

The commercials and ads were prepared by "Advertising People Against the War," a New York group which donated talent said to have a market value of $200,000. The results are slickly professional.

One spot shows three boys playing with wooden guns. A voice says something like this: "There are American boys in Vietnam who were 12 years old when the war began. We don't want today's boys to die in Vietnam 12 years from now. Write your senator or congressman in support of 'the amendment to end the war' . . . Pick up a pen so your son won't have to pick up a gun."

The advertising is paid for from a fund of $480,000 raised during a half-hour television appeal May 12 by McGovern, Hatfield and Sens. Harold Hughes, D - Iowa, Frank Church, D - Idaho, and Charles E. Goodell, R - N.Y. The first $70,000 is paid for that telecast and the rest — plus an anticipated $100,000 in new contributions — will be used for the campaign.

Hickel Taken Into Crow Indian Tribe

HARDIN, Mont., (UPI)—Amid smiling faces, Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel was adopted into the Crow Indian tribe Sunday afternoon.

Two Crow brothers, Henry and Barney Old Coyote, both of whom bear the honored Crow title "Pipe Bearer" because of their distinguished World War Two records, inducted Hickel into the tribe and gave him the name "Pipe Bearer" also.

In the old days an Indian who carried the title won it through acts of heroism.

The ceremony, which included the traditional smoking of the peace pipe, took place on Pretty Eagle Point, about 50 miles south of Hardin. It was Hickel's first visit to an Indian reservation since he became Secretary of the Interior.

Hickel has been often criticized by American Indians, but the Crows are the one Indian nation which has remained friendly. Tribal Chairman Edison Real Bird told Hickel Sunday he was one of them, and the tribe gave him a greeting of unmistakable warmth and friendship. He was especially popular with the Indian children who followed him through the day.

Hickel told the Indians there was a need for understanding, and said "If we do wrong, speak up and we will listen." He also said, "We can learn a great deal from the Indian people about nature, for you know how to use her."

NAACP Condemns Nixon's War, Segregation Policies

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The NAACP is unhappy with the Nixon administration—its withdrawal plans in Indochina, its attempts at ending poverty and its prosecution of segregated schools.

On those issues, the large civil rights group took stands during a six-day national meeting that wound up Friday night.

In major resolutions, the 2,000 delegates:

—Urged the President to use his powers to end segregation.

—Condemned the administration for its spending a "mere pittance" on poverty in comparison to the spending for war.

—Called for a massive effort to stop drug traffic.

"We cannot too strongly condemn the Nixon administration for failing to correct blatant forms of segregation in southern schools while, at the same time, condoning and thereby encouraging more devious forms of segregation in larger school districts all over the country," a resolution adopted Friday read.

NAACP Board Chairman Bishop Steven G. Spottswood set the theme of the convention on the very first night when he denounced the Nixon administration as "anti-Negro."

Lion Drags Youth Into Pit, Mauling Is Fatal

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—An 18-year-old youth, who leaned over a fence into the lion pit at the Portland zoo to tease the big cats, was mauled to death when one of the beasts seized him.

Officials said Roger D. Adams died Independence Day night of a broken neck and loss of blood.

Adams was one of a group of youths who had been celebrating the holiday in the zoo and remained behind the gates after closing hours.

The surviving youths said Adams had been hanging over the fence at the lion pit teasing the jungle cats, although they tried to dissuade him. Suddenly one of the lions seized the youth and dragged him into the pit.

Zoo officials said the incident was unfortunate since the 15-foot deep lion pit had been constructed with a moat specifically to protect spectators.

The Portland Fire Department recovered the body by playing searchlights to blind the lions, while officers stood by with shotguns.

The youth's parents were vacationing in Alaska and authorities were unable to contact them.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1699 the pirate, Capt. William Kidd, was seized in Boston and deported to England.

In 1885 Louis Pasteur innoculated the first human being, a boy who had been bitten by an infected dog. The youngster did not develop rabies.

In 1933 the American League defeated the National League, 4-2 at Chicago, in the first all-star baseball game.

In 1968 President Johnson visited Central America and promised economic aid.

Cause Of Bad Breath Traced

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Spurred on by seeing a sign reading "halitosis is better than no breath at all," an associate professor at the University of British Columbia says he has conclusively identified and measured two chemicals which cause bad breath.

Dr. Joseph Tonzetich, of the university's department of oral biology, said the two compounds are hydrogen sulfide and methyl mercaptan. He said his work can lead to control of bad breath and to early detection of certain diseases of the human body.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

No Sympathy For Rushing Trick; Postpone It To Protect Trumps

As an experienced player, you're familiar with the principle of holding up an ace or king: you simply postpone winning with your high card until one of the opponents plays his last card of the suit. Today's hand shows a variation on that theme for the purpose of protecting your trumps.

RUFFS OPENER

South ruffed the opening lead, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and then led the jack of spades to force out the queen. Back came a diamond, and South ruffed again.

South had to use his last trump to draw West's remaining trump, and then he tried the club finesse. Unfortunately for South, East turned up with the king of clubs. Back came a third diamond, and West was able to take the rest of his suit. Down three.

"I'd have been all right if the trumps broke normally or if the club finesse worked," South grumbled, but nobody gave him much sympathy. You may find sympathy in a bridge player's dictionary, but no meaning is assigned to it.

DESERVED NONE

South deserved no sympathy because he should have made the game despite his bad luck. It was correct to ruff the first diamond and play three rounds of trumps, but it was a ghastly error to ruff the second diamond.

South could well afford to discard a heart on the second round of diamonds, since he was sure to lose that heart sooner or later. In effect, South would be holding up his ruffing trick.

WEST IN CONTROL

West would continue with a third diamond, and now South would ruff while East followed suit with his last diamond. South would draw the last trump and lose the club finesse, but East would be out of diamonds. No matter what East returned, declarer would take the rest of the tricks.

The hand is not worth an opening bid, despite the strong suit and good distribution. You expect to bid later. (Players who use the "weak two-bid" would open the bidding with two spades on this hand.)

Cabbie Kills Python—21-Foot, 60-Pounder

The snake was 21 feet long, 10 inches round and weighed 60 pounds, one of the largest ever found near Legaspi City, 165 miles southeast of Manila.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Waltham Stock Weak In Growth Portfolio

By ROGER SPEAR

Q. We are a middle-aged couple and hold Polaroid, Waltham Industries, U.S. Financial Security Pacific National Bank and Southwest Leasing. Should we make any changes? — G.H.

A. With one exception, your portfolio is entirely suitable for a couple attempting to build capital toward retirement. Your weakest holding, Waltham Industries, has reshuffled its board of directors four times in a year. On sales of $46 million in 1969, earnings reached only 3 cents a share.

Polaroid's poor market action has reflected a slowdown in growth rate. However, new product contributions should help restore the former pace. Southwest Leasing, a new issue in July, 1969, is speculative, but shares held relatively well in the recent market break. Security Pacific, now the tenth largest bank in the country, in terms of deposits, should continue its excellent record of growth. U. S. Financial, a factor in all phases of the housing industry, would benefit significantly by an easing in the money markets. Earnings in 1969 were $1.35 a share fully diluted, and could reach $2 this year.

Funds released by the sale of Waltham Industries could be used to build up holdings of Security Pacific.

Q. We bought Sunstrand Corp. three years ago. Its performance was admirable until the market began to slide. Should we hold on the lance it will recover? — L.T.

A. Two of Sunstrand's major markets — aerospace and machine tools — are at the bottom of a cyclical trough with recovery not expected f or several months. Firstquarter earnings of 49 cents a share were well below results reported a year earlier. Management has reaffirmed, however, earlier predictions that full-year net will compare favorably to the $2.01 earned in 1969.

Favoring long-term appreciation is the company's technological leadership position in its major product areas. A large number of its products are proprietary and the principal aircraft product has a replacement market which is thought to account for 30 per cent of total volume. Several industry analysts have recently recommended gradual accumulation of Sunstrand's overly depressed shares.

Japan Air Lines Buys 11th 747

NEW YORK (BW) — Japan Air Lines has purchased its 10th and 11th Boeing 747's from the Boeing Co. at a price of nearly $22 million each. Delivery is scheduled for 1972.

JAL has already received delivery of its first three 747's called Garden Jets.

The 361-passenger aircraft will be put into service on July 1 between Tokyo and Honolulu, and Tokyo and Los Angeles via Honolulu. By 1974 they will be flying on most of JAL's round-the-world routes.

Paper Mountain

CHICAGO (UPI) — Government figures show that nearly 6.5 million clerical and allied workers produce paperwork every working day, reports A. B. Dick Company, manufacturer and distributor of copying, duplicating, audio-visual and electronic printing and display products.

NEW DATSUN MODEL

Adding versatility to the Datsun line are two new four-passenger models — the 1200 coupe shown above and a two-door sedan in the same series. The 1200 combines a 60-horsepower overhead valve four-cylinder engine, four-speed floor mounted transmission and front disc brakes. Cars are scheduled to appear shortly after the first of next month at Annex Motors, San Rafael.

Santa Rosan Resigns Top Post At Bank

Sierra National Bank, headquartered in Petaluma and with branch offices in both Sonoma and Marin Counties, has announced the resignation of Henry F. Luehring as president and chief executive officer.

Luehring, a resident of Santa Rosa, joined Sierra National five years ago. During this time the bank increased in total assets from $5 million to $19 million. Luehring said he is remaining with the bank as a consultant for possibly as long as three months before making further plans.

Sierra directors have appointed Del R. Ross of Petalufa, executive vice president and cashier as chief executive officer. Board chairman Ray Gamboni said full bank services will be maintained in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Sierra has reported six-month earning, before taxes, of $89 million, compared to midyear profits of $45 million in 1969 and $133.8 million at year end. The bank's capital position is reported in excess of $1 million.

N.Y. Market In Setback; Trading Light

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market today suffered its biggest setback in almost two weeks as Wall Street worried about corporate liquidity, international news and second quarter earnings statements.

Earnings reports for the June quarter were expected to start drifting in later in the week.

The UPI Marketwide Indicator showed a loss of 1.47 per cent on 1,560 issues on the tape. Of these, 977 declined and 331 gained.

Turnover of around 9.25 million shares compared with 8,440,000 Thursday. The market was closed Friday in observance of Independence Day.

One analyst noted that weakness in the glamors acted as a major depressant on the general list. But he noted also that it tended to keep many investors on the sidelines.

A spokesman for W.E. Hutton & Co. brokerage said there was no incentive to buy stocks. He said the feeling is widespread that second quarter earnings will not make good reading.

In the news background, Israel's Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, said Russian military advisers have fired new, advanced SAM-3 missiles at Israeli planes over the Suez Canal.

Bar-Lev said, however, the Russians are more than advisers. "We believe they are directing and operating the whole system," he told a news conference.

Among the stocks on the most active list were Carter Wallace, Occidental Petroleum, Penn Central, and International Telephone preferred "N."

TRY TO BEAT INFLATION

Many Housewives Shift To 'Store' Brand Items

NEW YORK (UPI)—To beat inflation many American housewives are buying "store" brand products, according to a survey by Warwick & Legler Advertising, New York.

Forty-five per cent of the 811 homes answering a survey said they had switched from "name" or advertised brands of food to store brands found in chain stores like A&P and Krogers.

What worries Sol Katz, marketing chief at W&L, is that many of the switchers are young. And five years from now more than half the U. S. population will be 25 or younger.

"They're the ones who should be developing brand loyalties now," said Katz. "If we lose them in recession times it may be difficult to get them back as steady customers in normal times. They're natural doubters to begin with."

"Sure we're concerned about this trend," said Mark Stroock, vice president of corporate relations at Young & Rubicam, a New York agency which included substantial packaged food accounts in its 1969 total billings of $371 million. "But we're not overly concerned."

Stroock said growth of store brand sales is not an outgrowth of the business slowdown. "Actually, it started with the rise of discount houses," he said. "What some people overlook is that the big boys, the Procter & Gambles and General Foods, show healthy increases every year."

Stroock admitted it would be fair to ask if the "big boys" wouldn't be bigger without competition from store brands.

"But when you come right down to it, in terms of food and similar items, the wife is the consumer," he said. "You can fool her once. Maybe twice. But no more. Advertised brands have the quality, and she knows it."

Perhaps she will come back to "name" brands when inflationary pressures ease, or she is disappointed with "store" brand quality. But right now, according to the W&L survey, there is a definite trend to cheaper brands. And not only in foods.

Thirty per cent of the respondents said they now buy unadvertised detergents. It was 18 per cent in drugs, 17 per cent in cosmetics and toiletries, 14 per cent in clothing, 7 per cent in appliances, 9 per cent in beer, 22 per cent in personal soap and 12 per cent in liquor.

Middle-income groups and young family units were most active in the switch. Older families in the $15,000 per year or higher income bracket retained their brand loyalties for the most part.

PROBLEM'S NEW IN CALIFORNIA

Teaching Jobs Fade With Baby Boom

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has perpetually struggled to find enough schoolteachers for its abundance of children.

The state suddenly finds itself today with more teachers than its school districts can absorb. The situation is described by various experts as a shortage of money, a surplus of teachers, or both.

The California Teachers Association calls it "deplorable."

DISTRICTS CAN CHOOSE

Fledgling teachers face an increasingly crowded job market, while school districts can pick and choose among applicants.

"There are at least 2,000-3,000 teachers in California now who cannot get a job," says Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

He estimates there could be "at least two to three times" that number of jobless teachers in the late 1970s unless students are diverted away from teaching careers.

California now has about 165,000-170,000 teachers in elementary and high schools and junior colleges, Rafferty says.

He recently called the Southern California desert town of Needles, where he was once school superintendent, and found no shortage of instructors.

"If Needles has plenty of teachers, everybody has plenty of teachers," Rafferty says.

RECRUITING CUTBACK

He has urged the state's school districts to stop recruiting teachers from out of state because they are unneeded. He adds the districts could save $2 million a year if they quit dispatching recruiters to other states.

The state school chief says the current problem is caused mostly by the financial problems faced by districts whose tax override elections fail, forcing them to hold down payrolls. He has called for added state support for schools.

But Rafferty also attributes the surfeit of teachers to lower birth rates.

"At the moment the economic factor is the biggest part, but next year it will not be," Rafferty says.

As the decade progresses, he says, "there will be fewer kids in school and more teachers going jobless. The declining birthrate hit California kindergartens and first grades in the 1969-70 school year."

BOOM TO END

Population projections indicate that in 1974-75 the state's elementary schools will have fewer children than the year before, Rafferty says.

"This is the first time in the history of California this has ever happened," he added.

He expects the 70s to be a "period of leveling off and decline to a certain extent," but says the 80s remain a question mark.

Calvin Rossi, legislative advocate for the CTA, calls the job shortage a "deplorable situation."

"The only way you can talk about an excess of teachers is if you hold a blindfold over your eyes and don't look at the problems of education in the state," he says. "We need more and better people and need to create the conditions that will attract and hold them."

Only six states have larger class sizes than California, he says. "This is a crime."

He blamed school money woes on the failure of tax overrides and a lack of enough state support, plus a 10 per cent annual rise in costs.

"Just to stay even is a costly thing in today's climate," Rossi says.

He concedes that school populations may level off or drop slightly by mid-decade but predicted they will climb again in the late 70s.

Dr. Ed Clements, director of the job placement office at San Jose State College, reports a tight job market for graduates.

"The reports our candidates come back with indicate they're getting fewer offers," he says. Clements cites "difficult finascial circumstances and declining enrollments" in the schools.

While some fields are especially crowded, such as social science and English, others still need instructors, including math, the sciences, special education and industrial arts, Clements says.

Mrs. Dorothy Boyette, personnel specialist for Sacramento schools, reports "many more candidates for each job this year than previously."

Most of California's new teachers—about 60-70 per cent—are turned out by the state colleges.

"There aren't as many teachers being placed," reports Dr. John Baird, who is in charge of teacher education for the state colleges.

The colleges in 1968-69 produced 8,409 new teachers, capping a steady rise in recent years which he said was partly the result of children of the post-war baby boom leaving college.

Baird also blames the picture on a combination of tight money and drops in kindergarten and first grade enrollments.

Asked if the colleges planned to curtail their turnout of new teachers, Baird answered: "I am not so pessimistic at this stage of the game."

He says he expects enrollments to climb again as the post-war babies send their own offspring to kindergarten.

Youth Nabbed On Suspicion Of Burglary

Ross police arrested a 19-year-old San Franciscan on suspicion of burglary after San Anselmo police stopped him on Redwood Road.

Police said the gold auto driven by Floyd Kermit Ware matched the description given by a yard boy.

The boy reported seeing the car in the driveway at the Dorothy Wilkins home on Winding Way about 11:30 a.m. Thursday and picked out Ware's mugshot from others, police said.

A television set was reported missing.

Ware, who is charged with two other residential burglaries in May and June, was booked into Marin County Jail. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Cleaning Fluid Is Blamed For $15,000 Blaze

A fire caused by fumes from cleaning solvent swept the kitchen of a Tiburon home Friday and did about $15,000 damage before Tiburon firemen were able to put it out.

A fire department spokesman said an employee of a floor covering firm was cleaning the kitchen floor of the William Wachter residence at 2261 Spanish Trail Road at 9:51 a.m. when he spilled some cleaning solvent.

Fumes from the liquid were ignited by the stove's pilot light, gutting the kitchen and causing extensive smoke damage to the rest of the house, the spokesman said.

Three units and 29 men brought the blaze under control in 10 minutes, he said.

BECOMING A NURSE

The Determination Paid Off

Determination to start, stick to and complete a rigid course of study and training kept three mature Marin women moving toward their goal — to become licensed vocational nurses.

And they have just completed the three semester, 35 hours-a-week, program at the College of Marin.

Mary Ellen McCurdy of Mill Valley, Sarah Coleman of Marin City and Duette Rochelle of San Rafael are now graduates of the College of Marin Licensed Vocational Nursing program, and each has her own special reasons why this program was important to her and what the LVN license means in the way of a satisfying and secure job.

For Sarah Coleman it meant restructuring and rearranging a schedule that included home making and care of four children and a husband who is a paraplegic, as the result of a hunting accident four years ago. Mrs. Coleman had just started the program when the accident left her husband in need of care, forcing her to drop her college work. As his condition improved she longed to re-enter the vocational nursing program.

She has applied for work at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Terra Linda and is hopeful she will be able to work there. The Coleman family has been helped with finances through the Aid to Disabled program, but that may soon end, as her husband is now working although not the equivalent of a full salaried job.

MARY ELLEN McCurdy and her two teen-agers, Laura, 16, and Kal, 14, enjoy family sharing and comparing of school experiences. She was divorced two years ago and receives minimal financial help from her former husband.

"The Work Incentive Program and the Leased Housing Program deserve credit for seeing us through these three semesters at College of Marin", Mary Ellen says.

She had started college several years ago but dropped out for personal reasons. "My love is nursing, and then acting, in that order", she said. She has worked with Jack Aranson of Mill Valley and appeared in two Mountain Plays.

"Becoming a nurse is a childhood dream come true for me", she says. "I had rheumatic fever when I was a child and remember my visits to the hospital where there was always a warm, secure feeling. I never dreaded the shots or the blood tests as so many children might. I liked the smells there, the looks of the busy doctors and nurses, and the hsopital atmosphere made me feel secure and well cared for."

Following the state board examinations this month she will be working as a licensed vocational nurse, hopefully at Marin General Hospital.

"WE ARE PERMITTED to work as aides until our license comes through", she explained.

Duette Rochelle gave up a less interesting, but good salaried job as a supermarket cashier to return to College of Marin and train in vocational nursing.

"It took me three years to finally make the break and get started", she said. She had worked as a volunteer at Novato General Hospital many years ago and the experience there influenced her in the decision to return. She was accepted in the program on the basis of test scores and a personal interview, but for two years after acceptance unexpected financial problems kept her from starting the program.

"The third time was the charm for me", she said.

Duette found that her minimal savings soon diminished. Determined not to drop out, she learned about the College of Marin financial aids office and obtained a student loan which carried her through to graduation.

Finally, two weeks before graduation an unexpected windfall in the form of scholarships from the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, awarded to the three women made funds possible to purchase uniforms, shoes, caps and accessories for the graduation exercises.

THE AAUW scholarship committee, heretofore, selected recipients from women attending four year institutions. This year policies were changed within the organization and for the first time the committee included women in two-year community colleges, and focused on women in occupational programs as candidates. The AAUW awarded $100 scholarships each to Mary Ellen and Duette, and a $200 scholarship to Sarah.

"We were impressed with the women and the outstanding personal qualities that brought them back to the college campus and saw them through a highly technical oc-

VOLUNTEERING AT Novato General Hospital several years ago motivated Duette Rochelle to become interested in nursing care. She selected the licensed vocational nursing program at the College of Marin because of the close patient-nurse contact. After giving up a job and living on minimal funds during college, she plans to take the additional 15 units she needs to also obtain associate in science degree.

Hosmers Celebrate 50 Years

A RECEPTION AT St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco yesterday honored Dr. and Mrs. Matthew N. Hosmer on their golden wedding anniversary. The Hosmers have been residents of San Rafael since 1949 and have enjoyed gardening and orchid raising in their home. (Independent-Journal photo)

A reception Sunday afternoon at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Matthew N. Hosmer of San Rafael.

Dr. Hosmer and the former Lillian Roberts were married at her parents' home in San Jose on July 2, 1920, and went to live in San Francisco, where Dr. Hosmer was attending the University of California Medical School.

The couple met and grew up in Turlock and both are graduates of Turlock High School. Dr. Hosmer was born in Turlock and Mrs. Hosmer came there as a child with her family from Parker, S.D., where the Roberts family had owned a ranch.

Dr. Hosmer was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and from U.C. School of Medicine in 1924, and she attended College of the Pacific, then in San Jose, for three years and received her teaching certificate from San Jose Normal School. She became a teacher at the Sarah Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco, as married teachers were barred from the public school system in those days.

Specializing in ear, nose and throat medicine, Dr. Hosmer began practice with a San Francisco medical partnership, and until his retirement last year he maintained his office at 384 Post Street in San Francisco.

In 1928 the couple sailed for Europe, where the doctor spent several months in postgraduate medical studies in Vienna. They returned to live in San Francisco for the next 20 years. In 1948 they moved to Belvedere while their new house was being built in San Rafael, close to the Marin Yacht Club, where they moored their power boat and enjoyed the sunny climate. They moved into their home in San

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Do People Really Remember What Independence Day Stands For?

DEAR HELEN:

I heard a lot of firecrackers on July 4th, read of many automobile accidents, the usual drownings, and watched the fireworks at the local supermarket parking lot.

But whatever happened to the real Independence Day? I'll bet many kids don't even know what it stands for. Adults seem to have forgotten, too.

I started displaying our flag outdoors on Flag Day (yes, kiddies, that was on June 14th) and it is still on its standard in front of our house. People come by and ask me if there's a special election. When I tell them this isn't a voting precinct, they look at me as if I were crazy. Even on July 4th, ours was the only flag on the block. There's a rumor going around now that we're "patriotic nuts" meaning Birchers.

Is it subversive or something to love your country?—LIBERAL DEMOCRAT

DEAR LIB DEM:

It's sad how the real meaning of most holidays — including Christmas — seems to elude us. (Remember those Fourth of July picnics when Congressmen orated from bunting-draped stands, but remember, too, how we didn't listen even then?)

Nevertheless, our flag is making a comeback, and you may yet outlive the patriotic nut label. If those decals, pins and other flag displays haven't yet reached your area — they will. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has taken this married lady back and forth to work every day for the past 20 years. It isn't that I think she would ever come before me, but sometimes I think he gloats over the idea. What's your opinion? — SAD

DEAR SAD:

"Gloating" isn't acting. Besides, you only think he gloats. If, after 20 years, you're still not sure, I'd say you have a pretty trustworthy man. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter was married to a bum, but got a divorce. By accident, we found out later the bum was a bigamist, having been already married.

Now he is married a third time to a very sweet girl, but he still has never divorced his first wife (by whom he has a child). Should we keep quiet or report him to the law?

We don't want to hurt his present wife, but our religion will not permit our daughter to remarry unless her first marriage is annulled. This is only possible if we prove it was never a legal marriage. — WHICH

DEAR WHICH:

All three of these wives should know their legal status. Report this man to the law. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'd like to tell families of compulsive gamblers about "Gam-Anon", a fellowship which shows them how to cope with this sad problem. We apply the same basic spiritual principals used by Al-Anon. Whether our husbands are members of Gamblers Anonymous or not, we gain much benefit. Our doors are always open to others who need help.

For further information, write to Gam-Anon, National Headquarters, P.O. Box M, Norwalk, California, 90650. An eastern address is 17 William St., Newark, New Jersey. Many cities now have meeting places. — P.B.

NURSING

cupational program", said Mrs. R.J. Houston of San Rafael, a member of the scholarship committee. "We know it's not easy to handle family responsibilities, to try to juggle too-little money to cover rent, food and clothing and keep up with a difficult study program", she said.

The LVN program at College of Marin takes the student through courses focusing on the study of the anatomy and physiology of the human body, all aspects of medical and surgical nursing, obstetrical and care of the newborn and develops skills in patient centered nursing care of patients of all ages.

Students are in class 35 hours a week and the time is divided between lecture and clinical practice in local hospitals. At the end of the three semesters, the student will have earned 45 units of college credit. If she decides to continue studying for the associate in science degree, an additional 15 units in general education courses are needed. Duette and Mary Ellen have applied for admission to the fall semester and will take history, English and mathematics courses to meet the degree requirements.

"I like the feeling of education behind me", said Mary Ellen, who added that she might consider working toward a bachelor's degree. Often a hospital job can provide flexible hours for the nurse, permitting both classroom work and full-time job.

THE OPPORTUNITIES in nursing are encouraging, according to Mrs. Laura Jean Looper, director of the program. In a check with the personal office at one local hospital, she found there were openings for about 10 LVNs, with a beginning salary of about $570 a month.

Mrs. Looper has graduated eight classes of vocational nurses since the program was started at College of Marin. Two have elected to complete the R.N. program.

"We screen the applicants and accept them on the basis of their desire to be LVNs, and are quite pleased that the majority of graduates are happy to practice the career they have been trained for", she said.

The new semester in the fall will have 15 new students, the legal limit per instructor. Applicants must complete tests and interviews four months prior to the start of each semester.

Women's Salaries

In 1955, women's median wage or salary income of $2,719 was 64 per cent of the $4,252 received by men, the U.S. Department of Labor reports. In 1968, women's median earnings of $4,457 were only 58 per cent of the $7,664 received by men.

Some Facts On Phosphates From Congressional Hearings

By ARTHUR E ROWSE

WASHINGTON — If you want to get your clothes as clean as possible and still do your bit to reduce pollution from phosphates, House Report 91-1004 is a must for your bedside reading.

Otherwise known as the 23rd Report by the House Committee on Government Operations, the 87-page document gives all you need to know — and more — about phosphates, which recently replaced enzymes as the most talked-about washday topic.

The report is based on testimony received in public hearings earlier this year by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.). It explains why phosphates are considered to be serious threats to the continued existence of lakes and reservoirs.

It refutes industry arguments that detergents are not the main source of phosphates and that the answer lies in more refined sewage treatment plants. It also disputes industry contentions that there is no practical substitute available.

BUT THIS report has an added feature that few government reports have. It has enough detailed information to serve as a consumer guide to shopping for proper laundry aids and use of them in home laundries.

The most important point about phosphates is one that has been virtually ignored in public discussion: the fact that phosphates are water softeners.

This means, as the report points out, that the need for water softeners varies according to the relative hardness or softness of local water supplies. Yet all but a few detergents are produced and sold with uniform proportions of phosphates regardless of region.

To find whether your local water is soft or hard, call the water department. For good measure, the House report lists this data for the 100 largest cities in the country.

If you live in an area of soft or moderately hard water, you may be able to switch to soap, which has no phosphate in it. Even in hard water areas, soap can be as effective as it used to be, but it is likely to leave a scum that may reduce the cleansing action and result in some grayness.

ADDING A water softener will eliminate this scum. Most water softeners contain phosphates, but some do not. The House report lists the phosphate contents of nearly every cleaning compound on the market today, from dishwashing and laundry detergents to scouring cleansers and bleaches.

With this list, consumers can compare all the most popular detergents with information that is not available on labels. The report recommends that this information be required on labels in the future.

It also recommends that all phosphate (enzyme) presoaks be removed from the market immediately because of their high phosphate proportion. It also urges that all detergents with phosphates be eliminated by the end of 1972.

In their places, the report urges, detergents should be formulated with phosphate substitutes and water softeners to suit the geographic region in which they are sold.

For the latest word on these and other points about phosphates, consult the report. It is available for 40 cents from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

QUIET SCENES AT LAST ROSS FAIR

Displays by the Tamalpais Weavers Guild (above), which earned the grand award for amateur model gardens, and by Cagwin and Dorward, (above right), which was the 1959 blue ribbon victor, were among exhibits which attracted 33,532 persons to the five-day Marin Art and Garden Fair, which closed last night. It was the fair's last year in Ross, since it is scheduled to move to the Civic Center. The attendance topped last year's by 2,528. Daily figures were: 3,624, Wednesday; 4,544, Thursday; 7,573, Friday; 8,660, Saturday, and 7,689, Sunday.

Claims Of Black Gains Stir Magazine Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some statistics used by presidential adviser Daniel P. Moynihan to prove the American Negro is making progress have been attacked as "seriously misleading."

The criticism came from Donald Canty, editor of the National Urban Coalition's bimonthly magazine "City." Canty said in the current issue that figures cited in Moynihan's "benign neglect" memo can be concealing as well as revealing.

Moynihan's private memo was leaked to the press more than a year after it was written. It said U. S. Negroes were making "extraordinary progress" and it suggested the Nixon administration would be wise to further the improvement process and ignore racial extremists on both sides.

Canty said the basis of Moynihan's memo was a proposition that "had been steadily gaining favor" among academic experts — "turning the emphasis from race to class."

"It was full of impressive looking statistics which the President must have found comforting indeed," Canty said. "Upon close examination, however, the statistics turned out to be highly selective and in some cases seriously misleading."

Canty said Moynihan cited figures showing that "a third (32 per cent) of all families of Negro and other races nonwhite earned $8,000 or more, in 1968 constant dollars, compared with 15 per cent in 1960."

"What Dr. Moynihan failed to point out was that in the same period, the percentage of white families earning $8,000 or more rose to 58," Canty said. "The gap was wider in 1968 than in 1960."

He said Moynihan had chosen highly selective statistics when he told Nixon: "Young Negro families are achieving income parity with young white families. Outside the South, young husband-wife Negro families have 99 per cent of the income of whites! For families headed by a male, age 25 to 34, the proportion was 87 per cent. Thus, it may be this ancient gap is finally closing."

Canty said in qualifying his figures for age, region and family composition, Moynihan had come up with statistics that concealed "that nationally, the median income of Negro families in 1968 remained only 60 per cent that of white families. In constant dollars once again, the gap had actually widened."

Canty said while Moynihan conceded black unemployment was twice that of whites, he cited a low 2.5 per cent joblessness figure for nonwhite married men. By limiting his mention to married adult men, the editor said, Moynihan did not show that the unemployment rate for all nonwhites in 1969 was 6.5 per cent.

He also objected to Moynihan's statement that the number of black professional and technical employes doubled in the 1960-68 period without pointing out that nonwhites started with 4 per cent of the total professional-technical work force and increased only to 6 per cent.

Curb Agnew, Young Foe Tells Nixon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Joseph Rhodes Jr., a member of the Presidential Commission on Campus Unrest, says he is disturbed President Nixon hasn't been able to control Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's rhetoric.

"It bothers me the president hasn't been able to quiet the vice president down," Rhodes said Sunday in response to Agnew's second public urging that Rhodes be dropped from the commission.

Agnew accused Rhodes Saturday of "harebrained, unprovable bluster" that should disqualify him from serving on the commission.

Agnew said his criticism was not aimed at Rhodes' private right to dissent, but at his role as an investigator. "Fact-finding investigation does not properly begin with a recitation of unsubstantiated opinion by the investigators," he said.

Agnew was referring to a statement by Rhodes that California Gov. Ronald Reagan was "bent on killing people for his own political gain."

Students Ready Run Of Classic Greek Play

The College of Marin production of "The Oresteia," Aeschylus's tragedy, will open July 24 in the Fine Arts Theater.

Drama department students, who are spending the summer immersing themselves in the life of Athens in its golden age, will present the John Lewin adaptations of "The House of Atreus," "Agamemnon," "The Libation Bearer" and "The Furies," each composing one act of the final play.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. with performances also on July 25-26 and 30-31 and Aug. 1-2 and 6-9. James Dunn, chairman of the drama department, is the director.

The summer project is financed through a grant from the San Francisco Foundation. The students not only rehearse and perform, but study Athens through field trips, lectures, workshops and seminars..

The daily schedule begins at 1 p.m. and includes physical exercise, hiking or jogging, and night rehearsals and technical work until 10:30 p.m.

Professional actors Carolyn Reed-Dunn and Richard Quinn Matthews are holding classes in acting techniques. Instructors from other departments are also taking part, including Donald Palmer in philosophy, Thomas Place and Murray Peterson on mathematics. Millard Morgen on history, Scott Merrick on music, Diane Wickstrom on anthropology, and retired instructor Edwin A. Cadogan on art and architecture.

Road Contract Will Be Studied

The Rohnert Park City Council meeting today at 7 p.m., will consider awarding a contract to complete construction of Southwest Boulevard.

The council will also consider the request of the Sonoma Campus Co. for an assessment district to widen the two-lane boulevard in the El Colegio area where the group plans a college-oriented housing development.

In the same development, the council will accept a deed for nearly five acres for a neighborhood park which it purchased for $3,800, or $750 per acre.

Northgate Arts Festival Is Set

The Northgate Arts Festival, featuring art and craft work by nonprofessionals, is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the Northgate Shopping Center in San Rafael.

Display hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday and from noon to an unspecified hour on Sunday.

Registration will be immediately before opening on Saturday. The show is sponsored by Artists Exhibits Inc. of San Francisco.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Charley's Aunt' Back Without Style, Class

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — That grand old British farce, "Charley's Aunt," not seen on Broadway in its original form since 1940, is available again at the Brooks Atkinson Theater, where it opened Saturday night.

Brandon Thomas' 78-year-old romantic tangle is one of those durable capers that would get some laughs in the most bumbling amateur production.

The current revival, handsomely mounted, is, of course, a thoroughly professional affair, and it stirs up a lot of laughter, if the reaction of the firstnighters is to be trusted.

This despite the fact that the cast includes such genuinely stylish players as Melville Cooper, Martyn Green and Eric Berry. Three wonderfully efficient veterans.

Nor can I especially fault such younger players in top roles as Michael Goodwin, Rex Thompson, Lynn Milgrim, Andra Akers and Elizabeth Swain. They are personable and competent.

Reluctantly to the point. While he or anyone else can't fail to get laughs in the pivotal role of Lord Fancourt Babberley, perennial Oxford undergraduate who poses as Charley's aunt, I think that Louis Nye, best known as a television comedian of considerable repuiation for years, is not right for the part. Even in the broadest of farce roles, a certain subtlety, an innate sense of finesse, is desirable.

Lack of this cannot be blamed on director Harold Stone insofar as this single role is concerned, yet one cannot escape the feeling he has failed to provide the sophisticated, homogeneous gloss essential to a truly pleasurable revival of this play.

In addition to the players mentioned, most of whom are commendable, especially Miss Milgrim, it must be noted that screen star Maureen O'Sullivan is an attractive asset as Charley's real aunt "From Brazil, where the nuts come from", who straightens out the various youthful romances snarled in the involved plot and acquires a romance of her own.

Robert T. Williams has provided attractive settings for producers Jay H. Fuchs, Jerry Schlossberg and John Murray.

With no desire to pick on director Stone, it should be mentioned that in the same block as "Charley's Aunt" is his staging of a revival of "Room Service" at the Edison Theater. He does much better by that slam-bang modern-day farce that doesn't call for the delicate, stylish touch.

Capsule comments:

Jack Gaver, UPI — "It lacks style, class."

James Davis, Daily News — "I had the feeling. . .that I had been stuck in some hick town on a rainy night and the only thing doing was 'Charley's Aunt,' at the nearby stock theater or high school auditorium."

Experts Say Buses Were Dynamited

LONGVIEW, Tex.(UPI)—Police said today explosive experts had determined dynamite was used to touch off a chain reaction that damaged or destroyed all 36 school buses parked in a maintenance yard Saturday.

The Longview School District will use the vehicles they can repair when busing students begins this September.

Investigators had originally theorized as many as two dozen nitroglycerin bombs were used in the incident.

No one was injured in the blast, which came shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday.

Police said they have found no one who saw anyone near the maintenance yard Saturday night. The chief avenue of investigation concerns two footprints found outside the fence which surrounds the yard.

The explosives were strung together with a heavy fuse, and all explosions came within a fraction of a second of each other.

Children's concerts will be presented by the Bach-to-Mozart group at 2:30 p.m. on each of the days of its evening concerts.

Supervisors Plan Appointments Of Agency Officials

The Marin County Board of Supervisors is scheduled at its all-day meeting tomorrow to name a successor to Melton Ferris of Bolinas on the parks and recreation commission.

Ferris, a commissioner since 1965, has notified county officials he wished to step down because he feels he has served long enough.

The board also is scheduled to appoint two members to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and one to the Housing Authority as part of a reorganization of the groups.

In other matters, the supervisors will meet as the Marin Transit District board to hold a workshop with owners of Marin Transit systems, hear a request to evaluate the work of Marin' drug abuse bureau and disburse $30,000 is economic development funds.

The board meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m.

DEEP IN THE HEART OF MARIN?

Fireworks exploded over Marin skies with the flag that the Fourth of July was all about superimposed on the picture. The fireworks were at Corte Madera Saturday night, and the flag was hanging from a deck at the residence of Walter Derr Jr. at 21 Corte Del Bayo, Larkspur. The smaller flag is the lone star of Texas which Derr brought to Marin from Dallas, where the family formerly lived.

Five Injured In Holiday Accidents

Five persons were injured, none seriously, in three traffic accidents on Marin County highways over the Fourth of July weekend, according to the California Highway Patrol.

James A. Poe Jr., 19, of North Carolina, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a spinal fracture and multiple cuts suffered in an accident on Panoramic Highway near Shoreline Highway Saturday at 10:30 p.m.

The patrol said he was a passenger in a car driven by Robert H. Bahlman, 22, of Penngrove, which left the road on a curve and plunged over an embankment, landing on its top.

Two other passengers, Kitty Hackett, 20, and Mark Tuverson, 19, both of 413 Maple Street, Tamalpais Valley, were treated for multiple cuts and bruises.

Sigurd Nordskog, 15, of 420 Oakdale Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in good condition today at the hospital with a fractured right ankle after the motorcycle he was riding spun out and crashed on Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

The driver, Lewis L. Larimer, 19, of San Francisco, was uninjured in the 3:30 p.m. accident, the patrol said.

Another motorcyclist, Donald J. Maguire, 36, of San Francisco, was treated for bruises and scrapes at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael after his machine flipped on Shoreline Highway two miles south of Stinson Beach yesterday at 4:40 p.m.

Mayors, Councilmen Will Elect Officers

New officers will be elected by the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Golden Dragon Restaurant in Sebastopol.

Former Santa Rosa mayor Jack Ryersen will be honored at the meeting.

Sewer Arguments Go To Commission

Two long-standing disputes arising from sanitary district annexations will go before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the board of supervisors chambers in the Civic Center.

Set for discussion are reconsideration of a condition on Lucky Road annexation to the Corte Madera Sanitary District and a letter from the Bayside Acres Poperty Owners Association. In both cases, residents in the areas want sewer service but don't want to annex to adjoining cities — Corte Madera and San Rafael, respectively — to get it.

Two Officers Hurt In Highway Mishap

Two California Highway Patrol officers received minor injuries in a freak accident on Highway 101 in Corte Madera yesterday, the patrol reported.

Officer Bill G. Cox, 30, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a pain in the right side and Officer James McDonald, ss, was to see his own doctor for unspecified minor injuries.

The patrol said they stopped on the northbound freeway near the Tamalpais Avenue exit at 2:30 p.m. to help George De Mello, 61, of 178 Blackstone Drive, San Rafael, retrieve a load of mattresses that had fallen from his car.

McDonald was sitting on his motorcycle on the shoulder when he was struck by a car driven by Florence L. Nestel, 50, of 25 Alvarado Avenue, Mill Valley.

Cox saw the Nestel vehicle approaching and attempted to escape by scaling a chain link fence, but the motorcycle flew through the air and pinned him momentarily.

De Mello was cited for spilling a load on the highway and Mrs. Nestel was cited for driving at an unsafe speed for conditions.

Novato Park Use Rules Vote Set

Rules to govern use of Novato parks will go before the Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

With Pioneer Memorial Park nearing completion, it has been increasingly hard to patrol it and police have made many arrests in the park.

Terra Linda Man Honored On 101st Birthday

A party in his honor was held at the Northgate Convalescent Center, where he lives, and Palmer was presented with cakes by the center's staff, his family, and by a child of one of the staff.

Police Recover $13,768 Stolen From Sally Stanford

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Police yesterday recovered $13,768, including $8,000 in loose change, within hours after it had been stolen from the San Francisco mansion of Sally Stanford.

Booked at city jail on suspicion of burglary and being drunk was William Harris, 49, of Berkeley, a long-time employee of Miss Stanford. Harris had operated the parking lot of her Sausalito restaurant, Valhalla Inn.

"I'm a coin collector," Miss Stanford said of the thousands of dollars worth of coins. "I like to fool around with coins and all old money."

The money was recovered when two patrolmen came upon a parked pickup truck with the driver slumped over the steering wheel.

Scattered throughout the cab of the truck were $100 bills. In the back were eight canvas bags, each holding about 45 pounds of coins, many of them quarters.

The funds were traced to Miss Stanford when police found some receipts from her restaurant in the coin bags. Bills and coins, she said, had been pilfered from desks and drawers at her house.

Police said they borrowed automatic counting equipment to determine how much all of the coins were worth. "It was very weird," Patrolman Jack DeMartini said.

Two Back As Suspects In Burglaries

Corte Madera police have rearrested two San Francisco men charged with a Tiburon burglary on suspicion of burgling two Corte Madera apartments.

Corte Madera police acted Friday after questioning George Ruiz Gonzales, 30, and Paul Herrera, 30. Bail of $3,150 apiece was set for the Corte Badera arrests, in addition to $2,500 bail apiece set in the Tiburon charge The pair will appear today in Barin Municipal Court in the Corte Madera case.

Police said the pair used a wrench to break doorknob locks and enter the apartments of Per H. Andreassen, 214 Uplands Circle, and Dorothy P. Carey, 213 Uplands Circle. Andreassen's apartment was entered between 7:30 a.m. June 23 and 2:40 p.m. June 24 and a silver penknife taken. The Carey apartment was entered between 8:45 a.m. and 3 p.m. June 23 and a television set and silverware valued at $1,800 taken.

The pair was arraigned Thursday in the Tiburon case, in which they are charged with burgling the apartment of Anne Shearer, 2385 Paradise Drive, on Wednesday.

Some Added Symoblism In An Ancient Ceremony

There was a symbolism beyond what was intended at the ceremony in the British House of Lords last Friday when Queen Elizabeth II opened the new parliament.

Richard H. Growald of United Press International told in a moving, well-written story — which appeared in Friday's Independent-Journal — how the 70-year-old Earl Mountbatten of Burma almost fainted as he stood beside the queen during her address to the governing body. The aging earl, standing ramrod-straight and holding erect a heavy, jewel-encrusted broadsword, slumped slightly and wobbled as the queen was making her speech. His knees buckled. The sergeant-at arms stepped forward to take the sword. But the earl, recovering, shook his head sharply in refusal. And though twice more he appeared about to faint, he stood until the queen had finished speaking, then led the procession from the room with all the pomp attendant on the ancient ceremony.

WE REMEMBER Earl Mountbatten as a dapper figure leaping from his private plane (an especially remodeled U.S. attack bomber) at an airstrip in Burma in the waning days of World War II. He was then Admiral the Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of the allied Southeast Asia Command.

He is now one of the last survivors of those who held great command roles in that war. But the symbolism does not lie there.

Earl Mountbatten also represents a vanished breed — those who spread British imperialism around the world, until the maps on the walls of English schoolrooms were bright with big patches of red on every continent — denoting the lands under the Union Jack — and the saying was true that "the sun never sets on the British Empire."

HE WAS BORN to the purple, son of Prince Louis of Battenberg, who was first sea lord in 1914 and later Marquess of Milford Haven, and of Princess Victoria of Hesse, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria. Queen Elizabeth II is his cousin.

He grew up with the belief that aristocracy carries with it a responsibility for leadership. He chose the Navy as his field.

He was commanding a destroyer flotilla when World War II broke out. With his connections, he could easily have arranged a less hazardous assignment. But instead, he took command of an aircraft carrier, then trained and led the Commandos of the Royal Marines, then went to Kandy, Ceylon, to be supreme commander in Southeast Asia. The war over, he became viceroy, then governor general of India, and arranged the transfer of powers to the newly independent nations of India and Pakistan.

He did all this, just as he clung to the jeweled broadsword in the stuffy heat of the House of Lords last Friday, from a combination of pride and ambition with sense of duty. It was "what a man does." It was the Great Tradition.

THEREIN LIES the symbolism. And therein lies also a question for today:

Among the new generations of leaders throughout the world, and among the rising generation of tomorrow's leaders, are there enough who will seek the risks, who will serve without stint, who will cling to the broadsword, because it is "what a man does"? Or is the Great Tradition a fading, meaningless memory?

Hair In Perspective

Those who are so uptight about youngsters with long hair and beards and outlandish clothing should review their own history.

Dirty corduroy trousers and sweat shirts were the common male attire.

Today, hair is in. But just be patient. Sooner or later, the style and fad will change. Maybe the next change will favor a return of the grease jar. Then parents will once again wonder what perverse fad their children have taken up.

There's Fresh Wind Blowing Where The Smog Czars Sit

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

It's a lousy pun, but good news, that fresh air is blowing through the board of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

A majority of the 12 directors traditionally spend their time insisting that the real source of most air pollution was the motor vehicle.

Reassuring themselves of this debatable point, they then would launch into choruses of lament that the state and federal governments had preempted their jurisdiction over motor vehicles, so there was nothing for them to do but listen to slick operators from the automotive industry explain how hard they were working to clean up the internal combustion engine.

Which may prove to be like trying to clean up the streets of New York City.

BUT THIS SIDESHOW never caught the public's fancy. Instead, the public started to storm the directors' monthly meetings with demands for a crackdown on industry's contribution to air pollution. Industrial air pollution was more damaging to health than that from motor vehicles, many told the board.

And besides, it was time for the board to start working on controls for polluters in their jurisdiction, many said.

Some directors got the outraged public's message, but a slim majority never managed to understand where they had failed.

THAT ALL CHANGED last week with the election as chairman of Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo. He was a leader in the minority that had tried to inject some life into the board, but progress was frustratingly slow.

What made Calvo's election possible apparently was the replacement last month of three of the old-time directors. The new ones, including Sausalito City Councilman Wyman Hicks, made it clear they will accept few of the senior directors' comfortable assumptions about the district's performance.

"We're new, so we don't know what can't be done," said Pleasanton City Councilman Bernard T. Gerton.

Their ardor may pass, but by then the old district just won't be the same.

THE WINDS of change clearly discomfit some of the district's staff, but most of the staff seems excited to see the place come alive. Those who cannot make the adjustment can be expected to leave.

Looking the most unhappy in the audience were the representatives of major industries in the Bay Area. The timing of the change to the new order could not be worse for them.

District committees have been working up a batch of new regulations to control heavy pollution. Many of the staff's proposals for tough controls have been watered down by industry-dominated committees.

In times past, the board of directors routinely approved the committee recommendations — but that procedure is ancient history now. The new board knows what has been happening, and is prepared to restore many staff recommendations deleted by the committees.

Dark days are ahead for industry, but that may spell brighter days for the rest of us breathers.

California Roads Add To Tire Wear

The current furor and concern over the wearability of the tires on county sheriff's patrol cars should not come as a revelation to a Marin County or California resident. Where I was able to acquire 35,000 to 45,000 miles on new car original tires in Michigan, 8 years ago, I find I am lucky to exceed 20,000 miles in California. I have observed the following reasons for increased tire wear in California:

1. Sporadic traffic patterns and control
2. Highway layout
3. Highway construction materials

I am not a highway engineer. But, it does not take too much analysis to establish that there are 52 major turns between San Francisco and Terra Linda on Highway 101 that contribute to tire wear on an unbanked highway on turns.

Stupid stop and go driving in the high speed lane similarly contributes to tire wear. Police enforcement of expeditious travel in this lane is nil.

In fact, overall highway movement control is terrible. If the county and state patrol cars took positive action in achieving controlled maximum speeds on 101, they would probably reduce accidents, increase traffic flow rate, and reduce tire wear of the residents . . .

Don't Know What 'Economy' Means

Let me suggest to the Marin County supervisors, school boards and school administrators that they look up the definition of the seldom-used word, "Economy."

From the actions of these groups in their dealings with the 1970-71 budgets, they have absolutely no conception of the meaning of the word.

Here we are, in a recession, when all taxing units should be holding the line on salary raises and expenditures, instead they keep on spending as though Marin County property owners had money trees growing in their back yards.

Marin County has only a bedroom economy, out of which property taxes must come to finance the operations of the county and school districts. With these sky-high tax rates, no business would attempt to operate in Marin. . .

The Reed School District tax increase election was soundly defeated, after the trustees claimed this extra funding was needed to operate the district.

But somehow, when the chips are down and with all the phony talk of cutting out badly needed projects, they are still granting pay raises and are hiring seven new teachers. . .

AMA President, I-J Irresponsible

Sniping at doctors and the AMA is an old game. It must be great fun. But when you elect to express your opinion, you owe your readers a bit of homework — thoroughly done — on your part.

The current president of the AMA, Dr. Bornemier, is entitled to his opinion, as an individual, as to relieving "doctor shortage" instantly! He could be wrong and worse, irresponsible.

You know full well that the doctor whom you choose to open your heart, dig out your brain tumor, or simply differentiate acute appendicitis from a "gut ache" must be trained. If you want mass production of doctors or transition of teachers and research physicians to daily practitioners, your disappointments are assured. You can trade off a faulty car. I doubt that you'll re-assemble your body as casually.

You noted that 15 per cent of the Marin County practitioners are general practitioners and only 8 per cent are in general surgery. The lattter, a glaring error in your assumption, bespoke your failure to study even your terminology before dashing to take pen in hand. A general surgeon is a specialist. He is well-trained, by established medical rating organizations that are far more demanding than "organizations" of editorial writers. Specifically, a general surgeon operates on many areas of the body although more limited areas are attended by other specialists . . .

Dilatory remarks such as yours serve little useful purpose and probably fail even to "prod" allegedly "indifferent doctor organizations" to improve — in the image you deem suitable.

ALEX FINKLE, Ph.D., M.D.

(Similarly irresponsible, the Reader's Digest in its July issue carries an article by Dr. Walter C. Bornemeier setting forth the same views he gave in his inaugural address as American Medical Association president, which was reviewed in the June 27 editorial.—Editor.)

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 6, 1960

William O. Weissich resigned as Marin County district attorney, and the board of supervisors named Roger P. Garety to succeed him.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

20 YEARS AGO

July 6, 1950

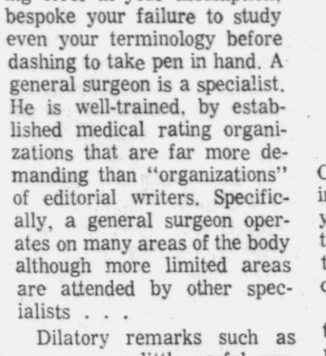
Striking Marin carpenters returned to work with promise of a 15-cent per hour pay boost.

County Assessor George W. Hall announced Marin's assessed valuation was $80,989,930, up some $4 million from the preceding year.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A bedraggled kid caught suburbanite Clarence Roeser reading on the porch, and offered to wash his car for a dime. Indulgently, Mr. Roeser gave him a dime and told him to proceed. An hour later, he saw the boy heading for home and called out, "How's business today?" "Great," enthused the kid. "Mr. Jones across the street came over to watch me — and gave me a quarter not to wash his car."



"Those thar cows of mine," boasted a Maine farmer to a vacationist from Manhattan, "not only give the finest milk in the state, but they are wonderful weather forecasters. When I see 'em lying down, I know it's going to be clear. But if they're standing up — watch out for rain. It never misses.

"Wait a minute," interrupted the unimpressed vacationist. "Look at your cows now. Half of them are standing up and the other half are lying down."

"Exactly," nodded the farmer. "That means it may rain and it may not."

THE DRUMMONDS

Moscow, Worried About Peking, Seeks New Pacts With Neighbors

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is new evidence that the Russians are increasingly worried about what Red China will do next.

The Kremlin's anxiety about Peking is coming more into the open, and it rests on the now official assertion that the Chinese Communist regime is turning toward "foreign adventures" to distract attention from domestic failure.

THE SOVIET LEADERS are beginning to do something about it:

1 — Behind the facade of updating its "treaties of friendship" with the Warsaw Pact nations, Moscow is requiring all its Eastern European satellites to pledge that they will go to war with Red China if the Soviet Union gets involved.

This is a totally new commitment never before embraced either in the Warsaw Pact or in the Russian bilateral treaties with the Eastern European Communist countries.

The latest instance is the newly revised Russian-Czechoslovak treaty which requires Prague to render "immediately all aid including military" in the event of "armed attack by any state." Heretofore, these treaties only applied to armed attack by "any European state."

2 — Now, more than before, the government-controlled media are publicly bracing the Russian people against what the Kremlin believes may lie ahead from Red China. They are doing so by discussing openly why the leadership fears Chinese intention and by telling the people that there is reason to be worred about "Chinese imperialist adventurism."

A STRONG STATEMENT of the Soviet concern over Red China, directed to home consumption, recently appeared in the important weekly, Literaturnaya Gazeta, by a journalist with high credentials, Ernst Henri. He writes:

"If Peking is mainly interested in satisfying certain power-thirsty Chinese leaders, in resurrecting Genghis Khan in the 20th century — then Chinese policy will plunge wildly into risky adventures, disregarding all real possibilities, the existing balance of power, the poverty and backwardness of its people. China would then hop from conflict to conflict, from provocation to provocation, ending it all with a world war." The Kremlin permits its chosen writers to go further. He concedes that "people think that Maoist China, despite its backwardness and relative weakness, can realize its far-reaching imperialist plan which will end by stabbing the USSR and other socialist countries in the back."

AND THEN THIS warning to the Chinese:

"China in a moment of total hysteria may leap, eyes closed, into the kind of adventure that will seriously endanger the whole world. But neither the material nor the ideological forces of Maoism will suffice to reach the target. Those Chinese who can think, including such Chinese politicians as are endowed with any common sense, would do well to reflect and ponder this. They should look around at the world and recall their country's past."

It is evident that the Kremlin wants its own people more alert to dangers from China and wants the Chinese aware that they could easily risk their country being occupied by foreign powers "as in the past."

OBVIOUSLY any military aid which the Eastern European satellites could give the Soviet Union in the event of war with China would be slight, almost negligible. But there are three possible objectives behind the recent journeys of Premier Kosygin and party chief Brezhnev to forge this new network of expanded military commitments.

These commitments could help produce the maximum political and diplomatic support among the Communist nations in the event of Sino-Soviet conflict. They would probably assure some token aid and could help contain temptation on the part of any of the European satellites to strike for their own independence, if the Russians were long preoccupied on the Sino-Soviet front.

Moscow may be overworried about Red China — but maybe not. They're closer than we are.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

'Power To The People'— But Death For Protest

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Red China, which has aggressively instigated and encouraged youth rebellion and disaffection in other countries, is getting a dose of its own medicine.

For some weeks, authoritative sources inside China have reported increasing instances of turbulent youth disturbances and dissension, particularly among university and high school students.

According to the intelligence reports, the Mao Tse-tung regime is resorting to extreme repressive measures — outright executions in particularly disturbed areas, and thousands exiled in others, some for life.

Following are latest accounts of what happened to malcontent youth in a number of sections:

KWANGTUNG PROVINCE — Scores of students were executed after a series of demonstrations and disturbances against being ordered to quit classes and go to work on farms, roads, irrigation and other rural projects. Foremost among those shot were dissident student leaders. Practically all were wiped out.

Simultaneous with these wholesale executions, authorities launched a "re-education program aimed especially at high school students. Large numbers of them were sent to the countryside where their "re-education" was put in the hands of peasants.

ANHWEI PROVINCE — Several hundred students and graduates from "senior and junior middle schools" were rounded up and shipped to rural areas. At the same time, a new program of "Red children's classes" was launched to "thoroughly and fully indoctrinate them in the proletarian revolutionary cause." All children between the ages of 5 and 10 must attend these mind-forming classes.

THROUGH-OUT CHINA — Posters are appearing denouncing student protestors and dissenters as "criminals," "enemies of Mao Tse-tung," and "imperialists' spies and agents."

One of these propaganda placards, brought to Hong Kong by an escaping youth, reads: "Decisively liquidate the bad elements who fan the wind of criminal opposition among youth. Destroy the decadent youth who become victims of these enemy agents. Raise the class awareness of children to deepen their love for Mao Tse-tung."

Sign Of Summer In Seventies: All's Quiet On College Campus

The office navigator took a sight out the window the other day with his solstice or whatever it is and announced that summer is here.

Among the blessings of summer in recent years we must include the soothing quiet that falls over our college campuses. There was a time in my youth when campuses seemed quiet all year around, though my grandchildren some day may dismiss that as the unreliable recollection of senility.

At any rate, College of Marin this season looks almost restored to its onetime restful state and one could almost expect to see sheep grazing on the lawns.

It is not by any means deserted, however. There are 1,745 students taking credit courses. This is a considerable drop from the 2,319 of last summer but easily enough to keep the coffee machines busy at the student center.

No student government, no manifestoes, just students going to class and teachers teaching them.

Perhaps the way to keep our nation's colleges calm is to declare every term a summer session.

JUST OFF the campus, summer brings the opposite of calm. A street crew is tearing up College Avenue to move water lines before the next phase of flood control work begins, and traffic picks its way among big trucks and over bumpy temporary backfill.

There's another obstacle course along Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, where the street is being torn up to lay telephone conduits and gas lines. Traffic moves smartly despite the stricture, partly because school is out and there are fewer cars on the road.

ANOTHER SIGN of summer, and one more welcomed by motorists, is the mushrooming of miniskirted hitchhikers. In Marin there is always a supply of hitchhikers, but the girls come out mostly in summertime. Perhaps they're in school the rest of the year, or won't hitchhike in cold weather.

One exception is a girl who hitchhikes from Larkspur, apparently into San Francisco, every morning. Most days she wears a flame-red coat and it appears she has some regular lifts, because she always manages a ride before 8:30 a.m.

Another girl has appeared of late along Magnolia Avenue, holding up a neatly handprinted sign for "San Francisco Financial District."

What a shame that such a simple human thing as giving someone a lift has become an issue! Both driver and hitchhiker operate with a fear — unfortunately well-grounded — that the other may not be trustworthy, but bent on robbery or attack.

ART BUCHWALD

That 'Extremely Urgent' Message You Overlooked Probably Wasn't

Some years ago I found myself on the north coast of Haiti, east of Cap Haitian. The overseer of a large sisal plantation, Lee Anderson, had invited me to be his guest for a few weeks.

It was a lovely part of the country, completely removed from urban lights, sights and sounds, and apparently Lee, his wife and 8-year-old daughter thoroughly enjoyed their solitary life.

About every three months, Anderson drove down the winding road through the mountains, across the Artigonite Valley to Port au Prince to pick up supplies and an accumulation of his home town newspaper, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Then, back home, each morning Mrs. Anderson placed, in sequence, one of the fading newspapers next to his berakfast plate and Lee would drink his black coffee and mutter over the happenings that had occurred three months earlier, and were of little, if any, importance now to the distant outside world.

Anderson always hospitably divided his paper with me and I poured over it with as much relish as if I were reading for the first time the fresh news of the previous day.

ONCE AND ONLY once, I unfortunately informed Lee of the outcome in a certain political election. It was as though I had named the murderer in a mystery thriller he had just begun to read. His face reddened, the veins stuck out in his neck. I had ruined his whole day.

The time spent with Lee began to take on a weird, unreal cast. It was a kind of crazy quilt existance which slowly and gently pushed me out of my time and place. Frequently I found myself feeling disoriented and as if I were wearing an electric sign and it was blinking, "Tilt."

A nudging notion came to me out of this Kafkaesque experience that perhaps we, all of us, put too much stress on unimportant matters of our daily lives, or on matters we are led to believe are important.

AFTER LEAVING the Cap Haitian plantation, I went on to other places, other experiences, but the curious thought persisted. When I returned to the States several months later, I found my accumulated mail filled a large carton. I attacked that impressive pile apprehensively, but much to my surprise I discovered few letters of any consequence in the box. Sure there were personal notes from friends, some bills marked "Third Notice," and some of the envelopes were even labeled "IMPORTANT!" But there was nothing that I felt required immediate attention, least of all, those marked "IMPORTANT!"

Right then my insipient suspicions were confirmed that many of us are pressured to act on "important" and "urgent" matters that seldom are as important or as urgent as we are led to believe -- or as we convince ourselves to believe.

SO, I'M HAPPY to say, from that day on I've opened my mail whenever I've gotten around to it. Occasionally, weeks pass before my letter opening spirit descends upon me. I've discovered that I've missed nothing much of importance. Oh, a wedding or two perhaps, an auction of antique Persian rugs, or a $50 a plate dinner for an aspiring political candidate. On the other hand, there's a plus side. The telephone company, tight-lipped over my disregard of their pink and blue reminders, suspended its service to my house — providing a blessed relief from the jangling rings which, in keeping with my newfound insight, I answered only when my telephone answering spirit descended upon me.

Fire Destroys Napa Mansion

NAPA (UPI)—Puerta Dorada, a stone structure built in 1887 as a winery and then converted into a country home, was ruined Sunday by a blaze that firemen blamed on firecrackers.

The Division of Forestry crew that fought the fire said a shingle roof was ignited by fireworks.

Jose Cebrian, who owned the showplace, said, "Mostly, we just stood helplessly by" because the "furniture was too massive to move."

Mel Morse New Rotarian Leader

Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Marin County Humane Society, has been installed as president of the Rotary Club of San Rafael.

One Killed, Three Missing In Boat Wreck

LAKEPORT (UPI)—One man was killed and three persons were missing Sunday in a boat collision on Clear Lake.

The dead man was identified as Charles R. Barnett, of Santa Rosa. The missing were believed to be a woman and her two young daughters, 3 and 5 years of age, who were boating with Barnett.

Nine Arrested For Swimming, Sunning In Nude

Nine nude sunbathers and swimmers, five of them juveniles, have been arrested at Cascade Reservoir in Mill Valley as soaring summer temperatures brought about 90 persons to the controversial Southern Marin watering spot.

The arrests were made Thursday by Mill Valley police, who swooped down on the soon-to-be-closed reservoir. Cited for being nude in a public park were Raymond Joseph Arsenault, 35, of Stinson Beach; John Lawrance Alioto, 19, Robert Bruce Baron, 24, and Roderick Francis Gracia, 20, all of San Francisco; a 16-year-old youth from Perris, Riverside County; two girls, 16 and 17, from Coos Bay, Ore., and two 13-year-old Mill Valley girls.

The aduits were released on a promise to appear in Marin Municipal Court Friday and the teen-agers were referred to probation authorities.

Couple Held As Suspects In Burglary

A Marin man and woman were arrested on suspicion of burglary yesterday, San Anselmo police reported, when police found the woman in a car outside a residence and then watched the man emerge from the second story.

Stephen Robert Carrino, 22, of 5 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, and Delores Marie Burke, 27, of 86 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, were held at Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said an off-duty officer reported at 9 p.m. he saw a car drive past the Othello F. Michetti residence at 37 Indian Rock Road, a man get out and enter the house, and the car drive on.

Police reached the residence, they said, as the car driven by Mrs. Burke returned and stopped. A moment later, Carrino emerged from a second-story porch door and was halted by police.

Police said household items were piled inside the house for quick removal, and that an oriental rug in the Burke car was identified by the Michettis as theirs.

Assault Suspect Detained On Bail

Richard Wayne Dillon, 36, of 19 Scenic Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony assault, disturbing the peace and being under the influence of drugs, San Rafael police reported.

Dillon was reported by police to have forced his way into the apartment of Lorraine Veronica Prezalar, 18 Thomas Court, and to have struck her with his fist, knocking her to the floor. After police arrived he struck her again, knocking her head into a wall, according to police.

Actual rate to apply under the formula is not specified in the ordinance, and residential users will not be affected.

Two Honored On Leaving Military Ranks

Two San Rafael Army officers with a combined total of 54 years of military service were among 15 career soldiers honored at retirement ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Col. Albert C. Huggard and Lt. Col. Henry H. Gaskins retired after 27 years of service each.

Col. Huggard had served as chief of the mobilization branch at the Presidio since June 1968. He was presented the Meritorious Service Medal at retirement ceremonies and also holds the Bronze Star and the Bronze Star with the V device.

Proxmire Flays Pentagon Outlay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., today accused the Pentagon of spending nearly $2 billion, without specific congressional approval, for an automated battlefield system Proxmire said could get out of control and menace civilians.

Proxmire said the system is "an effort to develop a totally new method of waging ground warfare." He said it is composed of complex electronic equipment such as sensors, lasers and computers.

He called the automatic battlefield "a classic example of the Pentagon's foot-in-the-door technique. Small sums spent on research and development are escalated into billions for new weapons systems, which have never received a detailed and critical review by Congress as a whole."

A President Pays Tax Installments

NEW DELHI (UPI) — President V. V. Giri of India is paying $666 a month, nearly half his salary, to pay back income taxes.

Giri told a reception Sunday in his hometown of Behrampur in Orissa state the income tax department asked him to pay off some $2,000 due from his private earnings from landed property and royalties from his books.

He said he could not clear the arrears in a lump sum so he asked the finance minister to let him pay the back taxes in three installments.

Giri receives about $1,334 a month.

Seven Booked As Suspects In Tam Fires

Seven youths, including two from Larkspur, were booked into the Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of camping and starting fires in a restricted area on Mount Tamalpais, state rangers reported.

Ranger Jimmie W. Phillips said the youths were spotted at 1:30 a.m. about a quarter mile above Boot Jack Camp with two campfires blazing on uncleared ground.

Arrested were Coy Lee McBroom 18, of Rio Linda, Sacramento County; Nicholas Oliver, 18, and Richard Paul Ortega, 18, both of 234 Hawthorne Avenue, Larkspur; Paul Aldo Semona, 19, and John Anthony Vella, 18, both of San Francisco; Thomas P. Renison, 18, of Elverta, Sacramento County, and Steven W. Broom, 19, of El Cerrito.

The five youths from outside Marin were released on $65 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court July 7. The two Larkspur youths remained in jail Saturday in lieu of $65 bail. They are to appear today in the municipal court.

'Street People' Carry Cong Flag, Go Wild In Berkeley

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Young persons celebrating Independence Day went on two rampages in Northern California—on Telegraph Avenue in Berkeley and in Yosemite National Park.

Park rangers, reinforced by sheriff's deputies from the San Joaquin Valley, arrested 90 persons at Yosemite, as about 500 youngsters looted campsites, overturned automobiles and threw rocks and bottles.

In Berkeley, police said they were caught by surprise when more than 300 "street people" carried a Viet Cong flag from a wine drinking party and started smashing windows.

During the hour before police could call up enough manpower the "street people" broke windows in 53 businesses in a five-block area as rocks, bottles and firecrackers flew through the air.

Police made four arrests among the "street people," some of whom were University of California students and other hippie types who make their headquarters in Berkeley. No policeman was injured but a photographer was beaten.

Trouble started in Yosemite when rangers on horseback rode into Camp 15 at Stillman Meadows in the valley's northeast section and tried to arrest a youth dressed as a hippie.

As fighting broke out, 50 rangers moved in with the help of more than 80 law enforcement officers from near jurisdictions and restored order.

Election Scheduled

Election of board officers and a discussion of the citizens' building advisory committee report are scheduled at 8 p.m. before the Shoreline Unified School District board, meeting at the district administration office, John Street, Tomales.

Pollution Board Asks More Staff

A plea for more state money to beef up its overworked staff will be considered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Alameda County Public Works Building auditorium, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward.

The board now has a staff of 20, including seven stenographers. Its staff has proposed adding eight more employees in fiscal 1971-72, citing "increasingly heavy workloads" under the state's tough new antipollution law.

The board also will consider setting tougher controls on handling fuel loading to avoid bay spills.

Folk Dance Classes

Marin folk dance groups have scheduled 21 folk dance classes and sessions until July 18 throughout the county.

TV IN REVIEW

Wide Variety Of Fare On Holiday

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Honor America Day" ceremonies, the silent majority's answer to Woodstock, were televised from Washington, D.C. in great detail during the July 4th weekend by all the major networks.

Both commercial and educational television offered lengthy broadcasts Saturday in covering the day and night events that ranged from patriotic songs to religious evocations and, later, to top show business entertainment.

Televiewers saw the large turnout of spectators that showed up at the Lincoln Memorial, where Billy Graham's oratory highlighted the daytime services, and at the Washington Monument, where the entertainment hosted by Bob Hope took place in the evening.

Hope and Graham were co-chairmen of the nationwide observances marking Independence Day.

At times during the ceremonies, televiewers could hear the shouts of some demonstrators who tried to intrude on the day's events, but their effect seemed minor.

In addition to Graham's impassioned sermon, the highlight of the daytime happenings was Kate Smith's eternally rousing rendition of "God Bless America," which has been a national fixture, as sung by her, since the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The evening show, which was culminated by a colorful fireworks display, included, in addition to Hope, such stars as Red Skelton, Jack Benny, Dorothy Lamour and Glen Campbell. The finale consisted of patriotic music and choral work that blended in with the fireworks and brought cheers from the audience on hand.

There was little question that Skelton was the biggest hit of the entertainment. And there was no doubt that he was really something special.

A's Open Key Series With Twins In Coliseum

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Managers Lefty Phillips of the California Angels and John McNamara of the Oakland Athletics are in agreement on one point—they will have to do it themselves if either team expects to catch Minnesota.

The A's get the first crack at the Twins starting tonight at Oakland when they start a three-game series and Minnesota then comes to Anaheim for four games.

TWO OF THREE

The Angels scored their second win in three games over the A's Sunday by a 5-1 score and the loss dropped Oakland 2 1-2 games behind California and 6 1-2 behind Minnesota.

"We didn't get too many hits in the series," McNamara said. "But we'll try to get back against Minnesota. If we can help ourselves, we'll be helping the Angels also."

Andy Messersmith, who hadn't won a game since June 12, was Sunday's winner and after the game the righthander revealed he had been suffering from a virus and a sore throat.

STILL WEAK

"I'm still a little weak and after the seventh inning I told Lefty I just couldn't go any more," Messersmith said. "Even though I got the win, I didn't think the game was a good sample of what I could do. I didn't like walking five men."

But the Angels mounted a 12-hit attack against the Athletics that included triples by Alex Johnson, Roger Repoz and Jim Fregosi and a pair of hits by Jim Spencer that drove in two runs.

The win was Messersmith's seventh against eight losses. Last year the righthander was 0-5 until June 3 and then went on to post a 16-11 record.

FOUR HITS

Despite his virus and weakness, Messersmith allowed only four hits and no runs in his stint. The only Oakland run was unearned and came in the ninth off reliever Ken Tatum who posted his 14th save.

The loss was charged to Rollie Fingers, the first of four A's hurlers, who went four innings, giving up seven hits and three runs to make his record 5-6.

WIMBLEDON

Tourney Lacking, Says The Press

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Ausrailia's Margaret Court today rested an injured ankle that could endanger her bid to become the second woman to achieve the grand slam of tennis. John Newcombe rested on his laurels.

Mrs. Court said Sunday night she would pass up the Irish Open in Dublin this week and remain in London for at least 10 days resting her left ankle, injured in her drive for the women's final of the 84th All-England lawn tennis championships.

She said her doctor told her the ankle's strained ligaments received further damage in her victorious, marathon two-set final against Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., Friday.

The doctor warned her that if she plays again too soon, it could endanger her career, Mrs. Court said.

The big Australian girl, with the Australian, French and Wimbledon titles under her belt, said she still plans to compete in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills in September in a bid to become the second girl since America's Maureen Connolly to achieve the grand slam of the big four titles in one season.

British sports writers, meanwhile, praised Newcombe as a "thorough-going professional" for his five-set victory over Australian compatriot Ken Rosewall Saturday to win the Wimbledon men's title for the second time.

But they had less kind things to say about the granddaddy of all tennis tournaments this year.

"The usual excitement and crackling atmosphere were missing," the Daily Express said, noting that attendance was down by 15,000 from last year.

The tournament organizers blamed it on color television, the cold weather and the lack of newcomers to challenge the old guard.

The two-week tournament drew only a daily average of just over 20,000. Many fans stayed home to watch the action on color sets they had rented for the Brazil-Italy soccer championship final in Mexico, played the day before Wimbledon started.

MISS WALSH BACK IN U.S. WITH TITLE

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, winner of the 1970 Wimbledon Junior Tennis Championships in England is back in the U.S. today, at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Miss Walsh, who was graduated last month from San Rafael High School, rallied to win the title Saturday from M. Kroshina of Russia, 8-6, 6-4, after being down 5-0.

A surprise winner earlier over fifth-ranked Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., and third-ranked Helen Gourlay of England in women's singles, before being eliminated by Francois Durr of France, Miss Walsh is the second bay area player in the last three years to win the junior crown. Kristy Pigeon of Danville did it in 1968.

Moon Man's Scientific Approach

LONDON, Ont. (UPI) — "The pro from the moon" used the "scientific approach" to win the $125,000 Canadian Open golf tournament Sunday.

Kermit Zarley, the 29-year-old golfer from Houston, Tex., with the odd sounding Dutch-German name, gained some measure of fame a few years ago when comedian Bob Hope referred to him as "the pro from the moon" because of his unusual name. But Zarley made his own place in the spotlight Sunday with a three stroke victory worth $25,000.

FINAL 67

Zarley fired a final round five-under-par 67 to finish the 72-hole event at nine-under 279. Gibby Gilbert of Hollywood, Fla., the first round leader, finished second at 282 while Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bob Stone tied for third place at 283.

Rodriguez and Labron Harris had shared the lead after three rounds but quickly fell out of contention with final 18 hole scores of 75 and 76, respectively. Zarley, responding to the pressure, saved his best round of the tourney for last with his scientific approach.

"Golf is scientific and you do what your scorecard tells you," Zarley said, referring to the listed distances a golfer marks on his card. "That way, a golfer knows how far he is from the pin at any point on the fairway, and can pick his clubs correctly.

TENSE

His only bogey in a six-birdie round Sunday came on 15. At that point, the tall golfer, playing with Art Wall, began to feel tense.

"The pressure started to mount on the last four holes," Zarley said. "And if you keep quiet, the pressure really starts to mount."

Oldtimers Game Slated Aug. 16

ANAHEIM (UPI)—American and National League stars of the 1950s will compete in the second annual Oldtimers Game at Anaheim Stadium Aug. 16, with Casey Stengel and Fred Haney as the rival managers.

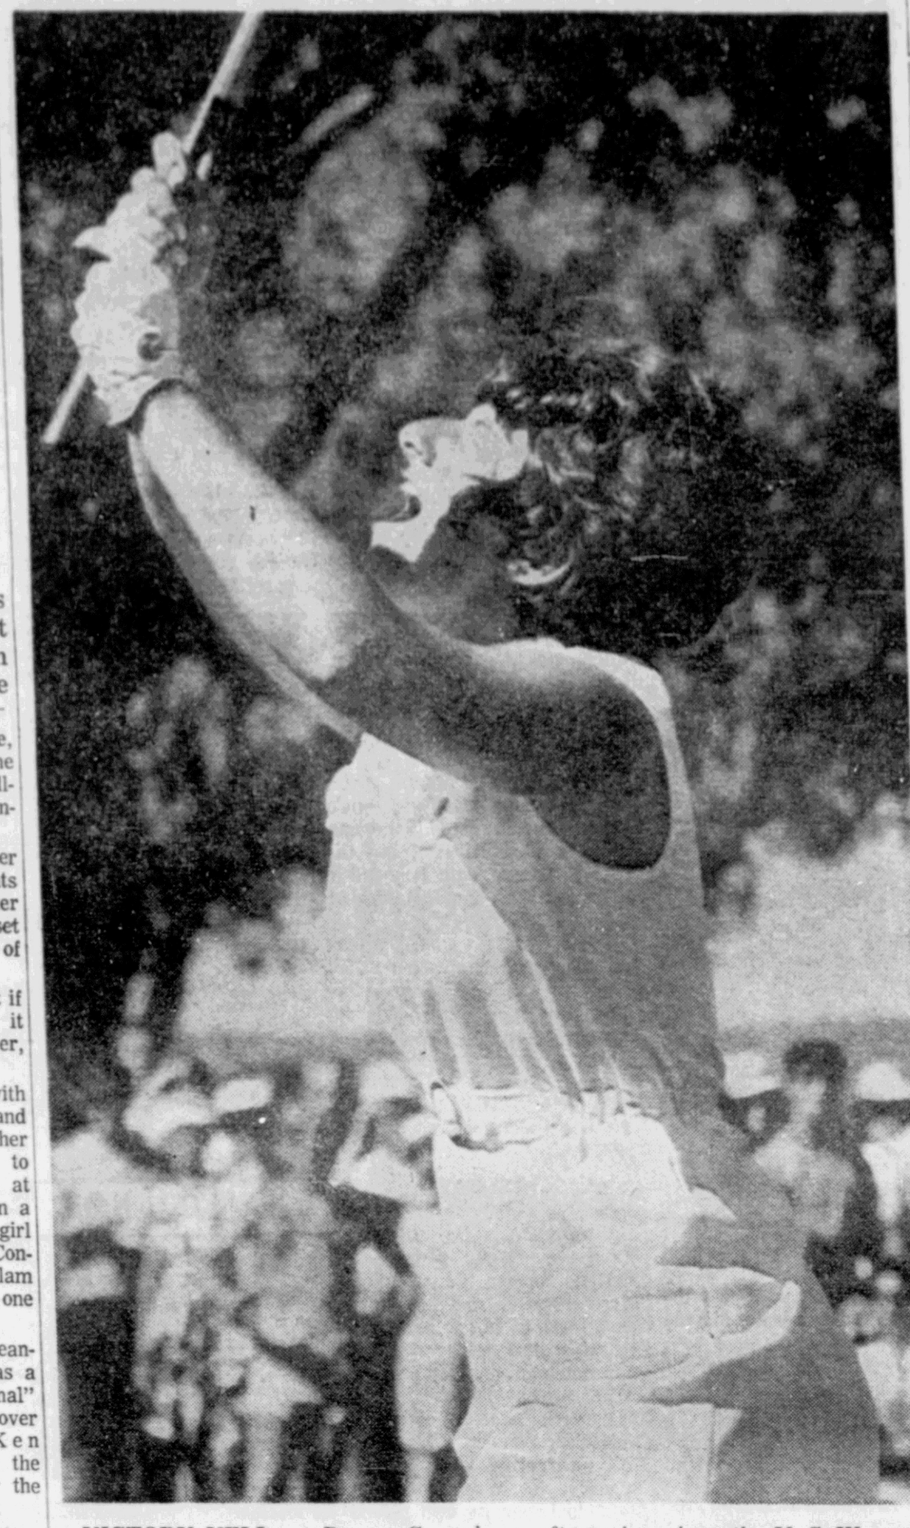
The format of the game was determined by a vote of California Angels fans and the contest will be a preliminary to a regularly scheduled game between the Angels and the Detroit Tigers.

In the first Oldtimers Game last summer the rival teams were made up of former Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers players.

Stengel led the New York Yankees to 10 pennants from 1949 to 1960 while Haney, former general manager of the Angels, won pennants with the Milwaukee Braves in 1957 and 1958.

Motorcyclist Killed

FREEPORT, Ill. (UPI) — Clarence Felton, 31, of Glendale, Calif., was killed Sunday during a pileup in a motorcycle race here. Two other riders were injured in the crash, neither seriously.



VICTORY YELL — Donna Caponi lifts her club high and lets out a yell after winning the U. S. Women's Open golf tourney. (UPI Telephoto)

Donna Caponi Still Waiting For Phone Call From Nixon

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Donna Caponi, her second straight U.S. Women's Open golf championship safely tucked away just as she predicted, is still waiting for a phone call.

"President Nixon hasn't called me in two years," she quipped. "I think that's pretty bad.

"When I saw Orville Moody (the 1969 U.S. Open champion last year) I told him you got a call from the President and I didn't" Miss Caponi said.

But after staging one of the most thrilling victories a person could stand she wasn't going to let anything bother her. She's going to relax for a week and then go after another triumph.

FOUR-FOOTER

Miss Caponi won the title Sunday on Muskogee Country Club's 6,210-yard par 71 golf course. But she had to sink a four-foot putt for a double bogey six on the 18th hole to do it. The ball teetered on a couple of blades of grass and then plopped into the right side of the cup.

This eliminated a three-way 18-hole playtff which would have included herself, Sandra Spuzich, the 1966 champion, and Sandra Haynie. Miss Caponi picked up the $5,000 first prize in the $30,000 event while the two Sandras, who finished just one stroke back, got $2,000 apiece.

TIES RECORD

Although she soared to a six-over par 77 in the last round, Miss Caponi's 287 total ties the record for the Open under the U.S. Golf Association and makes her the first champion to repeat since Mickey Wright in 1958-55.

After rounds of 69, 70 & 71, she started the final day three under par and nursing a seemingly comfortable three shot lead. But playing head-to-head with Miss Spuzich, she watched it melt away.

All week long Miss Caponi had been a picture of optimism, confidently predicting after each round she would be the winner. The pressure finally caught up with her on the 390-yard 18th hole, which plays uphill all the way.

SHAKING

"I was shaking so badly on the 18th hole that I don't remember swinging at it at all," she said, "I just renember it going away."

The drive was in the right rough, her second shot in the left rough and short, her third in the tall grass behind the green and her fourth stroke still short of the putting surface. Her fifth was four feet past the hole.

"I never defeated myself," she said. "I never gave up."

The champ has been living with her parents and sister Janet in a camper-trailer all week. Her father, Harry Caponi, a club pro in Burbank, Calif., gave her a bear hug when the putt dropped. He is the only person who has ever given her golf instructions, beginning when she was only 6 years old. Janet, 23, is a professional too. But she missed the cut in the open.

Tiburon Netters Lose In Doubles

Ann Lamott and Bee Kilgore of Tiburon were defeated yesterday in the girls' 16 doubles finals of the California State Junior Tennis championships at San Jose.

Jill and Joy Schwickert, twin sisters from Las Vegas, Nev., beat Miss Lamott and Miss Kilgore in straight sets, 8-6, 6-3.

Giants Take On Braves After A Dodger Disaster

ATLANTA (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, the wind knocked out of them by the Los Angeles Dodgers during the weekend, start all over again tonight against the Atlanta Braves with Jerry Johnson making his first start of the season.

The Giants were shut out by Bill Singer and the Dodgers, 4-0, Sunday as they suffered their first home series sweep by Los Angeles since 1962. It also was their fourth loss in the last five games and just about doomed them for 1970 as they fell 19 games behind Cincinnati.

WAY OUT

The battle for second place appears about over, too, because they are now 9 1-2 games behind that spot, occupied by the Dodgers. Third place is within range because they trail the Braves by only three.

Johnson, who has been a big disappointment since the Giants picked him up from St. Louis in exchange for Frank Linzy, has no won-lost record with the Giants this year. He moves into the starting rotation because manager Charlie Fox wants to rest his other regulars an extra day.

ROTATION

That means Rich Robertson will pitch Tuesday night, Gaylord Perry on Wednesday and Juan Marichal on Thursday. None has distinguished himself of late, especially Marichal, who appears healthy but can't get batters out with any regularity.

In Sunday's loss to the Dodgers the Giants never were in the game as Singer limited them to singles by Bob Heise and Willie McCovey.

Down the drain went a fine pitching performance by Frank Reberger, his first real contribution this season.

Reberger came to Mike Mccormick's rescue with two on and none out in the third and gave up only one hit in the next six innings while striking out five.

BIG BLOWS

Homers by Bill Grabarkewiz and Jim Lefebvre were the Dodgers' big blows off McCormick, who was touched for four hits and four runs in two-plus innings and suffered his fourth loss in seven decisions.

During the three-game Dodger series Willie Mays managed only one hit in 12 at-bats and still is 10 hits short of the 3,000 plateau. During the same series, McCovey had two hits in 12 at-bats.

Drake Jumps To DiMaggio League Lead

The Drake Pirates defeated Terra Linda, 2-1 yesterday and took over first place from idle Mill Valley in the Southern division of the Marin County Joe DiMaggio baseball league.

Moving into a second place tie with the Chiefs, who meet Holiday Magic this evening at San Rafael, was the Italian Club, which downed Toby's Truckers, 4-2.

Terra Linda's lead in the North was cut to a half game as second place Annex Motors beat Healdsburg, 6-3. In a game of last place teams, the Presidio of the South walloped San Marin, 20-2.

PERFECT

Ken Zepponi's perfect squeeze bunt scored Mark Shepard with Drake's winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning. Cappy Purcell and Steve Hale each had a pair of hits for the Pirates, whose record is now six wins and two losses.

Rich LaDoux doubled home Bob Berry in the sixth inning to give the Italian Club its fifth victory against a pair of losses. Jim Werburg went the distance for the win, striking out 12. Both runs off him were scored by Kevin Keating and driven in by Scott Cozza. Terra Linda's record is now 5-4.

FANS 14

Mike Lamb fired a four hitter and struck out 14 as Annex Motors ran its record even at 4-4. Bob Lawrence contributed a pair of singles to the winning effort. Healdsburg has only one victory in eight games.

San Marin hasn't won a game since joining the league and didn't come close against the Presidio, which amassed 17 hits against the Novatans. Rich Madera highlighted Presidio's attack with four hits in five trips including a pair of doubles.

A WILD SCENE IN CHICAGO

This is the scene at Chicago's Wrigley Park yesterday when a near free-for-all broke out in the top half of the ninth inning after Cubs' manager Leo Durocher and Pirates' Dock Ellis exchanged words. Players from both benches rushed to the scene, but no one was ejected. The Pirates won, 5-2. (UPI Telephoto)

Chi Cheng Leaves No Doubts

The diminutive Nationalist Chinese girl athlete, representing the Los Angeles Track club, sped the 220 in 22.4 seconds in the 47th annual National AAU Women's Track and Field Championships at UCLA.

Officials ruled, however, she was aided by a 5.3 mile wind and the time could not be considered a record. Friday Miss Chi had posted a new world mark of 22.6 in a heat, which will be submitted. It bettered her own pending mark of 22.7 set last month at Portland, Ore.

10.2 VICTORY

Miss Chi also won the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds, a new meet record but not as fast as her own record mark of 10.0 set June 13.

Prior to leaving for a two-month European tour, Miss Chi expressed her disappointment that her effort in the 220 was wind aided.

"I know now that I can run 22.4 and maybe faster," she said. "I told my coach I wanted to run 22.5."

Although Miss Chi's sprint victories highlighted the finals of the meet, three American records were bettered and the Mayor Daley Youth Foundation captured the team title with 54 points.

Mavis Laing, a 16-year-old athlete representing the Phoenix Track Club, became the first American woman ever to better 53 seconds in the 440 when she won her event in 52.9 seconds. The old mark of 53.3 was set by Charlette Cooke of the Los Angeles Mercurettes in 1966.

RECORDS

Records also were set in the 440 yard relay in which a Tennessee State team of Mattline Render, Debra Smith, Martha Watson and Iris Davis set a mark of 45.2 to better the record of 45.5 set by the U.S. National team in 1961.

The Atoms Track Club of New York team of Michelle McMillian, Shelley Marshall, Gale Fitzgerald and Cheryl Toussaint set a mile mark of 3:41.3 to better its own record of 3:46.2.

Miss Toussaint also won the 880 yard run in 2:05.1 while Francie Larrieu, 17-year-old sister of star distance runner Ron Larrieu, won the 1500 meters in 4:20.8.

To make room for the 28-year-old Hart, the Giants announced Sunday the appointment of veteran infielder Jim Davenport as a coach.

He used talk as a safety valve, or, as he put it later, "I started to rap a lot."

Wall, a veteran on the tour and a former Canadian Open winner, also helped relieve the tension, Zarley said.

The deeply religious Zarley said that when he finally met evangelist Billy Graham, something he'd long wanted, even the eloquent Graham had trouble with Zarley's name, calling him "Zermit" three times.

KEPT LOOSE

Wall, remembering that and thinking humor might ease the weight on Zarley, kept calling him "Zermit" Sunday, and between the misnomer and his own chatter, Zarley kept loose enough to win.

Zarley, who has won more than $200,000 in his six years on the tour, said he'd use the $25,000 to buy a house for his wife, Marilyn.

The best Canadian was also the best amateur as Nick Weslock of Brantford, Ont., had a 289.

French Yacht Finally Found; At Finish Line

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—Concern over the whereabouts of the French yacht Pen Duick III ended Sunday when skipper Eric Tabarly of Quiberon, France, brought his 57-foot schooner into Papeete harbor in the Los Angeles-Tahiti yacht race.

Tabarly had failed to give a position report on his yacht from the time it left Los Angeles harbor June 15 until its arrival here. It was the sixth boat in the fleet of 14 to finish the 3,571-mile race.

The 73-foot ketch Blackfin was the first across the finish line at 9:20 p.m. Friday local time and the 20 days it took in the race was far slower than the race record of 17 days, 7 hours and 57.55 minutes set by the Ticonderoga in 1964. Blackfin was sailed by Kenneth Demeuse of Hayward, Calif.

Although Blackfin was the first to finish, the handicap winner will not be determined until all the 14 craft have ended the race.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Some bowlers complain that their ball makes almost as much noise when it hits the lane as it does when it hits the pins. If this is the case with you, you are robbing yourself of strikes and probably causing an unnecessary number of splits. Concentrate on setting the ball down gently from a low angle. Again, make sure your knee is bent sharply, as shown in today's illustration.

Reds' Simpson Wins 13th Game

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wayne Simpson may be the only pitcher in the National League whom teammate Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds would rather catch than hit against, and that about sums up the kind of respect the batters have developed for the 21-year-old rookie.

Simpson, a strapping 6-foot-3, 220-pound righthander, hurled a four-hitter Sunday for his 10th consecutive victory and 13th in 14 decisions as the Reds beat the Houston Astros, 3-1, and now the youngster finds himself in the likely position of being called upon to start for the NL in the All-Star game, July 14.

FEWER HITS

Simpson, who has given up fewer hits per inning then any other pitcher in the majors this season, also stands a good chance of becoming the first rookie in the league to win 20 games since Harvey Haddix in 1953. And, if things keep going the way they have thus far for Simpson, he could surpass Grover Cleveland Alexander's 59-year old record of most wins by a rookie (28).

Reds' manager Sparky Anderson sees Simpson as a possible Cy Young Award winner as the best pitcher in the league. No rookie has ever captured that trophy.

"The guy has to be a definite contender for the Cy Young Award," says Anderson. "Pretty soon opposing clubs won't ask 'will he falter?' It'll be, 'will we hit him?' As the years go by he'll get stronger and the only way clubs will beat him will be the way they used to beat Sandy Koufax, 1-0 and 2-1."

"After one pitch Simpson made to Denis Menke, I turned to plate umpire Ken Burkhardt and said 'I'm glad I'm catching and not hitting.' A couple of times Simpson buried my hand in the glove with his fastball. You never know which way his fastball is going to go. It tails, it sinks, it sails. You name it, his fastball does it," said Bench.

In other NL games, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco, 4-0; New York edged Philadelphia, 5-4; Pittsburgh defeated Chicago, 5-2; San Diego nipped Atlanta, 6-5, and St. Louis whipped Montreal, 6-3.

Washington swept a twinbill from the Yankees by identical 7-3 scores; Baltimore blanked Detroit, 2-0; Minnesota walloped Chicago, 12-3; Boston beat Cleveland, 8-4; California topped Oakland, 5-1; and Milwaukee edged Kansas City, 2-1 in American League action.

Simpson's complete game victory was the 23rd route-going performance turned in by the Reds' staff this season, equalling their entire output for 1969. The Reds scored all three of their runs in the sixth off Denny Lemaster, with Bench driving home one run with a double and scoring another on a single by Lee May.

KOOSMAN WINS

Ron Swoboda hit his first homer since May 31 and Jerry Koosman notched his fifth victory as the Mets beat the Phillies and clung to their half-game lead in the East Division. Koosman worked seven innings to get credit for the victory. Deron Johnson had a homer for the Phillies.

Rich Hebner's two-run homer and three singles by Matty Alou sparked the Pirates' triumph. The game was marred by a fight between the two clubs in the ninth with manager Leo Durocher of the Cubs and pitcher Dock Ellis of the Pirates the antagonists. The game also featured an injury to first base umpire Tom Gorman, who suffered a broken right ankle when involved in a collision at first with Pirates' first baseman Al Oliver in the first inning.

San Francisco Boxer Triumphs

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — Ray Lunny of San Francisco scored one of only two victories by the United States Sunday in a 9-2 defeat by the Romanian national amateur boxing team.

Umpire Tom Gorman Suffers Broken Ankle

CHICAGO (UPI) — Umpire Tom Gorman was in good condition today at Wesley Memorial Hospital where he was taken after he collided with Pittsburgh Pirates first baseman Al Oliver during a game with the Chicago Cubs.

Gorman, 51, was admitted to the hospital with a broken right ankle. A spokesman said he would stay at the hospital at least over night, and a Cubs spokesman said Gorman probably would be out of action for at least several weeks.

Gorman was hurt after Don Kessinger singled in the first inning and Paul Popovich hit a grounder wide of first base. Oliver fielded the ball and raced to the bag to retire Popovich but collided with Gorman as Oliver crossed the bag.

Record Stealer

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Max Carey of the Pittsburgh Pirates led the National League in stolen bases a record 10 years.

FIBERGLASS CAR BODY

And They Made A Better Product

Nearly everyone at some time has bought a shoddily made product, cursed its quality and declared, "I could make a better one than that myself."

Two young San Rafael men not only said it, they believe they've done it.

The fruit of their labor is a low-slung fiberglass body shell which can be installed on a Volkswagen chassis with 40 hours of work, and which they plan to sell for less than $600.

It started when John Richardson bought a commercially made fiberglass body shell, planning to build one of those customized sporty cars that look about the height of a streamlined roller skate.

"It had been owned by six people before I bought it," Richardson said. "None of them was able to complete it."

Neither was he. After a few hundred hours struggling with poorly fitted parts, high conversion costs and other problems, Richardson and a fellow College of Marin student, Bruce Weeks, decided to design and make their own car body.

Neither is taking automotive courses at the college — they're both business students. But Weeks had worked in a fiberglass shop in Colorado, and Richardson had helped his father design and build sailboats on the east coast.

They built a wooden shape over the VW chassis, built it up with clay and refined the clay to the contours they wanted. A mold was then cast over the clay and used to mold the fiberglass body.

Their joint design is the Lancer GT, a sleek-nosed, rear-engined car with faired-in headlights, gullwing doors of plexiglass, a one-piece weathertight body and a walnut dashboard.

Their costs so far in the six months since they started the project are $4,000. They have invested their savings — Richardson sold some $800 worth of camera equipment — and they borrowed a little to get ready for production.

They raised part of the money by selling the first Lancer, a bright red model, which left them without a display car. But they completed their second body in time for a unique demonstration—they placed it on a VW chassis in their booth at the Marin Art and Garden Fair, to show how quickly and easily it can be assembled.

From the now-departed first car, they had a Marin firm make master molds, which will be used to produce up to 50 bodies a month in the Northgate Industrial Park plant where the first car was made.

Initially, the bodies will be "hand laid," made by alternating layers of fiberglass and catalytic resin. Later, Weeks said, they may use a chopper gun, which sprays on a mixture of chopped fiberglass and resin.

The body, which at 200 pounds is a fourth the weight of a standard Volkswagen body, will fit over a standard VW chassis with no cutting required. VW, Porsche or Corvair engines may be fitted. The body is held on by 24 bolts.

The pair carefully followed the California highway equipment code to make sure the car is legal for street use. Eventually, they expect to produce complete cars under their banner of Qualis Enterprises.

There is the possibility of racing competition for the Lancer. Weeks and Richardson said the Formula Vee racing category may be split into two groups next year. One would be the present class of fenderless, single-seat cars with Volkswagen engines. The other would be a new class of street-equipped sports cars with VW engines.

They believe the Lancer, at its present 1,400 pounds or lightened for competition, could hold its own.

Vaccination Clinics Set For Rabies

Rabies vaccination clinics will be operated throughout Marin during July and August, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, has announced.

The health department and the Marin Veterinary Medical Association will provide vaccination at $2 a dog, Dr. Albrecht said.

State law requires that all dogs at least 4 months old be vaccinated against rabies and licensed.

The chick-embryo (modified live virus) vaccine, which is good for two years, will be used at all clinics, Dr. Albrecht reported.

The clinics, scheduled for 6-8 p.m., are:

July 9, city schools administration building, Third and E streets, San Rafael; July 14, Marion School, Novato; July 16, corporation yard, Mill Valley.

July 21, corporation yard, San Anselmo; July 23, safety building, Corte Madera; July 28, Ross School.

July 30, firehouse, Woodacre; Aug. 4, firehouse, Point Reyes Station; Aug. 6, corporation yard, Mill Valley; Aug. 11, Marion School, Novato; and Aug. 13, city schools administration building, San Rafael.

Blaze Destroys 40 Tons Of Hay

Firemen said the fire broke out about 9:45 p.m. when someone apparently threw a firecracker into a pile of hay bales. Firemen said that although the fire was contained within an hour, officers were required to watch the smoldering hay all night to make sure the fire did not flame up. The hay was valued at $2,000, stable owners said.

Horses were led to safety through a back door of the barn, firemen said.

Fulbright Asks New Peace Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., while hailing President Nixon's choice of David K. E. Bruce as the new U. S. ambassador to the Paris peace talks, predicts his mission will fail unless the administration's negotiating position is changed.

Fulbright said Bruce's efforts were doomed to failure unless the United States is prepared to agree to an open election that is not run by either the United States or the government of President Thieu. His remarks came yesterday on the CBS television show, "Face the Nation."

He said that what is needed at Paris is "the acceptance of terms for a settlement which would be acceptable to the enemy, which means. . .that you would have to let the present government of Vietnam reestablish its basis with an open election which is not supervised and controlled by us or by them."

Union, Airline Agree On Pact

OAKLAND (UPI) — Teamsters Union members and World Airways reached a contract agreement Sunday, ending a 7 1-2-week strike.

Contract terms were not immediately made public by either the union or the supplemental air carrier.

The union represents pilots, navigators, flight engineers and stewardesses.

Echeverria Wins Vote In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Luis Echeverria, 48, a former interior secretary, rolled up a better than 12-1 unofficial victory margin today in a Mexican election marked by opposition charges of kidnaping and fraud.

Mario Moya Polanco, head of the federal electoral commission, said an investigation failed to substantiate the PAN accusation. He said Sunday's election was clean and honest.

To prepare for what he called his "huge responsibility," Echeverria pledged a thorough study of the nation's problems before succeeding President Gustao Diaz Ordaz Dec. 1 for a six-year term.

The Mexican constitution forbids a president from serving more than one six-year term.

PRI also claimed sweeping victories in elections for the 210-seat chamber of deputies and the 60-seat senate. Official results for the presidency and the congressional races will be announced Sunday.

Echeverria's election marked the 10th successive time the PRI had captured the presidency since the party was established in 1929.

The victory again emphasized the PRI's omnipotence.

"I cannot speak of a triumph now," Echeverria said. "I hope to be able to do so after my six years in office when I will know whether I have been able to achieve anything."

I-J Employee Gravely Wounded By Gunman

Police Not Ruling Out Link To Strike

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An Independent-Journal employee lay gravely wounded today after he was shot in the abdomen by one of two gunmen who forced their way into his San Francisco home Saturday night.

In critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital is Allan W. Daly, 30, a systems design engineer in the I-J production department.

The surface motive in the attack appeared to be robbery, but detectives said they thought it might be linked to the current strike against the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21.

Police said two men knocked on Daly's door at 407 Connecticut Street at 9:10 p.m. His wife, Stephanie, answered, and one man asked if the car "blocking the driveway" was theirs. When she opened the door to look out, the two men drew guns and forced their way inside.

One of the pair demanded money, and when Daly said he had none, one man hit him in the face with a foot-long steel pipe. The two men then ordered Daly to stand against the wall.

Mrs. Daly told the men she had some grocery money, and one man went into the kitchen with her. "I have two children," she told the gunmen.

Police said he replied, "I don't like to do this but I have two kids, too." As she handed her coin purse to him, a shot was fired in the living room. Daly fell, shot in the abdomen with a .45-caliber pistol from a range of three feet.

The two men backed out of the house and were seen running away on Alabama Street near 19th Street.

The gunmen got $5 from Mrs. Daly's purse but threw it on the floor. "If this was really a robbery attempt, it was as sloppy a one I have ever seen," a detective said.

He said the fact one of the

Boat Mishap Claims Marin Father, Son

I-J Special Report

YUBA CITY — A 39-year-old San Rafael man and his 8-year-old son have drowned during a weekend fishing trip on a river bypass about 15 miles south of here.

Sutter County sheriff's deputies recovered the body of Henry Peter Dang of 45 Sandalwood Court floating Sunday near where he and his son, Gregory Anthony Dang, went fishing Friday in a rubber boat. The body was discovered by a fisherman, Dallas Treadwell of Milpitas.

Sheriff's deputies this morning found the body of the son floating in the water near where Dang's body was recovered. The car used for the trip was parked nearby.

Dang's wife, Jeanne, reported her husband and son missing Sunday after they failed to return Friday night as expected. They had left home at 5 a.m. Friday with food for one day and no extra clothing or sleeping gear and were to return that night.

The rubber boat taken on the trip was missing from the car, and the sheriff's office reported that it was possibly punctured or overturned.

Dang had been a claims adjustor for the Civil Service Employees Insurance Co. of San Francisco for 17 years and had worked for other insurance companies in the San Francisco area previously. He lived in the San Francisco area most of his life, moving to San Rafael approximately two years ago.

BUDGET SIGNED

Pay Guarantee From The Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate today gave final legislative approval to legislation guaranteeing state employes will be paid for work during last week's budget impasse.

The measure by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 30-0 vote. There was no debate.

Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, the measure's floor manager, explained the provisions were required to pay California's employes while the state went without a budget.

Senate Democrats unsuccessfully sought to infuse $180 million more into the state aid to local schools. Two of the 13 dissenting Democrats bolted to vote for Reagan's record $6.59 billion spending plan Saturday after a four-day holdout.

After it was approved by a 27-9 vote, the budget was flown to the governor's Pacific Palisades home, where he signed it without vetoing a single item.

The measure included $102 million in extra state aid for local schools and $15,000 in rent for Reagan's private leased residence in Sacramento. It also provided a 5 per cent pay raise for all state employes, except state college and University of California professors, who were denied any increases.

Reagan in a prepared statement called the document "a great victory for the people" and "nothing short of a resounding triumph of good sense and fiscal responsibility."

A bloc of stubborn Senate Democrats cracked to give the 1970-71 fiscal year budget the votes needed to pass the measure after Reagan turned down Democratic demands to add another $180 million more in school aid. They had insisted on the sum as their price for passage of the budget.

Senate passage came four days after the constitutional deadline for budget approval of midnight last Tuesday. During that period California was left without the authority to spend any money, pay its bills or its 190,000 employes.

The impasse lasted one day longer than in 1969, when Assembly Democrats blocked the budget and successfully demanded more school aid.

Eight Democrats in the Senate joined 19 Republicans to adopt the spending plan, a compromise drafted by a second conference committee. It was approved by the Assembly, 62-15, Thursday. That House then recessed for the July 4 weekend while the Senate grappled with the budget.

Only seven Senate Democrats were convinced by the GOP to vote for the measure during the four days.

But pressure applied by Reagan in personal encounters swayed Sens. Larry Walsh of Huntington Park and Walter W. Stiern of Bakersfield to vote for the budget. Also casting a yes vote was Sen. John E. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Stiern, chairman of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee, said in a statement, "There is no other

Belfast Riots Kill Three; Probe Opens

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The British Army today set up a special office to investigate charges of looting and brutality against British troops during weekend rioting in the Roman Catholic area of Belfast where three persons were killed.

In London, Lord Balniel, minister of state in the Defense Ministry, told Parliament the government would investigate reports of looting by British troops if specific charges were made. He put the death toll at three civilians killed and said 57 civilians and 15 soldiers were wounded.

Belfast police later said three persons were killed and not five as reported earlier. The army said there was some confusion but that only three bodies were found. The victims were killed in street fighting in the Falls Road area during the army's search for Catholic arms.

The area was quiet today but a Catholic member of the Ulster Parliament predicted all out war with Protestants this summer.

With the return of calm there was a flood tide of accusations by residents of the 20-block area that troops had looted money, religious objects and other valuables, and smashed furniture and fittings in their search for hidden arms.

Plane Crash In Canada Claims All 108 Aboard

TORONTO (UPI) — The windows rattled noisily in the modest farmhouse near Toronto Airport. Mrs. Mary Day, preparing to feed her five-month-old child breakfast, rushed to a window and saw the doomed jetliner "coming almost at our house."

"It was all red and white with fire," she said. "I picked up the baby and called the dog and ran into the fields. I ran like a madwoman.

"It was all in flames as it passed over us. Then it came down and exploded, just the worst bang and noise I've ever heard."

The Air Canada DC8, streaming fire and shedding two engines and its wings, splattered Sunday in small pieces of silvered metal in the barleyfield 100 yards from Mrs. Day's home. All 99 passengers and nine crew members perished in Canada's second worst air tragedy.

Included among the victims were 27 Americans, all but two from Southern California, and 5 employees of Air Canada and their families, riding on company passes.

The Montreal to Los Angeles jetliner was attempting to land at Toronto Airport when pieces of the craft mysteriously began falling off. The outer engine on the right wing snapped off and smashed into the grass alongside the runway and flames spurted from around the plane.

The DC8, which either had just touched the runway or was inches away from a landing, suddenly climbed back into the sky. At less than 2,000 feet, it barreled toward the barleyfield and the homes of Mrs. Day and Sytze Burgsma, who was asleep in his red farmhouse with his pregnant wife and eight children.

Burgsma's son, Peter, 19, had awakened to a brilliant, sunny morning and was heading into the kitchen when he heard the crippled craft nearing the home. He yelled to the rest of the family, "Get out of the house! Get out of the house!"

"I could see the left wing, but not a right wing," he said later. "The plane just slid into the ground and flew all apart.

Regime Falls In Italy Amid Labor Troubles

ROME (UPI) — The government of Premier Mariano Rumor collapsed today in a welter of labor strife and bickering among the four parties that made up his 100-day-old coalition. The nation was taken by surprise.

President Giuseppe Saragat asked the 54-year-old former high school teacher to stay in office as caretaker premier and said consultations on a new government would start Wednesday. Prospects for political stability any time soon were dim.

Neither Rumor nor any other cabinet ministers disclosed why the government fell. But statements by some politicians indicated the trouble arose from Socialist determination to cooperate at local levels with the Communist Party.

Rumor said in a letter to leaders of the coalition parties that he decided to quit after a detailed study of the political situation — "which showed me a full and clear clarification was needed."

He said the political, economic and social situation was such that without full cooperation by coalition partners it did not make sense to go on.

The resignation of Italy's 31st post-Facist government came on the eve of a 24-hour national general strike called by the nation's Big Three labor unions, the latest in a months-long wave of agitation for social and economic reform.

The first reaction from politicians was surprise.

"Things look dark," said Labor Minister Carlo Donat Cattin.

"The decision to open another government crisis at a difficult time. . .," said deputy Premier Francesco de Martino, "is a political error that Socialists cannot condone."

Blood Asked For Wounded I-J Employee

The Independent-Journal has asked its employees and any other citizens who wish to volunteer to give blood on behalf of Allan W. Daly, I-J employee who was shot and critically wounded by gunmen at his home Saturday.

Donations may be given in Daly's name at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael or San Francisco. The I-J management recommended that donors go to San Francisco because the blood is needed immediately.

Daly, shot in the abdomen, is in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital. He has received 70 pints of blood for massive bleeding.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Water Supply Hit

KAILUA, Hawaii (UPI) — The 40,000 residents of this Honolulu suburban area kept a wary eye on their water faucets today, hoping there would be no repeat of the main pipeline break that left them without running water for nearly three days.

The 24-inch pipeline broke in two places last Friday, possibly because of the additional weight caused by landfill construction for a highway project. Service was restored Sunday evening.

Water trucks from the county's board of water supply, the Army and Marines were stationed throughout the affected communities to provide water for essential uses. The trucks carried enough water for cooking and some washing, but the major problems were bathing and flushing toilets.

Swastika Vandals

BERLIN (UPI) — Vandals smeared swastikas and the words "Jews Out!" on a synagogue and a memorial to the victims of the unsuccessful 1944 attempt on the life of Adolf Hitler, police said today.

Four Typhoon Deaths

TOKYO (UPI) — Police said today Typhoon Olga had killed four persons in Japan and at least 29 in Korea as it swept westward Sunday. The storm caused slight damago at Expo '70 in Osaka and injured six workmen. The typhoon damaged the Italian pavilion at the exposition.

Outpost Visitors

FROBISHER BAY, Northwest Territories (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II, accompanied by Prince Philip and Princess Anne, flew into this outpost Sunday, only 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle, to begin a 10-day tour of the Northwest Territories and Manitoba.

It is the first visit by a British monarch to the vast, rugged land of the Canadian north.

Among those waiting for her was Prince Charles, heir to the throne, who as "advance man" for the tour arrived in Canada Thursday. He spent three days in Ottawa. The welcoming party here included Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Governor General Roland Michener, and Jocelyne Rouleau, 21, Trudeau's pretty nieces.

Truckers At Work

CHICAGO (UPI) — Trucks idled for 12 weeks by a strike-lockout in the Chicago area rolled again today.

Members of the Teamsters Union, representing 40,000 workers, and the Chicago Truck Drivers Union, representing 10,000, climbed back into their cabs and began delivering millions of dollars of merchandise stored during the tieup.

Meanwhile, national officials of the trucking industry met today and were expected to approve the trucking settlement reached Friday by their negotiators and top officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Fourth Gala Pondered As Annual Event

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The organizer of Saturday's "Honor America Day" rally in Washington says although he has received suggestions from across the nation the event should be turned into an annual affair, he has no plans along that line.

J. Willard Marriott, a hotel and restaurant executive, said favorable reaction to the Independence Day observance included a call from President Nixon in California who told him it was "great."

The celebration which drew a crowd estimated as high as 350,000 for the evening fireworks display and entertainment gala was financed with funds raised by the Honor America Day Committee which Marriott headed as chairman of the executive committee. He estimated its cost in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, but said it was less than $1 million.

TOURISTS JAM STREETS

Thousands of tourists who remained in the capital Sunday after the celebration jammed the streets and walkways at the nation's shrines and monuments.

For the most part, Saturday's entertainment amounted to a "good old-fashioned Fourth of July" complete with honor guards, patriotic speeches, flag-waving, a grand fireworks display and performances by a galaxy of stars including the strong and confident singing of "God Bless America" by Kate Smith.

But there was evidence also of the sharp divisions confronting the nation on its 194th birthday.

Evangelist Billy Graham, although he abided by ground rules set up by rally organizers to avoid mention of the issues of war and peace, appealed for Americans to end polarization and unite in action to fulfill the American dream. He warned that dream "could be turned into a nightmare" unless the nation's divisions cease.

CROWD OF 30,000

Graham spoke to a crowd estimated as high as 30,000 who had assembled Saturday morning for an interfaith service at the Lincoln Memorial. The biggest crowds showed up for the evening entertainment.

While he spoke, partially clad young hippies frolicked in the reflecting pool between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument shouting their objections, some in four-letter words.

Graham, however, took no notice of the hecklers and in a podium-pounding speech recited a list of reasons Americans had to be proud of their country.

He drew heavy applause with the remark the "overwhelming majority" of Americans are fed up with "a relatively small extremist element who had knocked our courts, desecrated our flag, disrupted our educational system, laughed at our religious heritage, and threatened to burn down our cities."

In the evening, Bob Hope wisecracked his way through the program as he introduced the long line of former greats and current idols in the entertainment world who performed to the delight of the crowd.

Maddox To Agnew: Hit 'Sacred Cows'

BOSTON (UPI) — Praising Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for his verbal attacks on the news media and students, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia urged Agnew Sunday to expand the scope of his attacks to include such "sacred cows" as President Nixon.

"There are too many sacred cows," Maddox said. Agnew "ought to hit the Supreme Court, the White House, the Congress and the Justice Department.

"The president seems to have one message for one group of people in one region of the country and another message for another group of people in another region of the country," Maddox told newsmen prior to a speech before the final session of the New England Rally for God, Family and Country.

Nixon is guilty of "double talk, double standards," the Georgia governor said.

In his speech, Maddox said the United States has not only lost the war in Southeast Asia, but also has surrendered to Communism in other parts of the world.

"We lost the war in Southeast Asia because we surrendered to Communism in Cuba and Korea," he said.

"The West lost the war because our government and our courts favored, encouraged, excused, compromised with and even housed, clothed, employed and financed, both at home and abroad, those who support Communism and war against Americanism, God and country," he said.

"For a number of years now we have had Democratic and Republican leaders proclaiming that the war we fight in Vietnam is for victory over Communism," Maddox said. "Phooey! Such talk is nothing but a farce.

"Had our goal in Southeast Asia been victory over Communism, we would have won the war," he said. "But we lost the war. We lost it because our goal was not victory."

Maddox also criticized Nixon's family assistance welfare program. "There's a new welfare program pending now before the United States Congress which, if passed, would deal the final death blow to personal initiative in this country," he said.

"They call it a 'family assistance plan,' but it's nothing but a family destruction plan, because it offers more money, in many cases, to families who don't work than families that do work would be getting," he said.

Georgia Pop Festival Draws Wild 500,000

Promoters of the three-day music marathon in a 300-acre soybean field extended the finale from midnight Sunday until 4 a.m. today and about 100,000 of the half-million who attended stayed until the end.

It was a safe bet that tales of the nude swimming, naked strollers, open fornication and widespread drug use during the festival will spice many future gatherings of local residents.

But officials of this area, 90 miles south of Atlanta, are determined they won't have to relive such events.

"It's the worst thing that ever happened to this area of the country," said Byron Mayor Ed Green. "I don't know if we will ever recover." He said he would take legal steps — and possibly appeal to the legislature —to prevent the festival's return next year.

"Everything within five miles of here is littered. It's going to cost a lot of money to clean up. Drugs are flowing like water" Green said.

One of the festival's promoters, long-haired, bearded Steve Kapelow, indicated there would always be a place for such festivals because they are "potent political weapons" to make the "straight world" take notice and are escape outlets for youth.

"We are free in our heads, but we are not free in the cities we live in," he said. "We have to get away at festivals like this a couple of weeks a year."

Kapelow, who refused to give a hometown "I've got clothes in six cities and friends in 400 cities," said there were plans for two more rock festivals — one in California and one in the Southeast —between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Festival promoters contended they lost money on the event, but they disagreed on the effect of such losses.

"This may well kill pop festivals as we know them. Money is a basic need," said Alex Cooley, one of the promoters.

"The festival is not a money trip for us," he said.

An admission of $14 per person charged for the festival was discontinued Friday night when about 14,000 youths — some contending they didn't have any "bread" — pushed at the gates, chanting, "in, in, in." Festival officials ordered security guards to let everyone in free, but solicited $1 donations.

Many of the festival-goers took to a stream to escape 104-degree heat, the majority of them swam nude and when word was spread, gawkers created a traffic jam on a nearby highway. Bare-breasted girls were commonplace in the area and many youths strolled nude in the crowd. Some couples made love on blankets in full view of passersby.

First aid stations did a rush business, treating more than 7,000 persons, mostly for drug problems. Three women were rushed to a hospital in labor. Helicopters were used for emergencies because of the clogged roads.

Argentine Exile Asks Violent Coup

PARIS (UPI) — Former Argentine President Juan Peron called today in an interview for a violent Cuba-like revolution in Argentina and said he would return there when the time is ripe to resume power.

"I am ready. The day when I decide to go there no one will be able to stop me," the 75-year-old political leader said in an interview with Carlos Maria Gutteriez of Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency.

The interview was published in the weekly French-language magazine, Africasia. It did not say where it was given, but there were indications it took place in Spain where Peron has lived in exile since the early 1960s. He was overthrown in 1955.

"To free the country like Fidel, that is the solution," Peron said.

"Violence already reigns and only another violence can destroy it," he said. "The revolution will have to be violent.

"I will return at any moment I can be useful for something. I will return when the situation permits it. It is necessary for something to happen which makes my presence necessary."

Peron said he was overthrown by the "Yankees" and not by the Argentine people and that if he had resisted it would have led "perhaps to an invasion like Santo Domingo."

Israeli Planes Attack— 47th Consecutive Day

By U.P. International

Israeli planes in the 47th consecutive day of bombardment today attacked Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal where an Israeli spokesman reported nearly 2,000 Egyptian soldiers had been killed in the past year.

A military spokesman in Cairo said a dozen Israeli planes attacked Egyptian positions at Ballah, Qantara, El-Hirsh, and El-Tina, all in the northern sector of the canal. He said Egyptian "air defense methods engaged the attacking aircraft" but gave no other details.

Authoritative Israeli newspapers reported Russian-built SAM2 missile sites springing up like mushrooms along the canal, indicating greater and greater Soviet involvement in the area. Israeli sources said the missiles have shot down three Israeli planes in the past week. Egypt says six were shot down.

Israel also was having its troubles in the occupied Gaza Strip which juts along the Mediterranean coast toward the canal.

Saboteurs today blew up the only ice cream plant in Gaza City, an Arab-owned plant. A spokesman said the saboteurs used about 88 pounds of explosives to collapse the factory and heavily damage the machinery.

An Arab woman was wounded Sunday when a grenade was hurled at an Israeli bus and two Israeli soldiers were wounded when their vehicle hit another explosive charge. An Arab caught breaking the curfew was shot and wounded by an Israeli army patrol.

Jordanian and Israel forces dueled with mortars and machineguns in the Jordan Valley Sunday night.

Egyptian air defense units said they shot down two Israeli jets Sunday and captured their pilots, but the Israelis said they had lost only one two-seater Phantom.

Heavy artillery barrages also were reported along the Suez Canal as well as on the Jordan front Sunday.

In the Jordanian capital of Amman, both Premier Abdel Monem Rifai and Palestinian guerrilla sources denied reports they had reached an agreement to settle their month-old feud.

Israeli military spokesman also reported three incidents in the Gaza strip that resulted in an Arab man, an Israeli woman and two Israeli soldiers being wounded.

The Jordanians had few details on the fighting in the southern Jordan valley, but said it started at about 10:50 p.m. and continued for 40 minutes. There were no reports on casualties.

Jackrabbits have been clocked at 40 miles per hour and can cover 15 to 20 feet in one leap.

Mass Burial Is Held Jetliner Crash Victims

"Ashes to ashes. Dust to dust," the priest said. His feet crunched softly into the fresh dirt of the mass grave of 112 victims of the British jet airliner that crashed near the village at dusk Friday.

Fifty villagers had volunteered to dig and cover the six-square-yard lump of earth in the picturesque little cemetery.

They stood among the 150 other persons attending the last rites. They included British and Spanish officials, rescue workers, priests and the curious.

The comet jet carried 105 British tourists and seven crew members from Manchester, England, to Barcelona for a 12-day vacation on Spain's Costa Brava.

The plane smashed into the side of a mountain.

"It was horrible—horrible," a Red Cross worker said. "I have never seen anything worse."

Officials were still trying to determine the cause of the crash. Even as the funeral service was in progress, they searched the widely scattered wreckage for clues.

In Madrid, other officials studied the plane's "black box," an electronic device recording the aircraft's performance, and tapes of the pilot's final radio message for further indications.

A British embassy spokesman said the decision to bury the victims collectively was reached by a Spanish judge.

"This is normal procedure in Spain," he said. "They do not allow bodies to be kept for more than 24 hours for hygienic reasons."

A consular official said it was doubtful any requests by relatives for the remains to be returned to England for individual burial would be honored.

"It was impossible to recognize individual passengers," he said. "There were no complete bodies — just pieces."

Fire Interrupts Vegas Vacation At Sands Hotel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — More than 80 guests had their Fourth of July weekend disrupted briefly when a fire broke out in a wing of the Sands Hotel on the Las Vegas "strip."

Many of the guests scurried outside into 90-degree weather clad only in sleeping attire when the alarm sounded shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday.

Flames and black smoke poured from the building of the vast Sands complex which overlooks the hotel swimming pool.

The hotel, owned by Howard Hughes, was booked to capacity and rousted guests had to be relocated in nearby motels for the remainder of the night before being moved back into the Sands by noon.

The blaze was controlled in about 15 minutes.

Film Festival

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (UPI) — The 18th international San Sebastian Film Festival opened Sunday with the American movie "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?"

During the next 10 days 19 films from 10 nations will compete for five major festival awards.

Nixon Asks Young To Adviser Post

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon has asked civil rights leader Whitney Young to join the administration on a temporary basis as an adviser on black minority problems.

Young, director of the Urban League, is being sought as part of a new administration drive to improve the channels of communication between the president and minority groups, officials at the Western White House said during the weekend.

Young would be the first among a group of what the administration calls domestic "ambassadors" to heal the divisions with dissident minorities.

CHANTING, CHANTING — A. C. Bhakti Vedanata Goswami, the spiritual master of the Hare Krishna movement, leads a group of monks in chanting during the fourth annual International Rathayatra Car Festival in San Francisco. (UPI Telephoto)

'HARE KRISHNA, HARE HARE'

Wind, Broken Axle Mar Religious Fest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Cold winds, a broken axle and minor fisticuffs Sunday slightly marred the International Society For Krishna Consciousness' fourth annual Rathayatra Car Festival through Golden Gate Park.

The religious festival included 50-foot long juggernaut-carrying wooden images of the "Lord of the World" and his relatives—which were pulled by rope on a trip to the gods' country house by the sea.

Building the wooden chariots, which support towering tent-temples, was delayed by the high winds and that meant the parade was two hours late leaving the Haight-Ashbury District for the park and the beach.

Then an axle broke and one of the three chariots had to be pulled away by a tow truck.

Fisticuffs between chanting, orange-robed monks and bystanders started when a non-believer failed to get out of a chariot's way. There was no arrest and no serious injury.

About 5,000 followed the chariots, including hippies, their women, children and dogs.

"Hare Krishna, Hare Krishman, Krishna Krishna, Hare Hare.

"Hare Rama, Rama Rama, Hare Hare."

The festival is an observance that goes back to the 12th Century and "Juggernaut" is a corruption of the Sanscrit name of the "Lord of the World," Jagannatha. In translation through the ages it became Vishnu and Krishna.

Followers of Jagannatha became established with the temple at Puri, India, a site associated for centuries with Buddhism, and the "Car of Juggernaut" stems from there.

Cars in ancient times were 45-feet high, 35-feet square and supported on 16 one-ton wheels of 7-foot diameter.

The Cars of Juggernaut used in this parade were American made and all of wood but with only 4 wheels. They would have been about 50-feet high if the canopy of magenta-pink silk and orange had withstood the wind.

On the walkway, garlands of carnations, gardenias and roses were draped.

The festival—simultaneously held in London, New York and India on Sunday—is geared to astrological phases and sometimes occurs in late June or even late July.

A. C. Bhaktivedanta Swami, Los Angeles, who officiated at the ceremonies, holds that the Hare Krishna "is the only movement which can save the confused younger generation.',

"I shall invite all responsible guardians of this country to understand this transcendental movement and then give us all honest facilities to spread it for everyone's benefit," he said.

Hippies and monks all chanted and moved their bodies in unison to the beat.

"This is the easiest process of spiritual realization and is recommended in the Vedas," said Swami Bhaktivedanta.

Tribes Rally In San Francisco As Oakes Remains Critical

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Richard Oakes, militant Indian who was hit with a pool cue June 11, remains in critical condition but does "respond to a few verbal commands," a spokesman said today at San Francisco General Hospital.

He underwent 6 1-2 hours of brain surgery and has not regained consciousness.

Before the beating Oakes had led Indians who seized Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay. Representatives of 40 tribes rallied Sunday in San Francisco's Aquatic Park.

John Trudell, speaking for Indians holding the former federal prison, told the rally: "We on Alcatraz are asking for possession of that island and we're not going to settle for less, because we're right."

Indians are not "buying the talk that America has an Indian problem," he said. The problem is a "white-oriented society geared to meet white needs," he added.

There were nearly 1,000 persons at the rally which was sponsored by the Berkeley Solidarity Committee, a Caucasian group.

700 Battling Flames In N. California

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A rash of brush and forest fires burned over Northern California today with some 700 men at work trying to extinguish them.

The California Division of Forestry spokesman said that 250 men hope to gain control today of a fire that has burned over 250 acres of brush near Lake Berryessa.

The fire, apparently the result of July 4 firecrackers, was 60 per cent contained by Sunday night.

Still out of control is a 200-acre blaze 11 miles south of Carmel, despite the efforts of 400 men from the U.S. Forestry Service. Flames are near the Peco Blanco Boy Scout Camp, but a forestry official said the 125 scouts and 30 leaders are in no immediate danger.

That fire is in a wilderness area.

A total of 500 acres of brush along Highway 16 near the Yolo-Colusa county line was burned by four fires which apparently were set deliberately.

Care Policy Statement Due

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin will consider policy statements on future development of long-term care facilities and general hospitals in Marin Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice.

The board is also scheduled to discuss the resignation of James Lyn Elder, the appointment of a new member and the election of a first vice president.

The relationship between the county and the council is also slated for discussion.

Rich Bridge Expert Vanderbilt, 85, Dies

But Mike Venderbilt would have been a celebrity even without his rich and colorful heritage.

The founder of contract bridge, he was considered by many the greatest living bridge player. His reputation as a yachtsman was equally high, based on his successful defense of the America's Cup in 1939, 1934 and 1937.

Vanderbilt died Saturday —two days before his 86th birthday —at his home in this wealthy seaside resort where he had spent much of his time in recent years. He also maintained a New York residence.

A spokesman for the family said he "died of old age" and had not been ill.

Funeral services were planned for Trinity Church in Newport at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Vanderbilt was born in Oakdale, N.Y., July 6, 1884, the son of William Kissam Vanderbilt and Alva E. Smith, a grande dame of the socially elite "400" who eventually became a fighter for women's rights.

For more than four decades he was, like Commodore Vanderbilt, a railroad man.

After graduating from Harvard College in 1907 and from Harvard Law School in 1910, Vanderbilt joined the New York Central Railroad — built by his great grandfather — as a lawyer-clerk. He remained with the railroad until 1954 when it was taken over by Texan Robert R. Young.

Vanderbilt, who was childless, was survived by his widow; a second cousin, William Vanderbilt, former governor of Rhode Island, and two nieces, Mrs. Consuelo Vanderbilt of Ridgefield, Conn., and Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Adams of Golden Beach, Fla.

gunmen also carried a pipe made him lean toward the labor dispute motive.

"When they come with a pipe and a gun, it's more of a 'work over' job," he said. He said the robbery aspect could not be discounted, however.

Police also said that when Mrs. Daly called her husband by name when the gunmen entered, one of the men appeared to recognize the name, saying "yeah" and nodding to the other.

Daly's home was firebombed twice on June 17. One gasoline-filled wine bottle, thrown in the pre-dawn hours, fizzled out. The second, thrown that night, hit just below a window and blistered outside paint on the house.

Earlier, vandals had let air out of the tires on Daly's car once and slashed the tires on another occasion. He was also threatened verbally on crossing picket lines, police said.

The shot that wounded Daly passed through his body, ricocheting through the room and narrowly missing a baby in a crib in the living room, police said. Police recovered the .45-caliber slug in the yard. The couple's other child was asleep in a bedroom.

The union struck the I-J Jan. 7 and the strike has been marked by frequent violence. Fourteen separate death threats have been made against I-J employees since the strike started.

There have been three other strike-linked firebombings. One on June 15 damaged the car of Ernest H. Fingerlos in Novato. On April 22, two homes in Tamalpais Valley were firebombed, one an I-J employee's and the other that of an elderly man apparently mistaken for an I-J employee with a similar name.

On June 20, a member of the union was arrested after a shot was fired through the business offices of the I-J in San Rafael.

Throughout the strike, the union has denied connection with the violence. Leon Olson, president of Local 21, appeared on television after the firebombing of Daly's house to disavow any union link with the attacks.

The newspaper is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Daly's assailants.

The pair was described by police as Latin types in their early 20s. The man who shot Daly was reported as of slight build, five feet eight inches tall, black hair, olive complexion, wearing dark trousers and a black leather jacket.

The other man had an olive complexion, black wavy hair combed straight back, and a well-kept mustache, and wore dark dungaree trousers and a black motorcycle-type leather jacket. He carried a gun and the pipe.

Cyclist Treated For Injuries

A San Rafael man was treated at Marin General Hospital at 4:55 p.m. yesterday for injuries received in a motorcycle accident.

The hospital said Thomas J. O'Neill, 23, of 757 Kerner Boulevard, suffered a fractured left foot.

Sonoman Hurt As Car Leaves Road On Curve

Richard Wagner, 23, of Sonoma, was treated for cuts and bruises at Hillcrest Hospital Saturday after an accident on Red Hill Road near San Antonio Road southwest of Petaluma, according to the California Highway Patrol.

leagues said earlier they would cooperate with Communists in regional governments elected last month if such cooperation was necessary for stable rule.

The resignation today came after a 15-minute cabinet meeting. There was no warning of a crisis.

The first word came when Defense Minister Mario Tanassi left the cabinet meeting and told newsmen some minister had quit. Minutes later, the resignation of the government was announced.

Right-wing Socialists said Rumor had acted "correctly and responsibly" in dealing with the political situation, a reference to divisions in the coalition about cooperation with Communists.

It was the third consecutive government led by Rumor, who earlier led one other coalition and a one-party minority government.

Burgsma farmhouse, shattering four windows.

"Then everything was silent except for a hissing sound," the elder Burgsma said. "There were no screams or anything like that. They didn't have a chance."

The wreckage lay in small pieces, most tiny enough to be picked up in one hand. The bodies of the passengers and crew were burned and charred beyond recognition. A torn piece of a stewardesses' jacket snagged in a tree branch. The pilot, Capt. P. C. Hamilton, a 24-year veteran, had given no indication of any trouble with the plane. "Everything appeared to be running absolutely normal," said George Lempriere, supervisor of air traffic control at the airport. "There was absolutely no indication of any trouble whatsoever."

An Air Canada employee who watched said "the pilot pulled up, and when he got 2½ miles north he started to bank right. Fragments of metal began dropping from the plane."

There was no indication why the plane disintegrated.

The craft's "black box" flight recorder was recovered and sent to Montreal for analysis. Officials hoped it would offer clues to the tragedy.

A second engine was found about a mile and a quarter from the spot where the fuselage hit. The engine had a hole about a foot across in its side, and appeared to have been punctured by force from the inside. Like the engine dropped at the airport, it was scorched and burned on the outside casing.

Ted Morris, of Air Canada's Toronto public relations staff, said he doubted speculation the pilot jarred the plane and damaged it by landing too hard. "If the pilot landed too hard, the wheels and undercarriage would have buckled before the engine would fall off," he said.

The last major Canadian air crash — the worst on record — was Nov. 29, 1963 when another DC8 belonging to Trans-Canada Airlines - Air Canada's former name — crashed near Ste. Therese, Que., killing all 118 aboard.

responsible course of action than to vote in favor of the budget."

But he also chided the governor for refusing the school funds.

"He has turned his back on school children's needs and callously burdened local property taxpayers with unnecessary costs," Stiern said.

Walsh in a statement said, "We have reached an impasse and someone must accept the responsibility of breaking the stalemate before the state is thrown into fiscal chaos."

A Democratic source said the 13 holdouts agreed to break their solid opposition and allow two members to vote for the budget. Walsh insisted on being one, the source said. Stiern was permitted to be the other because of a tough re-election campaign.

The governor said he was "disappointed that the budget was irresponsibly held up beyond the constitutional deadline."

"Those few who continued to hold up the budget knew that what they were doing was both meaningless and unnecessary."

The budget appropriated $140,000 for the faculty academic senate at the state colleges but only $250,000 of the requested $409,000 for the university's academic senate.

Legislators said the refusal of pay raises for professors was not "punitive, but disciplinary."

The $15,000 for the state to take over payment of the rent on Reagan's fashionable home in a comfortable Sacramento neighborhood was added by a first budget conference committee.

The governor and his family chose the home over the state-owned governor's mansion early in 1967. Current landlords of the private home are wealthy political supporters and friends of Reagan.

VOTE

the party has established a dictatorship and only pays lip service to democracy.

"The critics of our system think in terms of their own countries or of the days of Porfirio Diaz," who ruled Mexico with an iron fist from 1884-1911, he said. "They don't think in terms of the progress we have made."

Echeverria congratulated the three million youths between the ages of 18 and 20 who voted for the first time. A constitutional amendment earlier this year lowered the voting age from 21.

"They understand the great benefit they received when the vote was given them," the president-elect said.

The opposition clung to its contention of improper balloting.

"We insist that the elections in Mexico are not clean or democratic," said PAN president Manuel Gonzalez Hinojosa.

He said the voting was riddled "with vices and defects," which proved "democracy does not exist in Mexico." But Gonzalez Hinojosa did not dispute Echeverria's victory and admitted "the people have gone to the polls freely."

PAN charged that Vicente Alvarez, one of its candidates for federal deputy in the State of Mexico, was abducted when he protested voting irregularities in the village of San Felipe de Progreso.

Collision Hurts Motorcyclist, 22

James Colin Guy, 22, of Alameda, was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises at Marin General Hospital after his motorcycle and a car collided at Lincoln and Fifth avenues, San Rafael, at 9:10 p.m. yesterday.

Guy told police that his throttle linkage stuck and that he attempted to lay his motorcycle down to avoid hitting a car driven by Richard Rowlands Mayer, 50, of 100 Oakmont Avenue, as the car crossed the intersection with the green light.

Guy was cited for failure to stop for a red light, police reported.

Two Campers Slain On Isla Vista Beach

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)— Two young men were hacked to death by "blows of a sharp instrument" and another youth was critically injured as they lay in their sleeping bags on a campus beach of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Killed were Larry Steve Hess, 20, La Grange, Ind., and Thomas Victor Dolan, 17, Manhattan Beach, Calif. In critical condition after undergoing five hours of surgery for multiple head injuries was Thomas M. Hayes, 19, Cypress, Calif.

Investigators said the victims were apparently attacked in their sleep either late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. Their battered bodies were discovered early Sunday morning by a stroller.

Campus police found no murder weapon and there was no immediate indication whether one or more persons took part in the attack, apparently without motive. The victims still had their watches and money, officers said.

The victims, who were not students at the school, apparently were among residents of Isla Vista who watched a fireworks display Saturday night on the beach below a 30-foot cliff.

Last February, a young Vietnam war veteran and his fiance were beaten and stabbed to death on a Santa Barbara public beach about 10 miles south of the campus beach.

SEARCH

A search party, made up of park maintenance men and volunteers, patiently scours the mountain area for traces of a lost child.

A child is lost. Only a few minutes after he wanders away from his parents, he has disappeared into the wild and mysterious depths of the luxuriantly beautiful Great Smoky Mountain country, Tennessee. The photographs on this page were taken during the course of an actual search. On this occasion, the labor of the searchers was unrewarded. Tragically, the child was not found.

A call for help goes out. And it is answered promptly, with manifold compassion, generosity and efficiency. The Great Smoky Mountains National Park personnel immediately respond to begin a search with resources organized and kept ready for such contingencies as this, rangers working along with maintenance servicemen, and even representatives from other national parks.

But that is only the beginning. Within a few days the total of searchers in the area has multiplied many times, with as many as 1,500 at weekends and with hundreds still out during the week. Some of them come from as far as 500 miles away to give their help.

The Smoky Mountains raise their curving ranges in a sequence of waves which rise and fall under a sky whose clouds lie low and lovingly over them—hence the name "Smoky," for the mists which drift and cling everywhere. Their soft weeping nourishes a thick growth of every form of plant life, from towering forest to ground mosses, as well as a wealth of waterways, rivers and waterfalls. Over such country, the task of finding one small, lost child is powered by hope but haunted by heartbreak. It is a matter of patience and persistence; and with the best will in the world, rain and fog frequently hamper or halt the search.

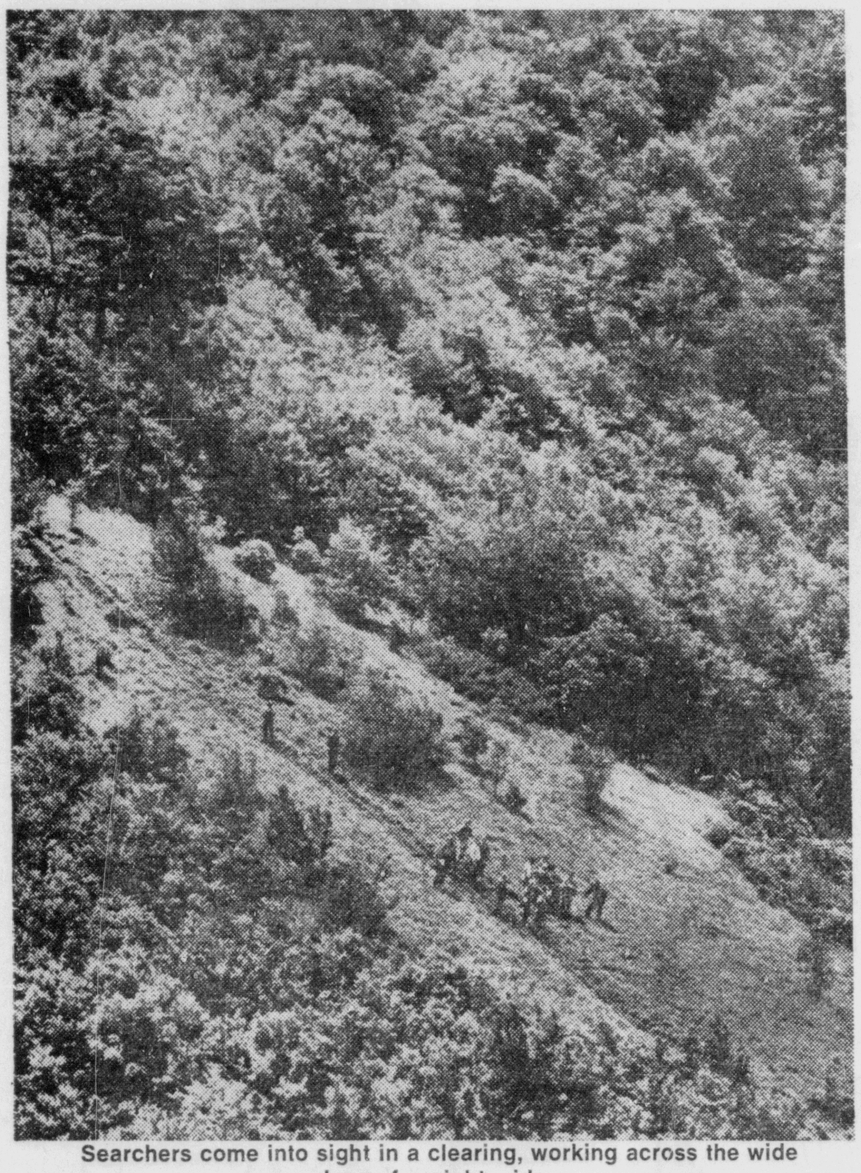
The patient and the persistent include, besides park service personnel, various military units—National Guardsmen, Air National Guardsmen, jungle-trained Green Berets and the invaluable Army and Air Force helicopters which skim and dip over terrain too rugged for the jeeps and trucks (which in turn give way to basic, hard and weary foot-slogging until that, too, can go no further).

Agents of the U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division have come, too, practiced in nosing out illicit stills hidden away in the wilderness, and a U.S. Coast Guard unit out of Knoxville to check lake and river.

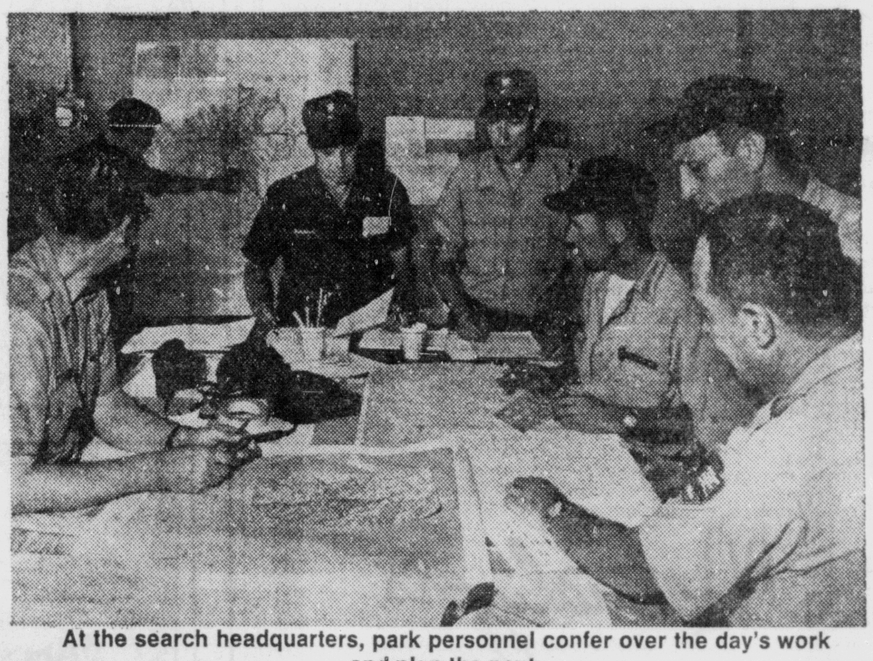
Volunteers offer a range of skills between them; all offer goodwill and energy. Rescue squadmen are joined by bear hunters, experienced outdoorsmen and expert woodsmen. Then there are the West Side dads of Knoxville YMCA Indian Guide program, and a bunch of students from a conservation group program. And more individuals, hikers, neighbors, tourists, the anonymous, uncounted and unknown.

Catering for the hungry are the Red Cross Women's Auxiliary, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of a firemen's local of the AFL-CIO. They come out each day to set up their field kitchens and to organize the distribution of food given by the Red Cross, church and civic groups, local restaurants, stores and individual donors.

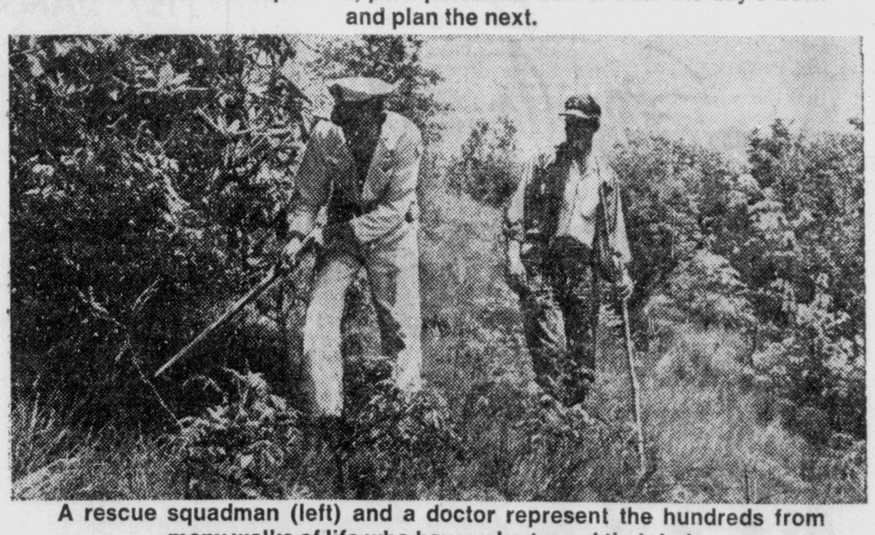
A child is lost. But the anguished concern of the parents is shared, and a great army of mercy and faith doggedly works on over the dense, secretive beauty of the mountains and valleys.



Searchers come into sight in a clearing, working across the wide slope of a mighty ridge.



At the search headquarters, park personnel confer over the day's work and plan the next.



A rescue squadman (left) and a doctor represent the hundreds from many walks of life who have volunteered their help.

Court Gives Sihanouk Death Edict

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk was convicted of nine counts of treason and sentenced to death Sunday by a military tribunal that tried him in absentia.

The principal effect of the verdict was to let the government seize the former chief of state's property in Cambodia under an order of the tribunal. Sihanouk's citizenship also was revoked.

The prince was abroad when Premier Lon Nol and the National Assembly ousted him March 18. He now heads an exile government in Peking.

Sihanouk was accused of collaborating with the Vietnamese Communists and of ordering more than 1,000 Cambodians executed without trial for political offenses.

A parade of 26 witnesses including some former cabinet ministers, bankers and businessmen testified for the prosecution during the trial that opened Friday.

No one testified for the defense. But two attorneys the government directed to defend the Prince argued there was not enough evidence for a guilty verdict and that anyway Sihanouk was exempt from the law because he was royalty. He once was king but abdicated in the 1950s to take over the government.

A Peking broadcast said Saturday Sihanouk's exile regime had vowed to try Lon Nol and his collaborators in the same way if and when it returned to power in Phnom Penh.

The government prosecutor, Sam Kim Chhun, professed love for Sihanouk in his closing argument, but said he had "done wrong." He said Sihanouk's main crime was that after his ouster he "did not keep silent. He wants to kill his nation." This referred to Sihanouk's support of Cambodian Communists waging a guerrilla war here.

Ohio ACLU Plans To Probe Kent's Deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)— The American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio (ACLU) said Sunday a task force of lawyers will investigate the incidents surrounding the May 4 killing of four Kent State University students to determine if students' rights were violated.

The ACLU said it was prepared to spend as much as $15,000 on the investigation and announced Michael Geltner, an Ohio State University law professor, had been retained to guide the effort.

Benson A. Wolman, executive director of the union, said Geltner has been retained for the summer months. He declined to give his salary, but said it would be paid by ACLU receipts from contributions.

In addition, Wolman said, more than two dozen attorneys have volunteered their services to the ACLU cause.

"We are prepared to spend between $5,000 and $15,000 on this project," Wolman said, adding $1,000 in small donations already had been received.

Several contemporary music groups have volunteered to make benefit appearances on behalf of the union's effort, Wolman said, and one nationally-known group already has given a verbal commitment for a concert in Ohio this fall for that purpose.

Basically, the ACLU plans to:

—Bring suit against Ohio National Guard officials and perhaps Gov. James A. Rhodes on behalf of the parents of Sandy Schewer, one of the four slain students.

—Take legal action against law enforcement officers who allegedly searched the dormitory rooms of about 8,500 KSU students without warrants following the riot.

—Look into the possibility that the presence of National Guard troops on the Kent campus was a violation of the constitutional rights of the students.

—Determine whether academic freedom was impaired by FBI surveillance of classroom conversations between students and faculty members.

Wolman said his organization set up a temporary office on the campus the night of the shooting and has tape recorded about 125 eyewitnesses to the shootings.

Bar Panel Outlines Plans For Cleaning Up Own House

CHICAGO (UPI) — A special study committee of the American Bar Association has made a series of recommendations to end the "scandalous situation" which exists in disciplining the nation's lawyers.

The committee, headed by retired Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, said Saturday unless the bar moves quickly to set its own house in order, "The public soon will insist on taking measures into its own hands."

The ABA Committee for Disciplinary Enforcement, after three years of study, said present practices are "failing to rid the profession of a substantial number of malfactors."

The group's 190-page report included recommendation for immediate suspension for any lawyer convicted of a "serious crime," defined as a felony or any "specified" lesser crime reflection upon a lawyer's fitness to serve his clients. Present ABA policy often allows a convicted lawyer to continue his practice pending long and drawn-out appeals to higher courts.

The committee's recommmendations also included:

—Establishment of a professionally staffed nationwide program to prod state and local disciplinary authorities into streamlining their procedures.

—Centralization of disciplinary jurisdiction in statewide agencies, with ultimate authority resting in the highest court in the state.

—Development of a "national data bank" to apprehend disbarred lawyers who surreptitiosly move to another state in order to practice again.

"After three years of studying lawyer discipline throughout the country, this committee must report the existence of a scandalous situation that requires the immediate attention of the profession," the report said.

The report, which also charged that some agencies are "antiquated" with "little power to take effective steps," will be submitted to the ABA House of Delegates for adoption at the association's annual meeting in St. Louis, Mo., next month.

Kansas Trial Set For Fairfax Man On Drug Charge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U. S. District Court judge has ordered a 25-year-old Fairfax man, charged with setting up a mail order drug business, to report to U. S. District Court in Wichita, Kan., to stand trial.

NEA Hits Parochial, Private School Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The National Education Association, reversing a 6-year stand, now opposes spending of public money for parochial and private schools.

"Many delegates feared that continued spending of public money on nonpublic schools would help perpetuate economic and racial segregation in the South," NEA executive secretary S. M. Lambert said after the resolution vote Sunday.

Delegates to the million-member organization's 108th annual convention also passed a resolution approving the busing of pupils when necessary to achieve racial integration.

"It is imperative that desegregation of the nation's schools be effected" and that "policies and guidelines for school desegregation. . .be strengthened," the resolution declared.

In another action, delegates approved a Constitutional Convention to study possible organizational changes for the NEA.

Until now the NEA has been loosely organized and includes a number of state and local organizations.

NEA spokesmen said the Constitutional Convention probably will meet in July, 1971 in Detroit. Delegates to it will submit a new constitution for a vote by all the members no later than March 31, 1972.

Delegates will include representatives for 10 educational organizations affiliated with the NEA.

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

FROM SUGAR TO STEEL

Myriad Of U.N. Statistics

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States may have the most cars, Britain the most spacious living quarters and Sweden the greatest coffee consumption rate in the world, but life may be sweetened in Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific, United Nations figures show.

The world body, in the 25th anniversary issue of its annual statistical yearbook—a summary of figures on everything from steel production to sugar consumption—also said the world's economy grew faster than population by 240 per cent to 140 per cent in the last 20 years. But it added distribution was so uneven that most of the world's people stayed in abject poverty.

The statistics book showed more than half the world's 170 million passenger cars are registered in North America—the bulk in the United States. America also consumed the most steel, 137.8 million tons, followed by Russia and Japan.

Residents of England and Wales have the most living space, the U.N. said—more than 1 1-2 rooms per person. The United States and four other countries follow with 1.4 rooms per head.

Swedes drink the most coffee, the U.N. said. They use 30 pounds a year for every man, woman and child—enough to brew about 1,500 cups.

The residents of Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific have the world's greatest sweet tooth. They use about 120 pounds of sugar a piece every year, against a world average of only 44 pounds, the U.N. said.

End-The-War Backers To Meet, Study 'How'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senators pushing an end-the-war resolution said today they will hold a daylong conference Thursday to discuss how the proposed pullout can be achieved.

The antiwar senators also opened an unusual campaign to appeal through a heavy advertising campaign for public support of their proposal.

Starting today and lasting at least three weeks, television stations reaching a quarter of the nation's population began carrying commercials asking for backing of the "end-the-war" amendment proposed by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

The conference on Thursday will involve what its sponsors labeled a review of "the feasibility of prompt disengagement" from the war effort.

Among the problems to be discussed are the logistics and timetable of withdrawal, procedural steps in negotiations, preventive measures against the threat of a "bloodbath," prisoners of war and conversion of the U.S. economy from wartime to peacetime.

The conference participants will include Clark M. Clifford, former defense secretary; W. Averell Harriman, former chief U.S. negotiator in Paris; David M. Shoup, former commandant of the Marine Corps; George Ball, a foreign policy adviser to President Lyndon B. Johnson; and Townsend Hoopes, former undersecretary of the Air Force.

All are critics of the administration's war policy.

The television campaign to drum up support for the controversial amendment is being coupled with ads in newspapers and radio. The publicity effort is to culminate at the end of the month when Hatfield, McGovern and their 23 co-sponsors expect the Senate to begin consideration of their far-reaching plan.

If enacted, it would require President Nixon to pull all U.S. troops out of Vietnam by no later than next June 30 unless Congress specifically extends that deadline.

Probably never before have members of Congress gone over the heads of their colleagues and purchased advertising to appeal for direct public support for a legislative proposal.

The commercials and ads were prepared by "Advertising People Against the War," a New York group which donated talent said to have a market value of $200,000. The results are slickly professional.

One spot shows three boys playing with wooden guns. A voice says something like this: "There are American boys in Vietnam who were 12 years old when the war began. We don't want today's boys to die in Vietnam 12 years from now. Write your senator or congressman in support of 'the amendment to end the war' . . . Pick up a pen so your son won't have to pick up a gun."

The advertising is paid for from a fund of $480,000 raised during a half-hour television appeal May 12 by McGovern, Hatfield and Sens. Harold Hughes, D - Iowa, Frank Church, D - Idaho, and Charles E. Goodell, R - N.Y. The first $70,000 is paid for that telecast and the rest — plus an anticipated $100,000 in new contributions — will be used for the campaign.

Hickel Taken Into Crow Indian Tribe

HARDIN, Mont., (UPI)—Amid smiling faces, Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel was adopted into the Crow Indian tribe Sunday afternoon.

Two Crow brothers, Henry and Barney Old Coyote, both of whom bear the honored Crow title "Pipe Bearer" because of their distinguished World War Two records, inducted Hickel into the tribe and gave him the name "Pipe Bearer" also.

In the old days an Indian who carried the title won it through acts of heroism.

The ceremony, which included the traditional smoking of the peace pipe, took place on Pretty Eagle Point, about 50 miles south of Hardin. It was Hickel's first visit to an Indian reservation since he became Secretary of the Interior.

Hickel has been often criticized by American Indians, but the Crows are the one Indian nation which has remained friendly. Tribal Chairman Edison Real Bird told Hickel Sunday he was one of them, and the tribe gave him a greeting of unmistakable warmth and friendship. He was especially popular with the Indian children who followed him through the day.

Hickel told the Indians there was a need for understanding, and said "If we do wrong, speak up and we will listen." He also said, "We can learn a great deal from the Indian people about nature, for you know how to use her."

NAACP Condemns Nixon's War, Segregation Policies

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The NAACP is unhappy with the Nixon administration—its withdrawal plans in Indochina, its attempts at ending poverty and its prosecution of segregated schools.

On those issues, the large civil rights group took stands during a six-day national meeting that wound up Friday night.

In major resolutions, the 2,000 delegates:

—Called for "immediate" withdrawal of American troops from Southeast Asia and Europe.

—Urged the President to use his powers to end segregation.

—Condemned the administration for its spending a "mere pittance" on poverty in comparison to the spending for war.

—Called for a massive effort to stop drug traffic.

"We cannot too strongly condemn the Nixon administration for failing to correct blatant forms of segregation in southern schools while, at the same time, condoning and thereby encouraging more devious forms of segregation in larger school districts all over the country," a resolution adopted Friday read.

NAACP Board Chairman Bishop Steven G. Spottswood set the theme of the convention on the very first night when he denounced the Nixon administration as "anti-Negro."

Lion Drags Youth Into Pit, Mauling Is Fatal

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—An 18-year-old youth, who leaned over a fence into the lion pit at the Portland zoo to tease the big cats, was mauled to death when one of the beasts seized him.

Officials said Roger D. Adams died Independence Day night of a broken neck and loss of blood.

Adams was one of a group of youths who had been celebrating the holiday in the zoo and remained behind the gates after closing hours.

The surviving youths said Adams had been hanging over the fence at the lion pit teasing the jungle cats, although they tried to dissuade him. Suddenly one of the lions seized the youth and dragged him into the pit.

Zoo officials said the incident was unfortunate since the 15-foot deep lion pit had been constructed with a moat specifically to protect spectators.

The Portland Fire Department recovered the body by playing searchlights to blind the lions, while officers stood by with shotguns.

The youth's parents were vacationing in Alaska and authorities were unable to contact them.

Today is Monday, July 6, the 187th day of 1970 with 178 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1699 the pirate, Capt. William Kidd, was seized in Boston and deported to England.

In 1885 Louis Pasteur innoculated the first human being, a boy who had been bitten by an infected dog. The youngster did not develop rabies.

In 1933 the American League defeated the National League, 4-2 at Chicago, in the first all-star baseball game.

In 1968 President Johnson visited Central America and promised economic aid.

Cause Of Bad Breath Traced

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Spurred on by seeing a sign reading "halitosis is better than no breath at all," an associate professor at the University of British Columbia says he has conclusively identified and measured two chemicals which cause bad breath.

Dr. Joseph Tonzetich, of the university's department of oral biology, said the two compounds are hydrogen sulfide and methyl mercaptan. He said his work can lead to control of bad breath and to early detection of certain diseases of the human body.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

No Sympathy For Rushing Trick; Postpone It To Protect Trumps

As an experienced player, you're familiar with the principle of holding up an ace or king: you simply postpone winning with your high card until one of the opponents plays his last card of the suit. Today's hand shows a variation on that theme for the purpose of protecting your trumps.

RUFFS OPENER

South ruffed the opening lead, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and then led the jack of spades to force out the queen. Back came a diamond, and South ruffed again.

South had to use his last trump to draw West's remaining trump, and then he tried the club finesse. Unfortunately for South, East turned up with the king of clubs. Back came a third diamond, and West was able to take the rest of his suit. Down three.

"I'd have been all right if the trumps broke normally or if the club finesse worked," South grumbled, but nobody gave him much sympathy. You may find sympathy in a bridge player's dictionary, but no meaning is assigned to it.

DESERVED NONE

South deserved no sympathy because he should have made the game despite his bad luck. It was correct to ruff the first diamond and play three rounds of trumps, but it was a ghastly error to ruff the second diamond.

South could well afford to discard a heart on the second round of diamonds, since he was sure to lose that heart sooner or later. In effect, South would be holding up his ruffing trick.

WEST IN CONTROL

West would continue with a third diamond, and now South would ruff while East followed suit with his last diamond. South would draw the last trump and lose the club finesse, but East would be out of diamonds. No matter what East returned, declarer would take the rest of the tricks.

Cabbie Kills Python—21-Foot, 60-Pounder

The snake was 21 feet long, 10 inches round and weighed 60 pounds, one of the largest ever found near Legaspi City, 165 miles southeast of Manila.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER SPEAR

Q. We are a middle-aged couple and hold Polaroid, Waltham Industries, U.S. Financial Security Pacific National Bank and Southwest Leasing. Should we make any changes? — G.H.

A. With one exception, your portfolio is entirely suitable for a couple attempting to build capital toward retirement. Your weakest holding, Waltham Industries, has reshuffled its board of directors four times in a year. On sales of $46 million in 1969, earnings reached only 3 cents a share.

Polaroid's poor market action has reflected a slowdown in growth rate. However, new product contributions should help restore the former pace. Southwest Leasing, a new issue in July, 1969, is speculative, but shares held relatively well in the recent market break. Security Pacific, now the tenth largest bank in the country, in terms of deposits, should continue its excellent record of growth. U. S. Financial, a factor in all phases of the housing industry, would benefit significantly by an easing in the money markets. Earnings in 1969 were $1.35 a share fully diluted, and could reach $2 this year.

Funds released by the sale of Waltham Industries could be used to build up holdings of Security Pacific.

Q. We bought Sunstrand Corp. three years ago. Its performance was admirable until the market began to slide. Should we hold on the lance it will recover? — L.T.

A. Two of Sunstrand's major markets — aerospace and machine tools — are at the bottom of a cyclical trough with recovery not expected for several months. Firstquarter earnings of 49 cents a share were well below results reported a year earlier. Management has reaffirmed, however, earlier predictions that full-year net will compare favorably to the $2.01 earned in 1969.

Favoring long-term appreciation is the company's technological leadership position in its major product areas. A large number of its products are proprietary and the principal aircraft product has a replacement market which is thought to account for 30 per cent of total volume. Several industry analysts have recently recommended gradual accumulation of Sunstrand's overly depressed shares.

Japan Air Lines Buys 11th 747

NEW YORK (BW) — Japan Air Lines has purchased its 10th and 11th Boeing 747's from the Boeing Co. at a price of nearly $22 million each. Delivery is scheduled for 1972.

JAL has already received delivery of its first three 747's called Garden Jets.

The 361-passenger aircraft will be put into service on July 1 between Tokyo and Honolulu, and Tokyo and Los Angeles via Honolulu. By 1974 they will be flying on most of JAL's round-the-world routes.

NEW DATSUN MODEL

Adding versatility to the Datsun line are two new four-passenger models — the 1200 coupe shown above and a two-door sedan in the same series. The 1200 combines a 60-horsepower overhead valve four-cylinder engine, four-speed floor mounted transmission and front disc brakes. Cars are scheduled to appear shortly after the first of next month at Annex Motors, San Rafael.

Santa Rosan Resigns Top Post At Bank

Sierra National Bank, headquartered in Petaluma and with branch offices in both Sonoma and Marin Counties, has announced the resignation of Henry F. Luehring as president and chief executive officer.

Luehring, a resident of Santa Rosa, joined Sierra National five years ago. During this time the bank increased in total assets from $5 million to $19 million. Luehring said he is remaining with the bank as a consultant for possibly as long as three months before making further plans.

Sierra directors have appointed Del R. Ross of Petalufa, executive vice president and cashier as chief executive officer. Board chairman Ray Gambonini said full bank services will be maintained in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Sierra has reported six-month earning, before taxes, of $89 million, compared to midyear profits of $45 million in 1969 and $133.8 million at year end. The bank's capital position is reported in excess of $1 million.

N.Y. Market In Setback; Trading Light

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market today suffered its biggest setback in almost two weeks as Wall Street worried about corporate liquidity, international news and second quarter earnings statements.

Earnings reports for the June quarter were expected to start drifting in later in the week.

The UPI Marketwide Indicator showed a loss of 1.47 per cent on 1,560 issues on the tape. Of these, 977 declined and 331 gained.

Turnover of around 9.25 million shares compared with 8,440,000 Thursday. The market was closed Friday in observance of Independence Day.

One analyst noted that weakness in the glamors acted as a major depressant on the general list. But he noted also that it tended to keep many investors on the sidelines.

A spokesman for W.E. Hutton & Co. brokerage said there was no incentive to buy stocks. He said the feeling is widespread that second quarter earnings will not make good reading.

In the news background, Israel's Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, said Russian military advisers have fired new, advanced SAM-3 missiles at Israeli planes over the Suez Canal.

Bar-Lev said, however, the Russians are more than advisers. "We believe they are directing and operating the whole system," he told a news conference.

Among the stocks on the most active list were Carter Wallace, Occidental Petroleum, Penn Central, and International Telephone preferred "N."

TRY TO BEAT INFLATION

Many Housewives Shift To 'Store' Brand Items

Forty-five per cent of the 811 homes answering a survey said they had switched from "name" or advertised brands of food to store brands found in chain stores like A&P and Krogers.

What worries Sol Katz, marketing chief at W&L, is that many of the switchers are young. And five years from now more than half the U. S. population will be 25 or younger.

"They're the ones who should be developing brand loyalties now," said Katz. "If we lose them in recession times it may be difficult to get them back as steady customers in normal times. They're natural doubters to begin with."

"Sure we're concerned about this trend," said Mark Stroock, vice president of corporate relations at Young & Rubicam, a New York agency which included substantial packaged food accounts in its 1969 total billings of $371 million. "But we're not overly concerned."

Stroock said growth of store brand sales is not an outgrowth of the business slowdown. "Actually, it started with the rise of discount houses," he said. "What some people overlook is that the big boys, the Procter & Gambles and General Foods, show healthy increases every year."

Stroock admitted it would be fair to ask if the "big boys" wouldn't be bigger without competition from store brands.

"But when you come right down to it, in terms of food and similar items, the wife is the consumer," he said. "You can fool her once. Maybe twice. But no more. Advertised brands have the quality, and she knows it."

Perhaps she will come back to "name" brands when inflationary pressures ease, or she is disappointed with "store" brand quality. But right now, according to the W&L survey, there is a definite trend to cheaper brands. And not only in foods.

Thirty per cent of the respondents said they now buy unadvertised detergents. It was 18 per cent in drugs, 17 per cent in cosmetics and toiletries, 14 per cent in clothing, 7 per cent in appliances, 9 per cent in beer, 22 per cent in personal soap and 12 per cent in liquor.

Middle-income groups and young family units were most active in the switch. Older families in the $15,000 per year or higher income bracket retained their brand loyalties for the most part.

PROBLEM'S NEW IN CALIFORNIA

Teaching Jobs Fade With Baby Boom

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has perpetually struggled to find enough schoolteachers for its abundance of children.

The state suddenly finds itself today with more teachers than its school districts can absorb. The situation is described by various experts as a shortage of money, a surplus of teachers, or both.

The California Teachers Association calls it "deplorable."

DISTRICTS CAN CHOOSE

Fledgling teachers face an increasingly crowded job market, while school districts can pick and choose among applicants.

"There are at least 2,000-3,000 teachers in California now who cannot get a job," says Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

He estimates there could be "at least two to three times" that number of jobless teachers in the late 1970s unless students are diverted away from teaching careers.

California now has about 165,000-170,000 teachers in elementary and high schools and junior colleges, Rafferty says.

He recently called the Southern California desert town of Needles, where he was once school superintendent, and found no shortage of instructors.

"If Needles has plenty of teachers, everybody has plenty of teachers," Rafferty says.

RECRUITING CUTBACK

He has urged the state's school districts to stop recruiting teachers from out of state because they are unneeded. He adds the districts could save $2 million a year if they quit dispatching recruiters to other states.

The state school chief says the current problem is caused mostly by the financial problems faced by districts whose tax override elections fail, forcing them to hold down payrolls. He has called for added state support for schools.

But Rafferty also attributes the surfeit of teachers to lower birth rates.

"At the moment the economic factor is the biggest part, but next year it will not be," Rafferty says.

As the decade progresses, he says, "there will be fewer kids in school and more teachers going jobless. The declining birthrate hit California kindergartens and first grades in the 1969-70 school year."

BOOM TO END

Population projections indicate that in 1974-75 the state's elementary schools will have fewer children than the year before, Rafferty says.

"This is the first time in the history of California this has ever happened," he added.

He expects the 70s to be a "period of leveling off and decline to a certain extent," but says the 80s remain a question mark.

Calvin Rossi, legislative advocate for the CTA, calls the job shortage a "deplorable situation."

"The only way you can talk about an excess of teachers is if you hold a blindfold over your eyes and don't look at the problems of education in the state," he says. "We need more and better people and need to create the conditions that will attract and hold them."

Only six states have larger class sizes than California, he says. "This is a crime."

He blamed school money woes on the failure of tax overrides and a lack of enough state support, plus a 10 per cent annual rise in costs.

"Just to stay even is a costly thing in today's climate," Rossi says.

He concedes that school populations may level off or drop slightly by mid-decade but predicted they will climb again in the late 70s.

Dr. Ed Clements, director of the job placement office at San Jose State College, reports a tight job market for graduates.

"The reports our candidates come back with indicate they're getting fewer offers," he says. Clements cites "difficult finascial circumstances and declining enrollments" in the schools.

While some fields are especially crowded, such as social science and English, others still need instructors, including math, the sciences, special education and industrial arts, Clements says.

Mrs. Dorothy Boyette, personnel specialist for Sacramento schools, reports "many more candidates for each job this year than previously."

Most of California's new teachers—about 60-70 per cent—are turned out by the state colleges.

"There aren't as many teachers being placed," reports Dr. John Baird, who is in charge of teacher education for the state colleges.

The colleges in 1968-69 produced 8,409 new teachers, capping a steady rise in recent years which he said was partly the result of children of the post-war baby boom leaving college.

Baird also blames the picture on a combination of tight money and drops in kindergarten and first grade enrollments.

Asked if the colleges planned to curtail their turnout of new teachers, Baird answered: "I am not so pessimistic at this stage of the game."

He says he expects enrollments to climb again as the post-war babies send their own offspring to kindergarten.

Youth Nabbed On Suspicion Of Burglary

Police said the gold auto driven by Floyd Kermit Ware matched the description given by a yard boy.

The boy reported seeing the car in the driveway at the Dorothy Wilkins home on Winding Way about 11:30 a.m. Thursday and picked out Ware's mugshot from others, police said.

A television set was reported missing.

Ware, who is charged with two other residential burglaries in May and June, was booked into Marin County Jail. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Cleaning Fluid Is Blamed For $15,000 Blaze

A fire caused by fumes from cleaning solvent swept the kitchen of a Tiburon home Friday and did about $15,000 damage before Tiburon firemen were able to put it out.

A fire department spokesman said an employee of a floor covering firm was cleaning the kitchen floor of the William Wachter residence at 2261 Spanish Trail Road at 9:51 a.m. when he spilled some cleaning solvent.

Fumes from the liquid were ignited by the stove's pilot light, gutting the kitchen and causing extensive smoke damage to the rest of the house, the spokesman said.

Three units and 29 men brought the blaze under control in 10 minutes, he said.

BECOMING A NURSE

The Determination Paid Off

Determination to start, stick to and complete a rigid course of study and training kept three mature Marin women moving toward their goal — to become licensed vocational nurses.

And they have just completed the three semester, 35 hours-a-week, program at the College of Marin.

Mary Ellen McCurdy of Mill Valley, Sarah Coleman of Marin City and Duette Rochelle of San Rafael are now graduates of the College of Marin Licensed Vocational Nursing program, and each has her own special reasons why this program was important to her and what the LVN license means in the way of a satisfying and secure job.

For Sarah Coleman it meant restructuring and rearranging a schedule that included home making and care of four children and a husband who is a paraplegic, as the result of a hunting accident four years ago. Mrs. Coleman had just started the program when the accident left her husband in need of care, forcing her to drop her college work. As his condition improved she longed to re-enter the vocational nursing program.

She has applied for work at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Terra Linda and is hopeful she will be able to work there. The Coleman family has been helped with finances through the Aid to Disabled program, but that may soon end, as her husband is now working although not the equivalent of a full salaried job.

MARY ELLEN McCurdy and her two teen-agers, Laura, 16, and Kal, 14, enjoy family sharing and comparing of school experiences. She was divorced two years ago and receives minimal financial help from her former husband.

"The Work Incentive Program and the Leased Housing Program deserve credit for seeing us through these three semesters at College of Marin", Mary Ellen says.

She had started college several years ago but dropped out for personal reasons. "My love is nursing, and then acting, in that order", she said. She has worked with Jack Aranson of Mill Valley and appeared in two Mountain Plays.

"Becoming a nurse is a childhood dream come true for me", she says. "I had rheumatic fever when I was a child and remember my visits to the hospital where there was always a warm, secure feeling. I never dreaded the shots or the blood tests as so many children might. I liked the smells there, the looks of the busy doctors and nurses, and the hsopital atmosphere made me feel secure and well cared for."

Following the state board examinations this month she will be working as a licensed vocational nurse, hopefully at Marin General Hospital.

"WE ARE PERMITTED to work as aides until our license comes through", she explained.

Duette Rochelle gave up a less interesting, but good salaried job as a supermarket cashier to return to College of Marin and train in vocational nursing.

"It took me three years to finally make the break and get started", she said. She had worked as a volunteer at Novato General Hospital many years ago and the experience there influenced her in the decision to return. She was accepted in the program on the basis of test scores and a personal interview, but for two years after acceptance unexpected financial problems kept her from starting the program.

"The third time was the charm for me". she said.

Duette found that her minimal savings soon diminished. Determined not to drop out, she learned about the College of Marin financial aids office and obtained a student loan which carried her through to graduation.

Finally, two weeks before graduation an unexpected windfall in the form of scholarships from the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, awarded to the three women made funds possible to purchase uniforms, shoes, caps and accessories for the graduation exercises.

THE AAUW scholarship committee, heretofore, selected recipients from women attending four year institutions. This year policies were changed within the organization and for the first time the committee included women in two-year community colleges, and focused on women in occupational programs as candidates. The AAUW awarded $100 scholarships each to Mary Ellen and Duette, and a $200 scholarship to Sarah.

"We were impressed with the women and the outstanding personal qualities that brought them back to the college campus and saw them through a highly technical oc-

VOLUNTEERING AT Novato General Hospital several years ago motivated Duette Rochelle to become interested in nursing care. She selected the licensed vocational nursing program at the College of Marin because of the close patient-nurse contact. After giving up a job and living on minimal funds during college, she plans to take the additional 15 units she needs to also obtain associate in science degree.

Hosmers Celebrate 50 Years

A RECEPTION AT St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco yesterday honored Dr. and Mrs. Matthew N. Hosmer on their golden wedding anniversary. The Hosmers have been residents of San Rafael since 1949 and have enjoyed gardening and orchid raising in their home. (Independent-Journal photo)

A reception Sunday afternoon at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Matthew N. Hosmer of San Rafael.

Dr. Hosmer and the former Lillian Roberts were married at her parents' home in San Jose on July 2, 1920, and went to live in San Francisco, where Dr. Hosmer was attending the University of California Medical School.

The couple met and grew up in Turlock and both are graduates of Turlock High School. Dr. Hosmer was born in Turlock and Mrs. Hosmer came there as a child with her family from Parker, S.D., where the Roberts family had owned a ranch.

Dr. Hosmer was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and from U.C. School of Medicine in 1924, and she attended College of the Pacific, then in San Jose, for three years and received her teaching certificate from San Jose Normal School. She became a teacher at the Sarah Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco, as married teachers were barred from the public school system in those days.

Specializing in ear, nose and throat medicine, Dr. Hosmer began practice with a San Francisco medical partnership, and until his retirement last year he maintained his office at 384 Post Street in San Francisco.

In 1928 the couple sailed for Europe, where the doctor spent several months in postgraduate medical studies in Vienna. They returned to live in San Francisco for the next 20 years. In 1948 they moved to Belvedere while their new house was being built in San Rafael, close to the Marin Yacht Club, where they moored their power boat and enjoyed the sunny climate. They moved into their home in San

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I heard a lot of firecrackers on July 4th, read of many automobile accidents, the usual drownings, and watched the fireworks at the local supermarket parking lot.

But whatever happened to the real Independence Day? I'll bet many kids don't even know what it stands for. Adults seem to have forgotten, too.

I started displaying our flag outdoors on Flag Day (yes, kiddies, that was on June 14th) and it is still on its standard in front of our house. People come by and ask me if there's a special election. When I tell them this isn't a voting precinct, they look at me as if I were crazy. Even on July 4th, ours was the only flag on the block. There's a rumor going around now that we're "patriotic nuts" meaning Birchers.

Is it subversive or something to love your country?— LIBERAL DEMOCRAT

DEAR LIB DEM:

It's sad how the real meaning of most holidays — including Christmas — seems to elude us. (Remember those Fourth of July picnics when Congressmen orated from bunting-draped stands, but remember, too, how we didn't listen even then?)

Nevertheless, our flag is making a comeback, and you may yet outlive the patriotic nut label. If those decals, pins and other flag displays haven't yet reached your area — they will. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has taken this married lady back and forth to work every day for the past 20 years. It isn't that I think she would ever come before me, but sometimes I think he gloats over the idea. What's your opinion? — SAD

DEAR SAD:

"Gloating" isn't acting. Besides, you only think he gloats. If, after 20 years, you're still not sure, I'd say you have a pretty trustworthy man. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter was married to a bum, but got a divorce. By accident, we found out later the bum was a bigamist, having been already married.

Now he is married a third time to a very sweet girl, but he still has never divorced his first wife (by whom he has a child). Should we keep quiet or report him to the law?

We don't want to hurt his present wife, but our religion will not permit our daughter to remarry unless her first marriage is annulled. This is only possible if we prove it was never a legal marriage. — WHICH

DEAR WHICH:

All three of these wives should know their legal status. Report this man to the law. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'd like to tell families of compulsive gamblers about "Gam-Anon", a fellowship which shows them how to cope with this sad problem. We apply the same basic spiritual principals used by Al-Anon. Whether our husbands are members of Gamblers Anonymous or not, we gain much benefit. Our doors are always open to others who need help.

For further information, write to Gam-Anon, National Headquarters, P.O. Box M, Norwalk, California, 90650. An eastern address is 17 William St., Newark, New Jersey. Many cities now have meeting places. — P.B.

NURSING

cupational program", said Mrs. R.J. Houston of San Rafael, a member of the scholarship committee. "We know it's not easy to handle family responsibilities, to try to juggle too-little money to cover rent, food and clothing and keep up with a difficult study program", she said.

The LVN program at College of Marin takes the student through courses focusing on the study of the anatomy and physiology of the human body, all aspects of medical and surgical nursing, obstetrical and care of the newborn and develops skills in patient centered nursing care of patients of all ages.

Students are in class 35 hours a week and the time is divided between lecture and clinical practice in local hospitals. At the end of the three semesters, the student will have earned 45 units of college credit. If she decides to continue studying for the associate in science degree, an additional 15 units in general education courses are needed. Duette and Mary Ellen have applied for admission to the fall semester and will take history, English and mathematics courses to meet the degree requirements.

"I like the feeling of education behind me", said Mary Ellen, who added that she might consider working toward a bachelor's degree. Often a hospital job can provide flexible hours for the nurse, permitting both classroom work and full-time job.

THE OPPORTUNITIES in nursing are encouraging, according to Mrs. Laura Jean Looper, director of the program. In a check with the personal office at one local hospital, she found there were openings for about 10 LVNs, with a beginning salary of about $570 a month.

Mrs. Looper has graduated eight classes of vocational nurses since the program was started at College of Marin. Two have elected to complete the R.N. program.

"We screen the applicants and accept them on the basis of their desire to be LVNs, and are quite pleased that the majority of graduates are happy to practice the career they have been trained for", she said.

The new semester in the fall will have 15 new students, the legal limit per instructor. Applicants must complete tests and interviews four months prior to the start of each semester.

Women's Salaries

In 1955, women's median wage or salary income of $2,719 was 64 per cent of the $4,252 received by men, the U.S. Department of Labor reports. In 1968, women's median earnings of $4,457 were only 58 per cent of the $7,664 received by men.

Some Facts On Phosphates From Congressional Hearings

By ARTHUR E ROWSE

WASHINGTON — If you want to get your clothes as clean as possible and still do your bit to reduce pollution from phosphates, House Report 91-1004 is a must for your bedside reading.

Otherwise known as the 23rd Report by the House Committee on Government Operations, the 87-page document gives all you need to know — and more — about phosphates, which recently replaced enzymes as the most talked-about washday topic.

The report is based on testimony received in public hearings earlier this year by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.). It explains why phosphates are considered to be serious threats to the continued existence of lakes and reservoirs.

It refutes industry arguments that detergents are not the main source of phosphates and that the answer lies in more refined sewage treatment plants. It also disputes industry contentions that there is no practical substitute available.

BUT THIS report has an added feature that few government reports have. It has enough detailed information to serve as a consumer guide to shopping for proper laundry aids and use of them in home laundries.

The most important point about phosphates is one that has been virtually ignored in public discussion: the fact that phosphates are water softeners.

This means, as the report points out, that the need for water softeners varies according to the relative hardness or softness of local water supplies. Yet all but a few detergents are produced and sold with uniform proportions of phosphates regardless of region.

To find whether your local water is soft or hard, call the water department. For good measure, the House report lists this data for the 100 largest cities in the country.

If you live in an area of soft or moderately hard water, you may be able to switch to soap, which has no phosphate in it. Even in hard water areas, soap can be as effective as it used to be, but it is likely to leave a scum that may reduce the cleansing action and result in some grayness.

ADDING A water softener will eliminate this scum. Most water softeners contain phosphates, but some do not. The House report lists the phosphate contents of nearly every cleaning compound on the market today, from dishwashing and laundry detergents to scouring cleansers and bleaches.

With this list, consumers can compare all the most popular detergents with information that is not available on labels. The report recommends that this information be required on labels in the future.

It also recommends that all phosphate (enzyme) presoaks be removed from the market immediately because of their high phosphate proportion. It also urges that all detergents with phosphates be eliminated by the end of 1972.

In their places, the report urges, detergents should be formulated with phosphate substitutes and water softeners to suit the geographic region in which they are sold.

For the latest word on these and other points about phosphates, consult the report. It is available for 40 cents from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Claims Of Black Gains Stir Magazine Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some statistics used by presidential adviser Daniel P. Moynihan to prove the American Negro is making progress have been attacked as "seriously misleading."

The criticism came from Donald Canty, editor of the National Urban Coalition's bimonthly magazine "City." Canty said in the current issue that figures cited in Moynihan's "benign neglect" memo can be concealing as well as revealing.

Moynihan's private memo was leaked to the press more than a year after it was written. It said U. S. Negroes were making "extraordinary progress" and it suggested the Nixon administration would be wise to further the improvement process and ignore racial extremists on both sides.

Canty said the basis of Moynihan's memo was a proposition that "had been steadily gaining favor" among academic experts — "turning the emphasis from race to class."

"It was full of impressive looking statistics which the President must have found comforting indeed," Canty said. "Upon close examination, however, the statistics turned out to be highly selective and in some cases seriously misleading."

Canty said Moynihan cited figures showing that "a third (32 per cent) of all families of Negro and other races nonwhite earned $8,000 or more, in 1968 constant dollars, compared with 15 per cent in 1960."

"What Dr. Moynihan failed to point out was that in the same period, the percentage of white families earning $8,000 or more rose to 58," Canty said. "The gap was wider in 1968 than in 1960."

He said Moynihan had chosen highly selective statistics when he told Nixon: "Young Negro families are achieving income parity with young white families. Outside the South, young husband-wife Negro families have 99 per cent of the income of whites! For families headed by a male, age 25 to 34, the proportion was 87 per cent. Thus, it may be this ancient gap is finally closing."

Canty said in qualifying his figures for age, region and family composition, Moynihan had come up with statistics that concealed "that nationally, the median income of Negro families in 1968 remained only 60 per cent that of white families. In constant dollars once again, the gap had actually widened."

Canty said while Moynihan conceded black unemployment was twice that of whites, he cited a low 2.5 per cent joblessness figure for nonwhite married men. By limiting his mention to married adult men, the editor said, Moynihan did not show that the unemployment rate for all nonwhites in 1969 was 6.5 per cent.

He also objected to Moynihan's statement that the number of black professional and technical employes doubled in the 1960-68 period without pointing out that nonwhites started with 4 per cent of the total professional-technical work force and increased only to 6 per cent.

Curb Agnew, Young Foe Tells Nixon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Joseph Rhodes Jr., a member of the Presidential Commission on Campus Unrest, says he is disturbed President Nixon hasn't been able to control Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's rhetoric.

"It bothers me the president hasn't been able to quiet the vice president down," Rhodes said Sunday in response to Agnew's second public urging that Rhodes be dropped from the commission.

Agnew accused Rhodes Saturday of "harebrained, unprovable bluster" that should disqualify him from serving on the commission.

Agnew said his criticism was not aimed at Rhodes' private right to dissent, but at his role as an investigator. "Fact-finding investigation does not properly begin with a recitation of unsubstantiated opinion by the investigators," he said.

Agnew was referring to a statement by Rhodes that California Gov. Ronald Reagan was "bent on killing people for his own political gain."

Students Ready Run Of Classic Greek Play

Drama department students, who are spending the summer immersing themselves in the life of Athens in its golden age, will present the John Lewin adaptations of "The House of Atreus," "Agamemnon," "The Libation Bearer" and "The Furies," each composing one act of the final play.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. with performances also on July 25-26 and 30-31 and Aug. 1-2 and 6-9. James Dunn, chairman of the drama department, is the director.

The summer project is financed through a grant from the San Francisco Foundation. The students not only rehearse and perform, but study Athens through field trips, lectures, workshops and seminars..

The daily schedule begins at 1 p.m. and includes physical exercise, hiking or jogging, and night rehearsals and technical work until 10:30 p.m.

Professional actors Carolyn Reed-Dunn and Richard Quinn Matthews are holding classes in acting techniques. Instructors from other departments are also taking part, including Donald Palmer in philosophy, Thomas Place and Murray Peterson on mathematics. Millard Morgen on history, Scott Merrick on music, Diane Wickstrom on anthropology, and retired instructor Edwin A. Cadogan on art and architecture.

Road Contract Will Be Studied

The Rohnert Park City Council meeting today at 7 p.m., will consider awarding a contract to complete construction of Southwest Boulevard.

The council will also consider the request of the Sonoma Campus Co. for an assessment district to widen the two-lane boulevard in the El Colegio area where the group plans a college-oriented housing development.

In the same development, the council will accept a deed for nearly five acres for a neighborhood park which it purchased for $3,800, or $750 per acre.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Charley's Aunt' Back Without Style, Class

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — That grand old British farce, "Charley's Aunt," not seen on Broadway in its original form since 1940, is available again at the Brooks Atkinson Theater, where it opened Saturday night.

Brandon Thomas' 78-year-old romantic tangle is one of those durable capers that would get some laughs in the most bumbling amateur production.

The current revival, handsomely mounted, is, of course, a thoroughly professional affair, and it stirs up a lot of laughter, if the reaction of the firstnighters is to be trusted.

This despite the fact that the cast includes such genuinely stylish players as Melville Cooper, Martyn Green and Eric Berry. Three wonderfully efficient veterans.

Nor can I especially fault such younger players in top roles as Michael Goodwin, Rex Thompson, Lynn Milgrim, Andra Akers and Elizabeth Swain. They are personable and competent.

Reluctantly to the point. While he or anyone else can't fail to get laughs in the pivotal role of Lord Fancourt Babberley, perennial Oxford undergraduate who poses as Charley's aunt, I think that Louis Nye, best known as a television comedian of considerable reputation for years, is not right for the part. Even in the broadest of farce roles, a certain subtlety, an innate sense of finesse, is desirable.

Lack of this cannot be blamed on director Harold Stone insofar as this single role is concerned, yet one cannot escape the feeling he has failed to provide the sophisticated, homogeneous gloss essential to a truly pleasurable revival of this play.

In addition to the players mentioned, most of whom are commendable, especially Miss Milgrim, it must be noted that screen star Maureen O'Sullivan is an attractive asset as Charley's real aunt "From Brazil, where the nuts come from", who straightens out the various youthful romances snarled in the involved plot and acquires a romance of her own.

Robert T. Williams has provided attractive settings for producers Jay H. Fuchs, Jerry Schlossberg and John Murray.

With no desire to pick on director Stone, it should be mentioned that in the same block as "Charley's Aunt" is his staging of a revival of "Room Service" at the Edison Theater. He does much better by that slam-bang modern-day farce that doesn't call for the delicate, stylish touch.

Capsule comments:

Jack Gaver, UPI — "It lacks style, class."

James Davis, Daily News — "I had the feeling. . .that I had been stuck in some hick town on a rainy night and the only thing doing was 'Charley's Aunt,' at the nearby stock theater or high school auditorium."

Experts Say Buses Were Dynamited

LONGVIEW, Tex.(UPI)—Police said today explosive experts had determined dynamite was used to touch off a chain reaction that damaged or destroyed all 36 school buses parked in a maintenance yard Saturday.

The Longview School District will use the vehicles they can repair when busing students begins this September.

Investigators had originally theorized as many as two dozen nitroglycerin bombs were used in the incident.

No one was injured in the blast, which came shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday.

Police said they have found no one who saw anyone near the maintenance yard Saturday night. The chief avenue of investigation concerns two footprints found outside the fence which surrounds the yard.

The explosives were strung together with a heavy fuse, and all explosions came within a fraction of a second of each other.

DEEP IN THE HEART OF MARIN?

Fireworks exploded over Marin skies with the flag that the Fourth of July was all about superimposed on the picture. The fireworks were at Corte Madera Saturday night, and the flag was hanging from a deck at the residence of Walter Derr Jr. at 21 Corte Del Bayo, Larkspur. The smaller flag is the lone star of Texas which Derr brought to Marin from Dallas, where the family formerly lived.

Five Injured In Holiday Accidents

Five persons were injured, none seriously, in three traffic accidents on Marin County highways over the Fourth of July weekend, according to the California Highway Patrol.

James A. Poe Jr., 19, of North Carolina, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a spinal fracture and multiple cuts suffered in an accident on Panoramic Highway near Shoreline Highway Saturday at 10:30 p.m.

The patrol said he was a passenger in a car driven by Robert H. Bahlman, 22, of Penngrove, which left the road on a curve and plunged over an embankment, landing on its top.

Two other passengers, Kitty Hackett, 20, and Mark Tuverson, 19, both of 413 Maple Street, Tamalpais Valley, were treated for multiple cuts and bruises.

Sigurd Nordskog, 15, of 420 Oakdale Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in good condition today at the hospital with a fractured right ankle after the motorcycle he was riding spun out and crashed on Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

The driver, Lewis L. Larimer, 19, of San Francisco, was uninjured in the 3:30 p.m. accident, the patrol said.

Another motorcyclist, Donald J. Maguire, 36, of San Francisco, was treated for bruises and scrapes at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael after his machine flipped on Shoreline Highway two miles south of Stinson Beach yesterday at 4:40 p.m.

Mayors, Councilmen Will Elect Officers

New officers will be elected by the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Golden Dragon Restaurant in Sebastopol.

Former Santa Rosa mayor Jack Ryersen will be honored at the meeting.

Sewer Arguments Go To Commission

Two long-standing disputes arising from sanitary district annexations will go before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the board of supervisors chambers in the Civic Center.

Set for discussion are reconsideration of a condition on Lucky Road annexation to the Corte Madera Sanitary District and a letter from the Bayside Acres Poperty Owners Association. In both cases, residents in the areas want sewer service but don't want to annex to adjoining cities — Corte Madera and San Rafael, respectively — to get it.

Two Officers Hurt In Highway Mishap

Two California Highway Patrol officers received minor injuries in a freak accident on Highway 101 in Corte Madera yesterday, the patrol reported.

Officer Bill G. Cox, 30, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a pain in the right side and Officer James McDonald, ss, was to see his own doctor for unspecified minor injuries.

The patrol said they stopped on the northbound freeway near the Tamalpais Avenue exit at 2:30 p.m. to help George De Mello, 61, of 178 Blackstone Drive, San Rafael, retrieve a load of mattresses that had fallen from his car.

McDonald was sitting on his motorcycle on the shoulder when he was struck by a car driven by Florence L. Nestel, 50, of 25 Alvarado Avenue, Mill Valley.

Cox saw the Nestel vehicle approaching and attempted to escape by scaling a chain link fence, but the motorcycle flew through the air and pinned him momentarily.

De Mello was cited for spilling a load on the highway and Mrs. Nestel was cited for driving at an unsafe speed for conditions.

Novato Park Use Rules Vote Set

Rules to govern use of Novato parks will go before the Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

With Pioneer Memorial Park nearing completion, it has been increasingly hard to patrol it and police have made many arrests in the park.

Police Recover $13,768 Stolen From Sally Stanford

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Police yesterday recovered $13,768, including $8,000 in loose change, within hours after it had been stolen from the San Francisco mansion of Sally Stanford.

Booked at city jail on suspicion of burglary and being drunk was William Harris, 49, of Berkeley, a long-time employee of Miss Stanford. Harris had operated the parking lot of her Sausalito restaurant, Valhalla Inn.

"I'm a coin collector," Miss Stanford said of the thousands of dollars worth of coins. "I like to fool around with coins and all old money."

The money was recovered when two patrolmen came upon a parked pickup truck with the driver slumped over the steering wheel.

Scattered throughout the cab of the truck were $100 bills. In the back were eight canvas bags, each holding about 45 pounds of coins, many of them quarters.

The funds were traced to Miss Stanford when police found some receipts from her restaurant in the coin bags. Bills and coins, she said, had been pilfered from desks and drawers at her house.

Police said they borrowed automatic counting equipment to determine how much all of the coins were worth. "It was very weird," Patrolman Jack DeMartini said.

Two Back As Suspects In Burglaries

Corte Madera police have rearrested two San Francisco men charged with a Tiburon burglary on suspicion of burgling two Corte Madera apartments.

Corte Madera police acted Friday after questioning George Ruiz Gonzales, 30, and Paul Herrera, 30. Bail of $3,150 apiece was set for the Corte Badera arrests, in addition to $2,500 bail apiece set in the Tiburon charge The pair will appear today in Barin Municipal Court in the Corte Madera case.

Police said the pair used a wrench to break doorknob locks and enter the apartments of Per H. Andreassen, 214 Uplands Circle, and Dorothy P. Carey, 213 Uplands Circle. Andreassen's apartment was entered between 7:30 a.m. June 23 and 2:40 p.m. June 24 and a silver penknife taken. The Carey apartment was entered between 8:45 a.m. and 3 p.m. June 23 and a television set and silverware valued at $1,800 taken.

The pair was arraigned Thursday in the Tiburon case, in which they are charged with burgling the apartment of Anne Shearer, 2385 Paradise Drive, on Wednesday.

Some Added Symoblism In An Ancient Ceremony

There was a symbolism beyond what was intended at the ceremony in the British House of Lords last Friday when Queen Elizabeth II opened the new parliament.

Richard H. Growald of United Press International told in a moving, well-written story — which appeared in Friday's Independent-Journal — how the 70-year-old Earl Mountbatten of Burma almost fainted as he stood beside the queen during her address to the governing body. The aging earl, standing ramrod-straight and holding erect a heavy, jewel-encrusted broadsword, slumped slightly and wobbled as the queen was making her speech. His knees buckled. The sergeant-at arms stepped forward to take the sword. But the earl, recovering, shook his head sharply in refusal. And though twice more he appeared about to faint, he stood until the queen had finished speaking, then led the procession from the room with all the pomp attendant on the ancient ceremony.

WE REMEMBER Earl Mountbatten as a dapper figure leaping from his private plane (an especially remodeled U.S. attack bomber) at an airstrip in Burma in the waning days of World War II. He was then Admiral the Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of the allied Southeast Asia Command.

He is now one of the last survivors of those who held great command roles in that war. But the symbolism does not lie there.

Earl Mountbatten also represents a vanished breed — those who spread British imperialism around the world, until the maps on the walls of English schoolrooms were bright with big patches of red on every continent — denoting the lands under the Union Jack — and the saying was true that "the sun never sets on the British Empire."

HE WAS BORN to the purple, son of Prince Louis of Battenberg, who was first sea lord in 1914 and later Marquess of Milford Haven, and of Princess Victoria of Hesse, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria. Queen Elizabeth II is his cousin.

He grew up with the belief that aristocracy carries with it a responsibility for leadership. He chose the Navy as his field.

He was commanding a destroyer flotilla when World War II broke out. With his connections, he could easily have arranged a less hazardous assignment. But instead, he took command of an aircraft carrier, then trained and led the Commandos of the Royal Marines, then went to Kandy, Ceylon, to be supreme commander in Southeast Asia. The war over, he became viceroy, then governor general of India, and arranged the transfer of powers to the newly independent nations of India and Pakistan.

He did all this, just as he clung to the jeweled broadsword in the stuffy heat of the House of Lords last Friday, from a combination of pride and ambition with sense of duty. It was "what a man does." It was the Great Tradition.

THEREIN LIES the symbolism. And therein lies also a question for today:

Among the new generations of leaders throughout the world, and among the rising generation of tomorrow's leaders, are there enough who will seek the risks, who will serve without stint, who will cling to the broadsword, because it is "what a man does"? Or is the Great Tradition a fading, meaningless memory?

Hair In Perspective

Those who are so uptight about youngsters with long hair and beards and outlandish clothing should review their own history.

Dirty corduroy trousers and sweat shirts were the common male attire.

Today, hair is in. But just be patient. Sooner or later, the style and fad will change. Maybe the next change will favor a return of the grease jar. Then parents will once again wonder what perverse fad their children have taken up.

There's Fresh Wind Blowing Where The Smog Czars Sit

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

It's a lousy pun, but good news, that fresh air is blowing through the board of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

A majority of the 12 directors traditionally spend their time insisting that the real source of most air pollution was the motor vehicle.

Reassuring themselves of this debatable point, they then would launch into choruses of lament that the state and federal governments had preempted their jurisdiction over motor vehicles, so there was nothing for them to do but listen to slick operators from the automotive industry explain how hard they were working to clean up the internal combustion engine.

Which may prove to be like trying to clean up the streets of New York City.

BUT THIS SIDESHOW never caught the public's fancy. Instead, the public started to storm the directors' monthly meetings with demands for a crackdown on industry's contribution to air pollution. Industrial air pollution was more damaging to health than that from motor vehicles, many told the board.

And besides, it was time for the board to start working on controls for polluters in their jurisdiction, many said.

Some directors got the outraged public's message, but a slim majority never managed to understand where they had failed.

THAT ALL CHANGED last week with the election as chairman of Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo. He was a leader in the minority that had tried to inject some life into the board, but progress was frustratingly slow.

What made Calvo's election possible apparently was the replacement last month of three of the old-time directors. The new ones, including Sausalito City Councilman Wyman Hicks, made it clear they will accept few of the senior directors' comfortable assumptions about the district's performance.

"We're new, so we don't know what can't be done," said Pleasanton City Councilman Bernard T. Gerton.

Their ardor may pass, but by then the old district just won't be the same.

THE WINDS of change clearly discomfit some of the district's staff, but most of the staff seems excited to see the place come alive. Those who cannot make the adjustment can be expected to leave.

Looking the most unhappy in the audience were the representatives of major industries in the Bay Area. The timing of the change to the new order could not be worse for them.

District committees have been working up a batch of new regulations to control heavy pollution. Many of the staff's proposals for tough controls have been watered down by industry-dominated committees.

In times past, the board of directors routinely approved the committee recommendations — but that procedure is ancient history now. The new board knows what has been happening, and is prepared to restore many staff recommendations deleted by the committees.

Dark days are ahead for industry, but that may spell brighter days for the rest of us breathers.

California Roads Add To Tire Wear

The current furor and concern over the wearability of the tires on county sheriff's patrol cars should not come as a revelation to a Marin County or California resident. Where I was able to acquire 35,000 to 45,000 miles on new car original tires in Michigan, 8 years ago, I find I am lucky to exceed 20,000 miles in California. I have observed the following reasons for increased tire wear in California:

1. Sporadic traffic patterns and control
2. Highway layout
3. Highway construction materials

I am not a highway engineer. But, it does not take too much analysis to establish that there are 52 major turns between San Francisco and Terra Linda on Highway 101 that contribute to tire wear on an unbanked highway on turns.

Stupid stop and go driving in the high speed lane similarly contributes to tire wear. Police enforcement of expeditious travel in this lane is nil.

In fact, overall highway movement control is terrible. If the county and state patrol cars took positive action in achieving controlled maximum speeds on 101, they would probably reduce accidents, increase traffic flow rate, and reduce tire wear of the residents . . .

Don't Know What 'Economy' Means

Let me suggest to the Marin County supervisors, school boards and school administrators that they look up the definition of the seldom-used word, "Economy."

From the actions of these groups in their dealings with the 1970-71 budgets, they have absolutely no conception of the meaning of the word.

Here we are, in a recession, when all taxing units should be holding the line on salary raises and expenditures, instead they keep on spending as though Marin County property owners had money trees growing in their back yards.

Marin County has only a bedroom economy, out of which property taxes must come to finance the operations of the county and school districts. With these sky-high tax rates, no business would attempt to operate in Marin. . .

The Reed School District tax increase election was soundly defeated, after the trustees claimed this extra funding was needed to operate the district.

But somehow, when the chips are down and with all the phony talk of cutting out badly needed projects, they are still granting pay raises and are hiring seven new teachers. . .

AMA President, I-J Irresponsible

Sniping at doctors and the AMA is an old game. It must be great fun. But when you elect to express your opinion, you owe your readers a bit of homework — thoroughly done — on your part.

The current president of the AMA, Dr. Bornemier, is entitled to his opinion, as an individual, as to relieving "doctor shortage" instantly! He could be wrong and worse, irresponsible.

You know full well that the doctor whom you choose to open your heart, dig out your brain tumor, or simply differentiate acute appendicitis from a "gut ache" must be trained. If you want mass production of doctors or transition of teachers and research physicians to daily practitioners, your disappointments are assured. You can trade off a faulty car. I doubt that you'll re-assemble your body as casually.

You noted that 15 per cent of the Marin County practitioners are general practitioners and only 8 per cent are in general surgery. The lattter, a glaring error in your assumption, bespoke your failure to study even your terminology before dashing to take pen in hand. A general surgeon is a specialist. He is well-trained, by established medical rating organizations that are far more demanding than "organizations" of editorial writers. Specifically, a general surgeon operates on many areas of the body although more limited areas are attended by other specialists . . .

Dilatory remarks such as yours serve little useful purpose and probably fail even to "prod" allegedly "indifferent doctor organizations" to improve — in the image you deem suitable.

(Similarly irresponsible, the Reader's Digest in its July issue carries an article by Dr. Walter C. Bornemeier setting forth the same views he gave in his inaugural address as American Medical Association president, which was reviewed in the June 27 editorial.—Editor.)

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 6, 1960

William O. Weissich resigned as Marin County district attorney, and the board of supervisors named Roger P. Garety to succeed him.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

20 YEARS AGO

July 6, 1950

Striking Marin carpenters returned to work with promise of a 15-cent per hour pay boost.

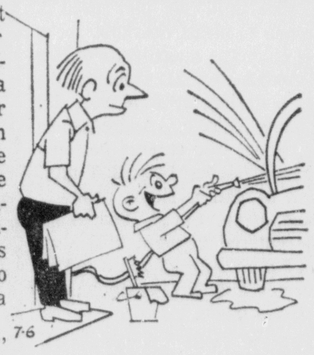
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A bedraggled kid caught suburbanite Clarence Roeser reading on the porch, and offered to wash his car for a dime. Indulgently, Mr. Roeser gave him a dime and told him to proceed. An hour later, he saw the boy heading for home and called out, "How's business today?" "Great," enthused the kid. "Mr. Jones across the street came over to watch me — and gave me a quarter not to wash his car."



"Those thar cows of mine," boasted a Maine farmer to a vacationist from Manhattan, "not only give the finest milk in the state, but they are wonderful weather forecasters. When I see 'em lying down, I know it's going to be clear. But if they're standing up — watch out for rain. It never misses.

"Wait a minute," interrupted the unimpressed vacationist. "Look at your cows now. Half of them are standing up and the other half are lying down."

"Exactly," nodded the farmer. "That means it may rain and it may not."

Moscow, Worried About Peking, Seeks New Pacts With Neighbors

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is new evidence that the Russians are increasingly worried about what Red China will do next.

The Kremlin's anxiety about Peking is coming more into the open, and it rests on the now official assertion that the Chinese Communist regime is turning toward "foreign adventures" to distract attention from domestic failure.

THE SOVIET LEADERS are beginning to do something about it:

1 — Behind the facade of updating its "treaties of friendship" with the Warsaw Pact nations, Moscow is requiring all its Eastern European satellites to pledge that they will go to war with Red China if the Soviet Union gets involved.

This is a totally new commitment never before embraced either in the Warsaw Pact or in the Russian bilateral treaties with the Eastern European Communist countries.

The latest instance is the newly revised Russian-Czechoslovak treaty which requires Prague to render "immediately all aid including military" in the event of "armed attack by any state." Heretofore, these treaties only applied to armed attack by "any European state."

2 — Now, more than before, the government-controlled media are publicly bracing the Russian people against what the Kremlin believes may lie ahead from Red China. They are doing so by discussing openly why the leadership fears Chinese intention and by telling the people that there is reason to be worred about "Chinese imperialist adventurism."

A STRONG STATEMENT of the Soviet concern over Red China, directed to home consumption, recently appeared in the important weekly, Literaturnaya Gazeta, by a journalist with high credentials, Ernst Henri. He writes:

"If Peking is mainly interested in satisfying certain power-thirsty Chinese leaders, in resurrecting Genghis Khan in the 20th century — then Chinese policy will plunge wildly into risky adventures, disregarding all real possibilities, the existing balance of power, the poverty and backwardness of its people. China would then hop from conflict to conflict, from provocation to provocation, ending it all with a world war." The Kremlin permits its chosen writers to go further. He concedes that "people think that Maoist China, despite its backwardness and relative weakness, can realize its far-reaching imperialist plan which will end by stabbing the USSR and other socialist countries in the back."

AND THEN THIS warning to the Chinese:

"China in a moment of total hysteria may leap, eyes closed, into the kind of adventure that will seriously endanger the whole world. But neither the material nor the ideological forces of Maoism will suffice to reach the target. Those Chinese who can think, including such Chinese politicians as are endowed with any common sense, would do well to reflect and ponder this. They should look around at the world and recall their country's past."

It is evident that the Kremlin wants its own people more alert to dangers from China and wants the Chinese aware that they could easily risk their country being occupied by foreign powers "as in the past."

OBVIOUSLY any military aid which the Eastern European satellites could give the Soviet Union in the event of war with China would be slight, almost negligible. But there are three possible objectives behind the recent journeys of Premier Kosygin and party chief Brezhnev to forge this new network of expanded military commitments.

These commitments could help produce the maximum political and diplomatic support among the Communist nations in the event of Sino-Soviet conflict. They would probably assure some token aid and could help contain temptation on the part of any of the European satellites to strike for their own independence, if the Russians were long preoccupied on the Sino-Soviet front.

Moscow may be overworried about Red China — but maybe not. They're closer than we are.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

'Power To The People'— But Death For Protest

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Red China, which has aggressively instigated and encouraged youth rebellion and disaffection in other countries, is getting a dose of its own medicine.

For some weeks, authoritative sources inside China have reported increasing instances of turbulent youth disturbances and dissension, particularly among university and high school students.

According to the intelligence reports, the Mao Tse-tung regime is resorting to extreme repressive measures — outright executions in particularly disturbed areas, and thousands exiled in others, some for life.

Following are latest accounts of what happened to malcontent youth in a number of sections:

KWANGTUNG PROVINCE — Scores of students were executed after a series of demonstrations and disturbances against being ordered to quit classes and go to work on farms, roads, irrigation and other rural projects. Foremost among those shot were dissident student leaders. Practically all were wiped out.

Simultaneous with these wholesale executions, authorities launched a "re-education program aimed especially at high school students. Large numbers of them were sent to the countryside where their "re-education" was put in the hands of peasants.

ANHWEI PROVINCE — Several hundred students and graduates from "senior and junior middle schools" were rounded up and shipped to rural areas. At the same time, a new program of "Red children's classes" was launched to "thoroughly and fully indoctrinate them in the proletarian revolutionary cause." All children between the ages of 5 and 10 must attend these mind-forming classes.

THROUGH-OUT CHINA — Posters are appearing denouncing student protestors and dissenters as "criminals," "enemies of Mao Tse-tung," and "imperialists' spies and agents."

One of these propaganda placards, brought to Hong Kong by an escaping youth, reads: "Decisively liquidate the bad elements who fan the wind of criminal opposition among youth. Destroy the decadent youth who become victims of these enemy agents. Raise the class awareness of children to deepen their love for Mao Tse-tung."

Sign Of Summer In Seventies: All's Quiet On College Campus

The office navigator took a sight out the window the other day with his solstice or whatever it is and announced that summer is here.

Among the blessings of summer in recent years we must include the soothing quiet that falls over our college campuses. There was a time in my youth when campuses seemed quiet all year around, though my grandchildren some day may dismiss that as the unreliable recollection of senility.

At any rate, College of Marin this season looks almost restored to its onetime restful state and one could almost expect to see sheep grazing on the lawns.

It is not by any means deserted, however. There are 1,745 students taking credit courses. This is a considerable drop from the 2,319 of last summer but easily enough to keep the coffee machines busy at the student center.

No student government, no manifestoes, just students going to class and teachers teaching them.

Perhaps the way to keep our nation's colleges calm is to declare every term a summer session.

JUST OFF the campus, summer brings the opposite of calm. A street crew is tearing up College Avenue to move water lines before the next phase of flood control work begins, and traffic picks its way among big trucks and over bumpy temporary backfill.

There's another obstacle course along Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, where the street is being torn up to lay telephone conduits and gas lines. Traffic moves smartly despite the stricture, partly because school is out and there are fewer cars on the road.

ANOTHER SIGN of summer, and one more welcomed by motorists, is the mushrooming of miniskirted hitchhikers. In Marin there is always a supply of hitchhikers, but the girls come out mostly in summertime. Perhaps they're in school the rest of the year, or won't hitchhike in cold weather.

One exception is a girl who hitchhikes from Larkspur, apparently into San Francisco, every morning. Most days she wears a flame-red coat and it appears she has some regular lifts, because she always manages a ride before 8:30 a.m.

Another girl has appeared of late along Magnolia Avenue, holding up a neatly handprinted sign for "San Francisco Financial District."

What a shame that such a simple human thing as giving someone a lift has become an issue! Both driver and hitchhiker operate with a fear — unfortunately well-grounded — that the other may not be trustworthy, but bent on robbery or attack.

ART BUCHWALD

That 'Extremely Urgent' Message You Overlooked Probably Wasn't

Some years ago I found myself on the north coast of Haiti, east of Cap Haitian. The overseer of a large sisal plantation, Lee Anderson, had invited me to be his guest for a few weeks.

It was a lovely part of the country, completely removed from urban lights, sights and sounds, and apparently Lee, his wife and 8-year-old daughter thoroughly enjoyed their solitary life.

About every three months, Anderson drove down the winding road through the mountains, across the Artigonite Valley to Port au Prince to pick up supplies and an accumulation of his home town newspaper, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Then, back home, each morning Mrs. Anderson placed, in sequence, one of the fading newspapers next to his berakfast plate and Lee would drink his black coffee and mutter over the happenings that had occurred three months earlier, and were of little, if any, importance now to the distant outside world.

Anderson always hospitably divided his paper with me and I poured over it with as much relish as if I were reading for the first time the fresh news of the previous day.

ONCE AND ONLY once, I unfortunately informed Lee of the outcome in a certain political election. It was as though I had named the murderer in a mystery thriller he had just begun to read. His face reddened, the veins stuck out in his neck. I had ruined his whole day.

The time spent with Lee began to take on a weird, unreal cast. It was a kind of crazy quilt existance which slowly and gently pushed me out of my time and place. Frequently I found myself feeling disoriented and as if I were wearing an electric sign and it was blinking, "Tilt."

A nudging notion came to me out of this Kafkaesque experience that perhaps we, all of us, put too much stress on unimportant matters of our daily lives, or on matters we are led to believe are important.

AFTER LEAVING the Cap Haitian plantation, I went on to other places, other experiences, but the curious thought persisted. When I returned to the States several months later, I found my accumulated mail filled a large carton. I attacked that impressive pile apprehensively, but much to my surprise I discovered few letters of any consequence in the box. Sure there were personal notes from friends, some bills marked "Third Notice," and some of the envelopes were even labeled "IMPORTANT!" But there was nothing that I felt required immediate attention, least of all, those marked "IMPORTANT!"

Right then my insipient suspicions were confirmed that many of us are pressured to act on "important" and "urgent" matters that seldom are as important or as urgent as we are led to believe -- or as we convince ourselves to believe.

SO, I'M HAPPY to say, from that day on I've opened my mail whenever I've gotten around to it. Occasionally, weeks pass before my letter opening spirit descends upon me. I've discovered that I've missed nothing much of importance. Oh, a wedding or two perhaps, an auction of antique Persian rugs, or a $50 a plate dinner for an aspiring political candidate. On the other hand, there's a plus side. The telephone company, tight-lipped over my disregard of their pink and blue reminders, suspended its service to my house — providing a blessed relief from the jangling rings which, in keeping with my newfound insight, I answered only when my telephone answering spirit descended upon me.

One Killed, Three Missing In Boat Wreck

LAKEPORT (UPI)—One man was killed and three persons were missing Sunday in a boat collision on Clear Lake.

The dead man was identified as Charles R. Barnett, of Santa Rosa. The missing were believed to be a woman and her two young daughters, 3 and 5 years of age, who were boating with Barnett.

Nine Arrested For Swimming, Sunning In Nude

Nine nude sunbathers and swimmers, five of them juveniles, have been arrested at Cascade Reservoir in Mill Valley as soaring summer temperatures brought about 90 persons to the controversial Southern Marin watering spot.

The arrests were made Thursday by Mill Valley police, who swooped down on the soon-to-be-closed reservoir. Cited for being nude in a public park were Raymond Joseph Arsenault, 35, of Stinson Beach; John Lawrance Alioto, 19, Robert Bruce Baron, 24, and Roderick Francis Gracia, 20, all of San Francisco; a 16-year-old youth from Perris, Riverside County; two girls, 16 and 17, from Coos Bay, Ore., and two 13-year-old Mill Valley girls.

The aduits were released on a promise to appear in Marin Municipal Court Friday and the teen-agers were referred to probation authorities.

Strawberry Annexation

Land development in Strawberry and the city of Tiburon's plan to annex the area will be discussed in an adjourned meeting of directors of the Strawberry Recreation District July 15 at 8 p.m. in Strawberry Point School.

Fire Destroys Napa Mansion

NAPA (UPI)—Puerta Dorada, a stone structure built in 1887 as a winery and then converted into a country home, was ruined Sunday by a blaze that firemen blamed on firecrackers.

The Division of Forestry crew that fought the fire said a shingle roof was ignited by fireworks.

Jose Cebrian, who owned the showplace, said, "Mostly, we just stood helplessly by" because the "furniture was too massive to move."

Mel Morse New Rotarian Leader

Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Marin County Humane Society, has been installed as president of the Rotary Club of San Rafael.

Couple Held As Suspects In Burglary

A Marin man and woman were arrested on suspicion of burglary yesterday, San Anselmo police reported, when police found the woman in a car outside a residence and then watched the man emerge from the second story.

Stephen Robert Carrino, 22, of 5 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, and Delores Marie Burke, 27, of 86 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, were held at Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said an off-duty officer reported at 9 p.m. he saw a car drive past the Othello F. Michetti residence at 37 Indian Rock Road, a man get out and enter the house, and the car drive on.

Police reached the residence, they said, as the car driven by Mrs. Burke returned and stopped. A moment later, Carrino emerged from a second-story porch door and was halted by police.

Police said household items were piled inside the house for quick removal, and that an oriental rug in the Burke car was identified by the Michettis as theirs.

Assault Suspect Detained On Bail

Richard Wayne Dillon, 36, of 19 Scenic Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony assault, disturbing the peace and being under the influence of drugs, San Rafael police reported.

Dillon was held at Marin County Jail on $3,125 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Dillon was reported by police to have forced his way into the apartment of Lorraine Veronica Prezalar, 18 Thomas Court, and to have struck her with his fist, knocking her to the floor. After police arrived he struck her again, knocking her head into a wall, according to police.

Planners To Discuss Rezoning In Tiburon

The Tiburon Planning Commission will meet today at 8 p.m. at City Hall to consider a recommendation to the City Council on rezoning the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in the city to park classification to permit its acquisition for a pedestrian and bicycle path.

Also on the agenda are recommendations to the County Planning Department on two apartment projects outside Tiburon city limits but within the city's sphere of interest — an 18-unit development on Pelican Hill and a 202-unit project in Strawberry.

Two Honored On Leaving Military Ranks

Two San Rafael Army officers with a combined total of 54 years of military service were among 15 career soldiers honored at retirement ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Col. Albert C. Huggard and Lt. Col. Henry H. Gaskins retired after 27 years of service each.

Col. Huggard had served as chief of the mobilization branch at the Presidio since June 1968. He was presented the Meritorious Service Medal at retirement ceremonies and also holds the Bronze Star and the Bronze Star with the V device.

Col. Huggard, his wife, Jeanne, and a daughter reside at 678 Woodbine Drive.

Col. Gaskins, who served with the Medical Service Corps for the greater part of his military career, was assigned to Letterman General Hospital in the Presidio in February 1969 after completing a year's duty at Martin Army Hospital at Fort Benning, Ga.

He and his wife, Juanita, and two children live at 2 Wintergreen Terrace.

Proxmire Flays Pentagon Outlay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., today accused the Pentagon of spending nearly $2 billion, without specific congressional approval, for an automated battlefield system Proxmire said could get out of control and menace civilians.

Proxmire said the system is "an effort to develop a totally new method of waging ground warfare." He said it is composed of complex electronic equipment such as sensors, lasers and computers.

He called the automatic battlefield "a classic example of the Pentagon's foot-in-the-door technique. Small sums spent on research and development are escalated into billions for new weapons systems, which have never received a detailed and critical review by Congress as a whole."

A President Pays Tax Installments

NEW DELHI (UPI) — President V. V. Giri of India is paying $666 a month, nearly half his salary, to pay back income taxes.

Giri told a reception Sunday in his hometown of Behrampur in Orissa state the income tax department asked him to pay off some $2,000 due from his private earnings from landed property and royalties from his books.

He said he could not clear the arrears in a lump sum so he asked the finance minister to let him pay the back taxes in three installments.

Giri receives about $1,334 a month.

Pair Taken Off Critical List

Two persons seriously injured in an automobile accident June 14 were taken off the critical list and reported out of immediate danger at Marin General Hospital today.

The hospital said Daniel Nicholson, 29, of 1 Cresta Circle, Apt. 7, San Rafael, and Ellen Seibert, 28, of San Francisco, were both in poor condition with skull fractures. Neither has regained consciousness since the accident, the hospital said.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Nicholson's car skidded off Indian Valley Road near Novato and struck a tree, ejecting the woman, who also suffered fractures of both legs.

Corte Madera Council Agenda

Rules for groups using town park facilities will be discussed again by the Corte Madera Town Council when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the council chamber. An ordinance also is to be introduced governing conduct on public property.

Sitting as the board of Sanitary District 2, the council also will introduce an ordinance to establish a formula for additional sewage service charges for high-volume users, those using more than 4,000 gallons of water per day per acre.

Actual rate to apply under the formula is not specified in the ordinance, and residential users will not be affected.

Chlorine Fumes Affect Swimmers

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (UPI) — About 70 persons, many of them children, were overcome by chlorine fumes from a broken dispenser Sunday at a crowded public swimming pool.

Fire Chief William R. Tripp said no one was seriously hurt but more than 60 persons were treated at San Gabriel Community Hospital and eight others at a facility in nearby Monterey Park.

The incident occurred in the early afternoon while attendants at the Smith Park Pool were placing a new bottle of chlorine into the automatic dispenser and a valve broke.

Silkscreen Class To Be Conducted

The four-hour sessions will begin at 9 a.m. weekdays. Enrollment will be limited to persons with some knowledge of silkscreen printing.

Seven Booked As Suspects In Tam Fires

Seven youths, including two from Larkspur, were booked into the Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of camping and starting fires in a restricted area on Mount Tamalpais, state rangers reported.

Ranger Jimmie W. Phillips said the youths were spotted at 1:30 a.m. about a quarter mile above Boot Jack Camp with two campfires blazing on uncleared ground.

Arrested were Coy Lee McBroom 18, of Rio Linda, Sacramento County; Nicholas Oliver, 18, and Richard Paul Ortega, 18, both of 234 Hawthorne Avenue, Larkspur; Paul Aldo Semona, 19, and John Anthony Vella, 18, both of San Francisco; Thomas P. Renison, 18, of Elverta, Sacramento County, and Steven W. Broom, 19, of El Cerrito.

The five youths from outside Marin were released on $65 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court July 7. The two Larkspur youths remained in jail Saturday in lieu of $65 bail. They are to appear today in the municipal court.

'Street People' Carry Cong Flag, Go Wild In Berkeley

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Young persons celebrating Independence Day went on two rampages in Northern California—on Telegraph Avenue in Berkeley and in Yosemite National Park.

Park rangers, reinforced by sheriff's deputies from the San Joaquin Valley, arrested 90 persons at Yosemite, as about 500 youngsters looted campsites, overturned automobiles and threw rocks and bottles.

In Berkeley, police said they were caught by surprise when more than 300 "street people" carried a Viet Cong flag from a wine drinking party and started smashing windows.

During the hour before police could call up enough manpower the "street people" broke windows in 53 businesses in a five-block area as rocks, bottles and firecrackers flew through the air.

Police made four arrests among the "street people," some of whom were University of California students and other hippie types who make their headquarters in Berkeley. No policeman was injured but a photographer was beaten.

Trouble started in Yosemite when rangers on horseback rode into Camp 15 at Stillman Meadows in the valley's northeast section and tried to arrest a youth dressed as a hippie.

As fighting broke out, 50 rangers moved in with the help of more than 80 law enforcement officers from near jurisdictions and restored order.

Election Scheduled

Election of board officers and a discussion of the citizens' building advisory committee report are scheduled at 8 p.m. before the Shoreline Unified School District board, meeting at the district administration office, John Street, Tomales.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Promptly Relieved

In many cases Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itching and actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients showed this to be true in many cases. In fact, many doctors, themselves, use Preparation H® or recommend it for their families. Preparation H ointment or suppositories.

Pollution Board Asks More Staff

A plea for more state money to beef up its overworked staff will be considered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Alameda County Public Works Building auditorium, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward.

The board now has a staff of 20, including seven stenographers. Its staff has proposed adding eight more employees in fiscal 1971-72, citing "increasingly heavy workloads" under the state's tough new antipollution law.

The board also will consider setting tougher controls on handling fuel loading to avoid bay spills.

Folk Dance Classes

Marin folk dance groups have scheduled 21 folk dance classes and sessions until July 18 throughout the county.

TV IN REVIEW

Wide Variety Of Fare On Holiday

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Honor America Day" ceremonies, the silent majority's answer to Woodstock, were televised from Washington, D.C. in great detail during the July 4th weekend by all the major networks.

Both commercial and educational television offered lengthy broadcasts Saturday in covering the day and night events that ranged from patriotic songs to religious evocations and, later, to top show business entertainment.

Televiewers saw the large turnout of spectators that showed up at the Lincoln Memorial, where Billy Graham's oratory highlighted the daytime services, and at the Washington Monument, where the entertainment hosted by Bob Hope took place in the evening.

Hope and Graham were co-chairmen of the nationwide observances marking Independence Day.

At times during the ceremonies, televiewers could hear the shouts of some demonstrators who tried to intrude on the day's events, but their effect seemed minor.

In addition to Graham's impassioned sermon, the highlight of the daytime happenings was Kate Smith's eternally rousing rendition of "God Bless America," which has been a national fixture, as sung by her, since the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The evening show, which was culminated by a colorful fireworks display, included, in addition to Hope, such stars as Red Skelton, Jack Benny, Dorothy Lamour and Glen Campbell. The finale consisted of patriotic music and choral work that blended in with the fireworks and brought cheers from the audience on hand.

There was little question that Skelton was the biggest hit of the entertainment. And there was no doubt that he was really something special.

A's Open Key Series With Twins In Coliseum

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Managers Lefty Phillips of the California Angels and John McNamara of the Oakland Athletics are in agreement on one point—they will have to do it themselves if either team expects to catch Minnesota.

The A's get the first crack at the Twins starting tonight at Oakland when they start a three-game series and Minnesota then comes to Anaheim for four games.

TWO OF THREE

The Angels scored their second win in three games over the A's Sunday by a 5-1 score and the loss dropped Oakland 2 1-2 games behind California and 6 1-2 behind Minnesota.

"We didn't get too many hits in the series," McNamara said. "But we'll try to get back against Minnesota. If we can help ourselves, we'll be helping the Angels also."

Andy Messersmith, who hadn't won a game since June 12, was Sunday's winner and after the game the righthander revealed he had been suffering from a virus and a sore throat.

STILL WEAK

"I'm still a little weak and after the seventh inning I told Lefty I just couldn't go any more," Messersmith said. "Even though I got the win, I didn't think the game was a good sample of what I could do. I didn't like walking five men."

But the Angels mounted a 12-hit attack against the Athletics that included triples by Alex Johnson, Roger Repoz and Jim Fregosi and a pair of hits by Jim Spencer that drove in two runs.

The win was Messersmith's seventh against eight losses. Last year the righthander was 0-5 until June 3 and then went on to post a 16-11 record.

FOUR HITS

Despite his virus and weakness, Messersmith allowed only four hits and no runs in his stint. The only Oakland run was unearned and came in the ninth off reliever Ken Tatum who posted his 14th save.

The loss was charged to Rollie Fingers, the first of four A's hurlers, who went four innings, giving up seven hits and three runs to make his record 5-6.

WIMBLEDON

Tourney Lacking, Says The Press

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Ausrailia's Margaret Court today rested an injured ankle that could endanger her bid to become the second woman to achieve the grand slam of tennis. John Newcombe rested on his laurels.

Mrs. Court said Sunday night she would pass up the Irish Open in Dublin this week and remain in London for at least 10 days resting her left ankle, injured in her drive for the women's final of the 84th All-England lawn tennis championships.

She said her doctor told her the ankle's strained ligaments received further damage in her victorious, marathon two-set final against Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., Friday.

The doctor warned her that if she plays again too soon, it could endanger her career, Mrs. Court said.

The big Australian girl, with the Australian, French and Wimbledon titles under her belt, said she still plans to compete in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills in September in a bid to become the second girl since America's Maureen Connolly to achieve the grand slam of the big four titles in one season.

British sports writers, meanwhile, praised Newcombe as a "thorough-going professional" for his five-set victory over Australian compatriot Ken Rosewall Saturday to win the Wimbledon men's title for the second time.

But they had less kind things to say about the granddaddy of all tennis tournaments this year.

"The usual excitement and crackling atmosphere were missing," the Daily Express said, noting that attendance was down by 15,000 from last year.

The tournament organizers blamed it on color television, the cold weather and the lack of newcomers to challenge the old guard.

The two-week tournament drew only a daily average of just over 20,000. Many fans stayed home to watch the action on color sets they had rented for the Brazil-Italy soccer championship final in Mexico, played the day before Wimbledon started.

MISS WALSH BACK IN U.S. WITH TITLE

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, winner of the 1970 Wimbledon Junior Tennis Championships in England is back in the U.S. today, at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Miss Walsh, who was graduated last month from San Rafael High School, rallied to win the title Saturday from M. Kroshina of Russia, 8-6, 6-4, after being down 5-0.

A surprise winner earlier over fifth-ranked Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., and third-ranked Helen Gourlay of England in women's singles, before being eliminated by Francois Durr of France, Miss Walsh is the second bay area player in the last three years to win the junior crown. Kristy Pigeon of Danville did it in 1968.

Moon Man's Scientific Approach

LONDON, Ont. (UPI) — "The pro from the moon" used the "scientific approach" to win the $125,000 Canadian Open golf tournament Sunday.

Kermit Zarley, the 29-year-old golfer from Houston, Tex., with the odd sounding Dutch-German name, gained some measure of fame a few years ago when comedian Bob Hope referred to him as "the pro from the moon" because of his unusual name. But Zarley made his own place in the spotlight Sunday with a three stroke victory worth $25,000.

FINAL 67

Zarley fired a final round five-under-par 67 to finish the 72-hole event at nine-under 279. Gibby Gilbert of Hollywood, Fla., the first round leader, finished second at 282 while Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bob Stone tied for third place at 283.

Rodriguez and Labron Harris had shared the lead after three rounds but quickly fell out of contention with final 18 hole scores of 75 and 76, respectively. Zarley, responding to the pressure, saved his best round of the tourney for last with his scientific approach.

"Golf is scientific and you do what your scorecard tells you," Zarley said, referring to the listed distances a golfer marks on his card. "That way, a golfer knows how far he is from the pin at any point on the fairway, and can pick his clubs correctly.

TENSE

His only bogey in a six-birdie round Sunday came on 15. At that point, the tall golfer, playing with Art Wall, began to feel tense.

"The pressure started to mount on the last four holes," Zarley said. "And if you keep quiet, the pressure really starts to mount."

Oldtimers Game Slated Aug. 16

ANAHEIM (UPI)—American and National League stars of the 1950s will compete in the second annual Oldtimers Game at Anaheim Stadium Aug. 16, with Casey Stengel and Fred Haney as the rival managers.

The format of the game was determined by a vote of California Angels fans and the contest will be a preliminary to a regularly scheduled game between the Angels and the Detroit Tigers.

In the first Oldtimers Game last summer the rival teams were made up of former Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers players.

Stengel led the New York Yankees to 10 pennants from 1949 to 1960 while Haney, former general manager of the Angels, won pennants with the Milwaukee Braves in 1957 and 1958.

Donna Caponi Still Waiting For Phone Call From Nixon

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Donna Caponi, her second straight U.S. Women's Open golf championship safely tucked away just as she predicted, is still waiting for a phone call.

"President Nixon hasn't called me in two years," she quipped. "I think that's pretty bad.

"When I saw Orville Moody (the 1969 U.S. Open champion last year) I told him you got a call from the President and I didn't" Miss Caponi said.

But after staging one of the most thrilling victories a person could stand she wasn't going to let anything bother her. She's going to relax for a week and then go after another triumph.

FOUR-FOOTER

Miss Caponi won the title Sunday on Muskogee Country Club's 6,210-yard par 71 golf course. But she had to sink a four-foot putt for a double bogey six on the 18th hole to do it. The ball teetered on a couple of blades of grass and then plopped into the right side of the cup.

This eliminated a three-way 18-hole playtff which would have included herself, Sandra Spuzich, the 1966 champion, and Sandra Haynie. Miss Caponi picked up the $5,000 first prize in the $30,000 event while the two Sandras, who finished just one stroke back, got $2,000 apiece.

TIES RECORD

Although she soared to a six-over par 77 in the last round, Miss Caponi's 287 total ties the record for the Open under the U.S. Golf Association and makes her the first champion to repeat since Mickey Wright in 1958-55.

After rounds of 69, 70 & 71, she started the final day three under par and nursing a seemingly comfortable three shot lead. But playing head-to-head with Miss Spuzich, she watched it melt away.

All week long Miss Caponi had been a picture of optimism, confidently predicting after each round she would be the winner. The pressure finally caught up with her on the 390-yard 18th hole, which plays uphill all the way.

SHAKING

"I was shaking so badly on the 18th hole that I don't remember swinging at it at all," she said, "I just renember it going away."

The drive was in the right rough, her second shot in the left rough and short, her third in the tall grass behind the green and her fourth stroke still short of the putting surface. Her fifth was four feet past the hole.

"I never defeated myself," she said. "I never gave up."

The champ has been living with her parents and sister Janet in a camper-trailer all week. Her father, Harry Caponi, a club pro in Burbank, Calif., gave her a bear hug when the putt dropped. He is the only person who has ever given her golf instructions, beginning when she was only 6 years old. Janet, 23, is a professional too. But she missed the cut in the open.

Giants Take On Braves After A Dodger Disaster

ATLANTA (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, the wind knocked out of them by the Los Angeles Dodgers during the weekend, start all over again tonight against the Atlanta Braves with Jerry Johnson making his first start of the season.

The Giants were shut out by Bill Singer and the Dodgers, 4-0, Sunday as they suffered their first home series sweep by Los Angeles since 1962. It also was their fourth loss in the last five games and just about doomed them for 1970 as they fell 19 games behind Cincinnati.

WAY OUT

The battle for second place appears about over, too, because they are now 9 1-2 games behind that spot, occupied by the Dodgers. Third place is within range because they trail the Braves by only three.

Johnson, who has been a big disappointment since the Giants picked him up from St. Louis in exchange for Frank Linzy, has no won-lost record with the Giants this year. He moves into the starting rotation because manager Charlie Fox wants to rest his other regulars an extra day.

ROTATION

That means Rich Robertson will pitch Tuesday night, Gaylord Perry on Wednesday and Juan Marichal on Thursday. None has distinguished himself of late, especially Marichal, who appears healthy but can't get batters out with any regularity.

In Sunday's loss to the Dodgers the Giants never were in the game as Singer limited them to singles by Bob Heise and Willie McCovey.

Down the drain went a fine pitching performance by Frank Reberger, his first real contribution this season.

Reberger came to Mike Mccormick's rescue with two on and none out in the third and gave up only one hit in the next six innings while striking out five.

BIG BLOWS

Homers by Bill Grabarkewiz and Jim Lefebvre were the Dodgers' big blows off McCormick, who was touched for four hits and four runs in two-plus innings and suffered his fourth loss in seven decisions.

During the three-game Dodger series Willie Mays managed only one hit in 12 at-bats and still is 10 hits short of the 3,000 plateau. During the same series, McCovey had two hits in 12 at-bats.

Drake Jumps To DiMaggio League Lead

The Drake Pirates defeated Terra Linda, 2-1 yesterday and took over first place from idle Mill Valley in the Southern division of the Marin County Joe DiMaggio baseball league.

Moving into a second place tie with the Chiefs, who meet Holiday Magic this evening at San Rafael, was the Italian Club, which downed Toby's Truckers, 4-2.

Terra Linda's lead in the North was cut to a half game as second place Annex Motors beat Healdsburg, 6-3. In a game of last place teams, the Presidio of the South walloped San Marin, 20-2.

PERFECT

Ken Zepponi's perfect squeeze bunt scored Mark Shepard with Drake's winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning. Cappy Purcell and Steve Hale each had a pair of hits for the Pirates, whose record is now six wins and two losses.

Rich LaDoux doubled home Bob Berry in the sixth inning to give the Italian Club its fifth victory against a pair of losses. Jim Werburg went the distance for the win, striking out 12. Both runs off him were scored by Kevin Keating and driven in by Scott Cozza. Terra Linda's record is now 5-4.

FANS 14

Mike Lamb fired a four hitter and struck out 14 as Annex Motors ran its record even at 4-4. Bob Lawrence contributed a pair of singles to the winning effort. Healdsburg has only one victory in eight games.

San Marin hasn't won a game since joining the league and didn't come close against the Presidio, which amassed 17 hits against the Novatans. Rich Madera highlighted Presidio's attack with four hits in five trips including a pair of doubles.

Chi Cheng Leaves No Doubts

The diminutive Nationalist Chinese girl athlete, representing the Los Angeles Track club, sped the 220 in 22.4 seconds in the 47th annual National AAU Women's Track and Field Championships at UCLA.

Officials ruled, however, she was aided by a 5.3 mile wind and the time could not be considered a record. Friday Miss Chi had posted a new world mark of 22.6 in a heat, which will be submitted. It bettered her own pending mark of 22.7 set last month at Portland, Ore.

10.2 VICTORY

Miss Chi also won the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds, a new meet record but not as fast as her own record mark of 10.0 set June 13.

Prior to leaving for a two-month European tour, Miss Chi expressed her disappointment that her effort in the 220 was wind aided.

"I know now that I can run 22.4 and maybe faster," she said. "I told my coach I wanted to run 22.5."

Although Miss Chi's sprint victories highlighted the finals of the meet, three American records were bettered and the Mayor Daley Youth Foundation captured the team title with 54 points.

Mavis Laing, a 16-year-old athlete representing the Phoenix Track Club, became the first American woman ever to better 53 seconds in the 440 when she won her event in 52.9 seconds. The old mark of 53.3 was set by Charlette Cooke of the Los Angeles Mercurettes in 1966.

RECORDS

Records also were set in the 440 yard relay in which a Tennessee State team of Mattline Render, Debra Smith, Martha Watson and Iris Davis set a mark of 45.2 to better the record of 45.5 set by the U.S. National team in 1961.

The Atoms Track Club of New York team of Michelle McMillian, Shelley Marshall, Gale Fitzgerald and Cheryl Toussaint set a mile mark of 3:41.3 to better its own record of 3:46.2.

Miss Toussaint also won the 880 yard run in 2:05.1 while Francie Larrieu, 17-year-old sister of star distance runner Ron Larrieu, won the 1500 meters in 4:20.8.

He used talk as a safety valve, or, as he put it later, "I started to rap a lot."

Wall, a veteran on the tour and a former Canadian Open winner, also helped relieve the tension, Zarley said.

The deeply religious Zarley said that when he finally met evangelist Billy Graham, something he'd long wanted, even the eloquent Graham had trouble with Zarley's name, calling him "Zermit" three times.

KEPT LOOSE

Wall, remembering that and thinking humor might ease the weight on Zarley, kept calling him "Zermit" Sunday, and between the misnomer and his own chatter, Zarley kept loose enough to win.

Zarley, who has won more than $200,000 in his six years on the tour, said he'd use the $25,000 to buy a house for his wife, Marilyn.

The best Canadian was also the best amateur as Nick Weslock of Brantford, Ont., had a 289.

French Yacht Finally Found; At Finish Line

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—Concern over the whereabouts of the French yacht Pen Duick III ended Sunday when skipper Eric Tabarly of Quiberon, France, brought his 57-foot schooner into Papeete harbor in the Los Angeles-Tahiti yacht race.

Tabarly had failed to give a position report on his yacht from the time it left Los Angeles harbor June 15 until its arrival here. It was the sixth boat in the fleet of 14 to finish the 3,571-mile race.

The 73-foot ketch Blackfin was the first across the finish line at 9:20 p.m. Friday local time and the 20 days it took in the race was far slower than the race record of 17 days, 7 hours and 57.55 minutes set by the Ticonderoga in 1964. Blackfin was sailed by Kenneth Demeuse of Hayward, Calif.

Although Blackfin was the first to finish, the handicap winner will not be determined until all the 14 craft have ended the race.

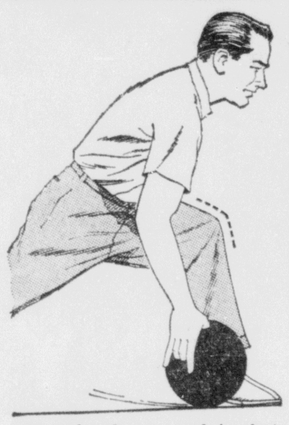
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Some bowlers complain that their ball makes almost as much noise when it hits the lane as it does when it hits the pins. If this is the case with you, you are robbing yourself of strikes and probably causing an unnecessary number of splits. Concentrate on setting the ball down gently from a low angle. Again, make sure your knee is bent sharply, as shown in today's illustration.

Reds' Simpson Wins 13th Game

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wayne Simpson may be the only pitcher in the National League whom teammate Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds would rather catch than hit against, and that about sums up the kind of respect the batters have developed for the 21-year-old rookie.

Simpson, a strapping 6-foot-3, 220-pound righthander, hurled a four-hitter Sunday for his 10th consecutive victory and 13th in 14 decisions as the Reds beat the Houston Astros, 3-1, and now the youngster finds himself in the likely position of being called upon to start for the NL in the All-Star game, July 14.

FEWER HITS

Simpson, who has given up fewer hits per inning then any other pitcher in the majors this season, also stands a good chance of becoming the first rookie in the league to win 20 games since Harvey Haddix in 1953. And, if things keep going the way they have thus far for Simpson, he could surpass Grover Cleveland Alexander's 59-year old record of most wins by a rookie (28).

Reds' manager Sparky Anderson sees Simpson as a possible Cy Young Award winner as the best pitcher in the league. No rookie has ever captured that trophy.

"The guy has to be a definite contender for the Cy Young Award," says Anderson. "Pretty soon opposing clubs won't ask 'will he falter?' It'll be, 'will we hit him?' As the years go by he'll get stronger and the only way clubs will beat him will be the way they used to beat Sandy Koufax, 1-0 and 2-1."

"After one pitch Simpson made to Denis Menke, I turned to plate umpire Ken Burkhardt and said 'I'm glad I'm catching and not hitting.' A couple of times Simpson buried my hand in the glove with his fastball. You never know which way his fastball is going to go. It tails, it sinks, it sails. You name it, his fastball does it," said Bench.

In other NL games, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco, 4-0; New York edged Philadelphia, 5-4; Pittsburgh defeated Chicago, 5-2; San Diego nipped Atlanta, 6-5, and St. Louis whipped Montreal, 6-3.

Washington swept a twinbill from the Yankees by identical 7-3 scores; Baltimore blanked Detroit, 2-0; Minnesota walloped Chicago, 12-3; Boston beat Cleveland, 8-4; California topped Oakland, 5-1; and Milwaukee edged Kansas City, 2-1 in American League action.

Simpson's complete game victory was the 23rd route-going performance turned in by the Reds' staff this season, equalling their entire output for 1969. The Reds scored all three of their runs in the sixth off Denny Lemaster, with Bench driving home one run with a double and scoring another on a single by Lee May.

KOOSMAN WINS

Ron Swoboda hit his first homer since May 31 and Jerry Koosman notched his fifth victory as the Mets beat the Phillies and clung to their half-game lead in the East Division. Koosman worked seven innings to get credit for the victory. Deron Johnson had a homer for the Phillies.

Rich Hebner's two-run homer and three singles by Matty Alou sparked the Pirates' triumph. The game was marred by a fight between the two clubs in the ninth with manager Leo Durocher of the Cubs and pitcher Dock Ellis of the Pirates the antagonists. The game also featured an injury to first base umpire Tom Gorman, who suffered a broken right ankle when involved in a collision at first with Pirates' first baseman Al Oliver in the first inning.

San Francisco Boxer Triumphs

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — Ray Lunny of San Francisco scored one of only two victories by the United States Sunday in a 9-2 defeat by the Romanian national amateur boxing team.

Umpire Tom Gorman Suffers Broken Ankle

CHICAGO (UPI) — Umpire Tom Gorman was in good condition today at Wesley Memorial Hospital where he was taken after he collided with Pittsburgh Pirates first baseman Al Oliver during a game with the Chicago Cubs.

Gorman, 51, was admitted to the hospital with a broken right ankle. A spokesman said he would stay at the hospital at least over night, and a Cubs spokesman said Gorman probably would be out of action for at least several weeks.

Gorman was hurt after Don Kessinger singled in the first inning and Paul Popovich hit a grounder wide of first base. Oliver fielded the ball and raced to the bag to retire Popovich but collided with Gorman as Oliver crossed the bag.

Record Stealer

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Max Carey of the Pittsburgh Pirates led the National League in stolen bases a record 10 years.

Hub Softballers Are Eliminated

Sohner Tree Service was eliminated yesterday after winning twice Saturday in the Alameda Invitational Softball Tournament.

Herb Dower and Rich Pozzi were the winning pitchers as Sohner beat Alameda, 5-2,. and Santa Cruz, 4-1. The San Anselmo team made a mild comeback after dropping its opening game Saturday to Sunnyvale, 3-1, but was eliminated by Red Bluff yesterday, 4-0.

Strong Armed Cy

NEW YORK (UPI) —Cy Young pitched 300 or more innings in 16 different seasons.

Novato Nine Wins Twice, Same Score

Pounding out 27 hits in the two games, Novato ran its league record to 7-4.

FIBERGLASS CAR BODY

And They Made A Better Product

Nearly everyone at some time has bought a shoddily made product, cursed its quality and declared, "I could make a better one than that myself."

Two young San Rafael men not only said it, they believe they've done it.

The fruit of their labor is a low-slung fiberglass body shell which can be installed on a Volkswagen chassis with 40 hours of work, and which they plan to sell for less than $600.

It started when John Richardson bought a commercially made fiberglass body shell, planning to build one of those customized sporty cars that look about the height of a streamlined roller skate.

"It had been owned by six people before I bought it," Richardson said. "None of them was able to complete it."

Neither was he. After a few hundred hours struggling with poorly fitted parts, high conversion costs and other problems, Richardson and a fellow College of Marin student, Bruce Weeks, decided to design and make their own car body.

Neither is taking automotive courses at the college — they're both business students. But Weeks had worked in a fiberglass shop in Colorado, and Richardson had helped his father design and build sailboats on the east coast.

They built a wooden shape over the VW chassis, built it up with clay and refined the clay to the contours they wanted. A mold was then cast over the clay and used to mold the fiberglass body.

Their joint design is the Lancer GT, a sleek-nosed, rear-engined car with faired-in headlights, gullwing doors of plexiglass, a one-piece weathertight body and a walnut dashboard.

Their costs so far in the six months since they started the project are $4,000. They have invested their savings — Richardson sold some $800 worth of camera equipment — and they borrowed a little to get ready for production.

They raised part of the money by selling the first Lancer, a bright red model, which left them without a display car. But they completed their second body in time for a unique demonstration—they placed it on a VW chassis in their booth at the Marin Art and Garden Fair, to show how quickly and easily it can be assembled.

From the now-departed first car, they had a Marin firm make master molds, which will be used to produce up to 50 bodies a month in the Northgate Industrial Park plant where the first car was made.

Initially, the bodies will be "hand laid," made by alternating layers of fiberglass and catalytic resin. Later, Weeks said, they may use a chopper gun, which sprays on a mixture of chopped fiberglass and resin.

The body, which at 200 pounds is a fourth the weight of a standard Volkswagen body, will fit over a standard VW chassis with no cutting required. VW, Porsche or Corvair engines may be fitted. The body is held on by 24 bolts.

The pair carefully followed the California highway equipment code to make sure the car is legal for street use. Eventually, they expect to produce complete cars under their banner of Qualis Enterprises.

There is the possibility of racing competition for the Lancer. Weeks and Richardson said the Formula Vee racing category may be split into two groups next year. One would be the present class of fenderless, single-seat cars with Volkswagen engines. The other would be a new class of street-equipped sports cars with VW engines.

They believe the Lancer, at its present 1,400 pounds or lightened for competition, could hold its own.

Vaccination Clinics Set For Rabies

Rabies vaccination clinics will be operated throughout Marin during July and August, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, has announced.

The health department and the Marin Veterinary Medical Association will provide vaccination at $2 a dog, Dr. Albrecht said.

State law requires that all dogs at least 4 months old be vaccinated against rabies and licensed.

The chick-embryo (modified live virus) vaccine, which is good for two years, will be used at all clinics, Dr. Albrecht reported.

The clinics, scheduled for 6-8 p.m., are:

July 9, city schools administration building, Third and E streets, San Rafael; July 14, Marion School, Novato; July 16, corporation yard, Mill Valley.

July 21, corporation yard, San Anselmo; July 23, safety building, Corte Madera; July 28, Ross School.

July 30, firehouse, Woodacre; Aug. 4, firehouse, Point Reyes Station; Aug. 6, corporation yard, Mill Valley; Aug. 11, Marion School, Novato; and Aug. 13, city schools administration building, San Rafael.

Blaze Destroys 40 Tons Of Hay

Firemen said the fire broke out about 9:45 p.m. when someone apparently threw a firecracker into a pile of hay bales. Firemen said that although the fire was contained within an hour, officers were required to watch the smoldering hay all night to make sure the fire did not flame up. The hay was valued at $2,000, stable owners said.

Horses were led to safety through a back door of the barn, firemen said.

Fulbright Asks New Peace Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., while hailing President Nixon's choice of David K. E. Bruce as the new U. S. ambassador to the Paris peace talks, predicts his mission will fail unless the administration's negotiating position is changed.

Fulbright said Bruce's efforts were doomed to failure unless the United States is prepared to agree to an open election that is not run by either the United States or the government of President Thieu. His remarks came yesterday on the CBS television show, "Face the Nation."

He said that what is needed at Paris is "the acceptance of terms for a settlement which would be acceptable to the enemy, which means. . .that you would have to let the present government of Vietnam reestablish its basis with an open election which is not supervised and controlled by us or by them."

Union, Airline Agree On Pact

OAKLAND (UPI) — Teamsters Union members and World Airways reached a contract agreement Sunday, ending a 7 1-2-week strike.

Contract terms were not immediately made public by either the union or the supplemental air carrier.

The union represents pilots, navigators, flight engineers and stewardesses.
